CONGRESS RUSHING TO QUIT

FINAL FLIGHT OF ROGERS AND POST IS OVER

Bodies Back After Arctic Tragedy.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Will Rogers and Wiley Post came back to Los Angeles tonight at the end of the tragic air journey which Rogers had said in his whimsical manner probably would be to "just somewhere."

The big transport plane which brought the bodies of the actor-humorist and his aviator companion from Seattle skimmed down to a gentle landing on the Burbank airport at 9:20 Chicago time just as the day here was fading into night.

Into the waiting hangar the funeral plane was guided, its idling engines reminding spectators of muffled drum beats.

Spectators Kept Out.

By the great iron doors of the hangars the ground crew waited. In little groups by the runway fence were several hundred onlookers. They faced a cordon of uniformed police.

Engines roared. The ship moved forward into the hangar. The doors clanged shut.

The stillness was broken suddenly by the discovery of a photographer concealed in the rafters above the ship. Several moments of confusion followed until the police caught him and destroyed his apparatus.

Meanwhile other photographers, "shooting" through the glass windows from the outside of the building, clashed with police when the officers attempted to move them away. Spectators jumped over the fence to join the fray.

Removal Delayed by Row.

This delayed the removal of the bodies, shrouded in gray on stretchers, for nearly a half hour. A large black herse was waiting.

By a strange coincidence this was the same hangar from which Wiley Post four times attempted to conquer the substratosphere.

It had been for him the scene of hope and defeat and determination. Here, hovering over his ancient Winnie Mae, he had toiled in the still hours between midnight and dawn.

Here, too, Rogers had been a frequent visitor, attending Post in his vigil, driving the weariness from those sleepless nights with his unfailing humor and encouragement.

Tonight all that was mortal of these two men—who died together in their crash of Post's plane near Point Barrow, Alaska, Thursday—lay under the shrouds.

End of Long, Dangerous Trip.

At forlorn Point Barrow, on the top of the world, Pilot Joe Crosson, veteran arctic flyer and friend of both men, picked up the bodies and started southward Saturday.

He stopped at Fairbanks. Then on to White Horse in Yukon territory. Then to Vancouver. Today he raced into Seattle. The flight to Los Angeles was made in a big Douglas transport plane piloted by William Winston, Texas airman. They left Seattle today at 11:53 a. m., Pacific standard time.

In two herses, escorted by 20 motorcycle policemen, the bodies were taken from the plane to the Forest Lawn mortuary in Glendale.

Post to Go to Oklahoma.

Later the body of the aviator was to be taken to Oklahoma for funeral services while services for Rogers will be held at Forest Lawn Thursday.

The Pan-American Airways ship, to which the bodies were transferred at Seattle this morning, carried, besides Pilot Winston, J. L. Fleming, junior pilot; T. W. Dowling, airways executive, who acted as radio operator, and Tom Ward, engineer. The passengers included Capt. Crosson, Col. Clarence M. Young, also an executive of the airline, and Amon Carter, close friend of the Rogers family.

A flag fluttered at half staf at Seattle and planes dipped their wings in salute. In Alameda laurel and roses from Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco were placed aboard the silver transport.

It was just 12 days ago that Seattle crowds gathered to watch the renowned humorist and one of the

BRITAIN HURLS THREAT AT ITALY TO ARM ETHIOPIA

Peace Offers Futile, Rome Warns.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on Back Page.)

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The Anglo-Italian conflict over Ethiopia took still a more venomous turn today following the collapse of the three power conference.

On the British side there were specific threats to arm the hordes of Emperor Haile Selassie with machine guns and modern rifles.

On the Italian side an authoritative mouthpiece of Il Duce—Baron Pompeo Aloisi himself—for the first time since the Ethiopian crisis arose directly referred to the possibility of Italy leaving the league of nations.

Last Word Spoken.

Aloisi even went so far as to say that Italy's appearance at the league council meeting in Geneva on Sept. 4 was dependent upon the events which may occur between now and then. His statements were generally looked upon here as confirming the belief that Mussolini has spoken the last word and that Italy will quickly open war on Ethiopia.

British sources, which have been unusually talkative in the last few days, were officially silent on the question of arms shipments to Ethiopia. It is learned authoritatively, however, that the advisability of lifting the embargo on war supplies for Ethiopia will be discussed at the meeting of the British cabinet which will take place in London on Thursday.

Putting the two facts together it is no effort to deduce that this threat to supply the Ethiopian emperor with arms, which he needs to offer effective resistance to the Italian advance, constitutes Great Britain's first answer to Mussolini's rejection of the Franco-British peace plan.

Ethiopian Chances Cut.

Although withholding arms from the Ethiopians while the Italians were piling up men and supplies in Eritrea has seriously reduced Ethiopia's chances for survival, it is believed that shipments of arms in sufficient quantity might still play a decisive rôle in the campaign.

Ammunition is even more important than weapons since the 450,000 Ethiopian soldiers now are estimated to have on the average only fifty cartridges apiece.

The timely arrival of ammunition and machine guns will be especially important if the emperor is able to adapt the strategy which European military experts think will prove the most effective against the Italians—allowing the Italian army to advance far into the country and then harrying their communications. It is believed here that if Haile Selassie can persuade his chiefs to adopt these guerilla tactics and prevent them from hurling their primitive phalanxes against the Italian machine guns at the start, he may win the war.

Italians Show Worry.

The Italians showed today that they are seriously worried by the British campaign to mobilize world opinion against them preparatory to the league meeting in which economic or other sanctions may be voted against Italy. Baron Aloisi this afternoon personally received the world press for the first time since the Paris talks started. He explained that there is really no conflict between Italy and Great Britain and that the three power conversations had begun and ended in an atmosphere of complete cordiality.

"Unfortunately we could not agree," Aloisi continued. "It is true that negotiations will continue through diplomatic channels and there is always the possibility of an agreement as long as negotiations continue, but in this case it is difficult to see much possibility of agreement."

Italian Demand Is Security.

Attempting to refute the charge that Italy had torpedoed the conference by refusing to make her real demands known, Aloisi declared that when Capt. Anthony Eden, British minister for league affairs, was in Rome, Mussolini fully outlined Italy's needs in Ethiopia and that he himself gave a complete statement of the Italian position at the opening of the three power talks Friday.

Aloisi thereupon defined the Italian position once more—economic expansion in Ethiopia with military se-

McCUTCHEON ON THE GRAF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, Over the South Atlantic Ocean, Aug. 19.—[By wireless.]—We said goodby to South America and the lights of Pernambuco, Brazil, at 8 o'clock last night. We headed into the darkness, going northeast across the Atlantic ocean toward the westernmost bulge of Africa, about 2,000 miles away.

We passed Fernando Noronha Island in the night, sighted lonely St. Paul Island early this morning, and crossed the equator at 7:23 o'clock.

After breakfast the chief steward, impersonating Neptune, baptized each passenger with a Black Forest tannenbaum [fir tree] spray. He also presented each one an engraved certificate and a small medal signifying membership in the Order of Zeppelin Equator Crossers.

The day was beautiful and the ocean was calm with occasional hazy stretches or rain squalls. The ship was perfectly steady. The male passengers are mostly in shirt sleeves.

The South Atlantic is by no means an empty ocean. We have passed three ships and each exchanged a salute with the Graf, which is now a veteran of these seas. This is its 100th Atlantic crossing and the homeward voyage of its tenth round trip this year.

We took exercise this afternoon, walking nearly a quarter of a mile down and back the length of the interior on an eight inch cat walk with the ocean 600 feet below, screened by a thin cloth. Without the latter it would have been like walking from the top of Tribune Tower to the top of the Wrigley building on a narrow plank, the same not being appealing to the average pedestrian. The amazing economy of space and the maximum strength with the least weight were most interesting.

Now at 7 o'clock this evening we are 840 miles from Cape Blanco, French West Africa. J. T. McC.

BLAME CIGARET PRICE RISE HERE ON SALES TAX

Cigaret prices rose from 1 to 1½ cents a package in Chicago yesterday as a result, according to merchants, of the collection of the three per cent occupational sales tax. Chain store prices were increased from 25 cents to 27 cents for two packages of the standard brands. Other merchants increased the price to 28 cents for two packages. In New York City officials in the office of A. Schulte company, a cigar store chain, said the price increase was caused by the collection of the sales tax in Illinois, and would not apply to other sections of the country.

Mrs. Charlotte Gilman, Poet, Ends Her Life

Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Attesting her suicide by a note in which she calls "justifiable" suicide the "simplest of human rights," Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 75, poet, lecturer, and writer, ended her life with chloroform Saturday, but because of her aversion to undertakers the body lay unreported until noon today.

MRS. CHARLOTTE GILMAN.

Long prominent in social problems, suffrage, and labor movements, Mrs. Gilman was named by Carrie Chapman Catt as one of the twelve greatest American women. She had been in failing health for several years and is believed to have killed herself rather than endure the pains of cancer.

Related to Beechers.

Mrs. Gilman was a great granddaughter of Lyman Beecher, head of the family that included the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The suicide note, typed by Mrs. Gilman, read:

"Human life consists in mutual service. No grief, pain, misfortune, or 'broken heart' is excuse for cutting off one's life while any power of service remains.

"But, when all usefulness is over, when one is assured of an unavoidable and imminent death it is the simplest of human rights to choose a quick and easy death in place of a slow and horrible one.

Opinion Is Changing.

"Public opinion is changing on this subject. The time is approaching when we shall consider it abhorrent to our civilization to allow a human being to lie in prolonged agony which we should mercifully end in any other creature.

"Believing this choice to be of social service in promoting wiser views on this question I have preferred chloroform to cancer."

First word of her suicide became known today when Dr. Hal Bieler reported her death to Pasadena police.

Daughter at Side.

Dr. Bieler said he was called to the Gilman home Saturday night and found the woman dead. Her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Chamberlain, and a friend, Mrs. Grace Ellery-Channing, were in attendance.

Because it was his first suicide case and he was unfamiliar with required procedure, Dr. Bieler said, he neglected to notify the coroner until today.

Mrs. Chamberlain today sought the coroner's permission to have her mother's body cremated without an undertaker's services, but the request was refused. Mrs. Chamberlain said that her mother's will ordered her body cremated and forbade funeral service.

WILSON'S CHAUFFEUR, OUT OF WORK, TRIES TO SELL AUTO AND SELF

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Bernard J. Winkler, who as an army chauffeur used to drive President Woodrow Wilson, hasn't had a job for a year.

Today he drove a Rolls-Royce town car down Broadway, parked and displayed this sign:

"Car and driver for sale, $400."

He says he's serious.

"When I bought this car I thought I'd sell it to some one who would hire me at the same time.

"Well, the idea didn't work.

"Now I'm willing to work for nothing for six weeks—if they'll buy the Rolls."

There were no buyers.

Tomorrow Winkler will try Park avenue.

CITY AND NORTH SUBURBS SWEPT BY HEAVY RAIN

A severe electrical storm, accompanying one of the heaviest downpours of the year, drenched the Chicago area last night and early this morning, first striking Waukegan, then moving southward through the northern suburbs until it engulfed the city itself.

The north and west sides of the city were hardest hit. The street drainage system was unable to take care of the sudden storm waters and streets ran a foot deep with the flood. Automobiles were stalled and firemen were busy with calls to pump out flooded basements.

Lightning struck the home of Frederick Phillips, 1009 North Mansfield avenue, and knocked plastering from the ceiling, but did little damage. A bolt also struck and partially destroyed the cross on the Sacred Heart Catholic church in Winnetka.

The rain first struck Waukegan about 4 p. m., flooding streets and basements. In Glencoe and Highland Park trees were splintered by lightning and telephone and light wires blown down. Evanston firemen were also called out when wires were torn down in that suburb.

Young Lawyer, Trying to Stop Fight, Is Slain

David K. Cochrane Jr., 27 years old, lawyer and graduate of the University of Chicago, was shot and killed last night when he attempted to halt a street fight in front of a tavern at 721 East 75th street.

Cochrane is the son of David Kipling Cochrane Sr. and was in business with his father's firm, Cochrane & George, at 7 South Dearborn street.

Young Cochrane had spent the evening on a boat trip with three other attorneys—George Healy, 5126 University avenue; Gustav Andreen, 426 Surf street, and Maurice T. Johnson, 18 South Dearborn street. On their return the party stopped in Elsie's tavern, operated by Mrs. Elsie Anderson and her husband, at the 75th street address. Just before the 1 o'clock closing hour an altercation in which a pistol was displayed started between two men at the bar and Mrs. Anderson ordered everybody to leave.

Tries to Stop Fight.

Among the patrons was Joseph Zaker of 7400 Exchange avenue. As the party of lawyers reached the street the two men were beating Zaker, who was much smaller than either of the others, because of some remark he had made in the barroom. Cochrane rushed over and attempted to part the combatants. During the scuffle one of the men drew a pistol from his belt and fired one shot at Cochrane. The bullet penetrated the lawyer's head, killing him instantly. Zaker fled.

The remaining two participants in the fight then leaped into a waiting automobile and fled. Zaker later was taken into custody at his home and questioned by the Grand Crossing police. He and Cochrane's companions told the police that they had information that the man who fired the fatal shot was a watchman employed in the vicinity.

Father a Well Known Lawyer.

Young Cochrane, whose mother is dead, lived with his father at 4734 Ellis avenue. The elder Cochrane, a graduate of the University of Michigan, has been a practicing lawyer in Chicago since 1889. He served as a justice of the peace from 1906 to 1910, and in 1915 became a master in chancery in the Superior court. He is also an official of the Western Transportation company.

"SISTIE," "BUZZIE" DALL PLAY JOKE ON GOV. HERRING

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's grandchildren pulled a fast one today on Iowa's chief executive, and dark suspicion, as a consequence, was cast in the direction of the governor's military aid.

"We want to show you a trick. Please put your hand through this door," the children said.

Gov. Clyde Herring, host to "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall in a visit here with their father, Curtis B. Dall, obliged by pushing his hand through the hinge side of the opened massive door to his executive office. Then he took in hand a glass of water offered from the other side of the door.

"What," asked the governor, "do I do now?"

"Sistie" and "Buzzie" howled with glee at the governor's plight. Helpless, he could neither withdraw his hand nor put the glass on the floor.

FARM, RAIL AND COAL BILLS GET WINNING VOTES

O.K. 'Must' Measures of New Deal.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Congress went on a rampage today, with both the senate and house stampeding for adjournment and passing everything called up. The docility with which both houses yielded to the demands of President Roosevelt made it certain that his entire "must" program would go through and probably that the session could be ended as early as Wednesday night.

The output of the legislative mills today included:

SENATE—Frazier-Lemke three year farm moratorium bill; the new railway pension bill, and the conference report on the banking bill.

HOUSE—Guffey coal bill, railway pension bill, conference report on banking and conference report on the omnibus rivers and harbors bill.

With the exception of the Guffey coal bill, which went to the senate, a third deficiency appropriation bill, and the Walsh government contracts bill, both still pending in the house, the day's action left only conference reports of the "must" program for final approval in both houses before adjournment. These include:

1. The 250 million dollar wealth confiscation tax bill, on which conferees are stalling to get everything else out of the way

2. The Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill, on which a compromise has been effected substituting the house bill's discretionary dissolution of holding companies for the senate's mandatory "death sentence."

3. Amendments to the Tennessee valley authority act, on which conferees are expected to reach an early agreement.

4. The federal alcohol control act.

5. The bill barring gold clause suits on repudiated government obligations.

Senate Like Burlesque.

The senate took on the aspects of a burlesque show in the process of ripping through two major bills on which it might ordinarily spend many days or weeks. When Minority Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon, evidencing a spirit of coöperation with the Democrats, called for a vote on the railway pension bill, Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas asked a brief postponement.

"The house has passed an identical bill and the plan is to substitute it for the bill now under consideration by the senate," Robinson declared.

Senators milled about, exhibiting impatience, but Mr. Robinson informed them "it ought to be here any minute now."

House Bill Delivered.

Robinson turned toward the door, and just as he did the house messenger entered.

"Here it is now!" Robinson exclaimed.

The roll call was ordered and the vote for passage was 76 to 3, with only Senators Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, Frederick Hale of Maine, and Jesse H. Metcalf, all Republicans, dissenting.

Both the railway pension bill and the Frazier-Lemke bill were designed to replace similar measures passed by the New Deal 73d congress and killed by the Supreme court. When they came up today Senator Hastings made a few plaintive outcries, like a voice in the wilderness, about doing violence to the constitution, but the discussion generally was perfunctory.

Pensions Levy on Treasury.

The rail pension bill, which affects all employés of the class 1 railways in the country, about 1,025,000 now working and 100,000 on furloughs and still retaining an "employment relation," authorizes appropriations directly from the treasury to pay annuities of not more than $120 a month.

The original pension bill also levied taxes upon the pay rolls, 4 per cent for the carriers and 2 per cent for the employés, but no taxes are provided in the new bill. Its sponsors, Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], and Representative Robert Crosser [Dem., Ohio], seek to circumvent constitutional objections by putting through a separate companion measure imposing the taxes. This bill is pending in the ways and means committee of the house and Crosser said he did not know whether it could be passed at this session. It will not matter, for the pension bill does not become effective until March 1, 1936.

Exempt from Security Act.

An amendment adopted in each branch of congress exempts the railways from the old age annuity section of the social security act. They are not exempted, however, from the unemployment insurance provisions, and if the companion tax bill is passed the railroads will have to pay a total of 7 per cent of their pay rolls—4 per cent for pensions and 3 per cent for unemployment insurance.

Employés would be eligible for retirement upon completing 30 years' service, or at the age of 65, regardless of service, with annuities computed on the basis of compensation received and the length of service. Employés who did not retire at 65 would have their annuities reduced by 1-15 each year unless they entered into agreements with employers to continue working not more than five years. Retirement would be compulsory at 70.

Need Is Unexplained.

Senator Wagner, in his explanation of the bill, did not explain why it was necessary to have special legislation for railway pensions when old age annuities would have been provided under the so-called social security act.

He argued, however, that the railroads always had been the subject of special legislation and that the failure of aged employés to retire constituted a safety factor. The Supreme court rejected this theory in holding the first act invalid.

Senator Hastings said he was "suspicious" of the procedure adopted by Wagner and Crosser, but he was assured by Majority Leader Robinson that "there is no legerdemain."

"There is nothing wrong, immoral, or treacherous about this procedure," Robinson added.

Constitution Spirit Hit.

"This procedure makes very much more certain the constitutionality of the two bills, but in my opinion you are violating the spirit of the constitution," Hastings declared.

"I got the distinct impression that the social security bill was divided into separate titles as to taxes and benefits because of the very great danger of its being held unconstitutional. I never believed that the scheme would be successful. I believed the Supreme court would look through it instantly. But when I learned of these two separate bills I reached the conclusion that some smart person had been able to circumvent the constitution.

"I doubt that the Supreme court can take judicial notice of one of these bills in considering the other. But if you can do this there is no limit to what you can do in levying taxes. You can tax the automobile industry or the steel industry and use the revenue to pay benefits to the farmers."

Advocated by Borah.

The new Frazier-Lemke bill was advocated by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], an ardent defender of the constitution who, nevertheless, has voted for considerable unconstitutional legislation. He said the bill was nothing more than a bankruptcy measure and did not undertake to make a change in the terms of the debtors' contract or in the interest rate.

"I haven't the slightest doubt of its constitutionality," Senator Borah declared.

The bill provides that if a farmer fails to obtain a composition with his creditors he may ask the court to adjudge him a bankrupt. It provides further for an appraisal of the "fair and reasonable market value" of the property, which the farmer may retain for a period of three years upon payment of a "reasonable" rental fixed by the court.

Court May Order Sale.

The rental shall be applied to taxes, interest and other upkeep charges, and whatever is left will be applied against the farmer's indebtedness. The court, at any time, might order a sale at public auction, upon petition of the creditors, and would be required to order such a sale at the end of three years unless the farmer had satisfied his creditors.

The original Frazier-Lemke act provided for a five year moratorium and authorized the courts to scale down both the principle and interest of the indebtedness. The Supreme court held unanimously that it violated the fifth amendment, taking property without just compensation.

The report of the judiciary committee asserts that the act is "necessary" because of the lapse of state moratoria and the increase in foreclosures.

Many Are Foreclosing.

"The fact that there is now a higher price for agricultural products has made the property more attractive, and many mortgagees have taken advantage of this, and now are foreclosing," the report states.

"If the bill is passed, these foreclosures will be held in abeyance. Nine out of 10 of the distressed farmers will be able to get adjustments out of court, because of the moral effect of the act, and in the rest of the cases there will be orderly liquidation."

The conference report on the administration's banking measure, drastically revised by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] increases the control of the federal reserve board over the nation's credit. It sets up an open market committee, composed of the seven members of the proposed "board of governors of the federal reserve system," and five representatives of the regional banks, whose recommendations as to dealing in government securities shall be mandatory.

Rates Up to Banks.

Initiation of the rediscount rates, subject to the approval of the central board, is left in the hands of the regional banks, except that they are required to post them every 14 days.

The central board, by a vote of at least four of its seven members, could increase the statutory reserve requirements of member banks by not more than 100 per cent.

The secretary of the treasury and the controler of the currency, now ex officio members of the board, are to be removed. The conference eliminated a requirement that not more than four members of the new board of governors could represent the same political party and eliminated also a provision authorizing national banks to engage in sharply restricted underwriting of securities.

The bill also would make permanent the temporary law insuring bank deposits up to $5,000.

The conference report, adopted unanimously in both houses, goes to the White House.

Confer on Soak Rich Bill.

The conferees on the wealth confiscation measure held a three hour meeting tonight without taking any votes. Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the senate group, however, predicted an agreement on all issues tomorrow.

Herman Oliphant, general counsel, and Jefferson Coolidge, under secretary of the treasury, appeared to protest against the Borah amendment removing tax exemption from future issues of government securities, and the McCarran amendment. Mr. Coolidge explained that the treasury was confronted with five billion dollars of new financing and five billion of refunding, and that the Borah amendment would be embarrassing.

The McCarran amendment, also opposed by the treasury, would repeal silver nationalization and remove the 50 per cent tax on silver trading profits, thereby enabling speculators to take advantage of the speculating opportunities of the government's silver purchase program. Both amendments are expected to be ditched.

Greeted by Cheers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Received with cheers by house Republicans, Charles F. Risk took the oath of office today as representative from the First Rhode Island district.

Today's events celebrated his 38th birthday. He defeated a New Deal candidate for the house of representatives. Risk arrived here yesterday. Bertrand H. Snell of New York, Republican leader, escorted Risk to the rostrum to take the oath.

5 HOUSEWIVES' MEAT PROTEST ROUTS WALLACE

Queries of Detroiters Confound Him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today beat an ignominious retreat before five Detroit housewives who came here to protest high meat prices, and President Roosevelt declined to face them at all.

Determined to impress their indignation over the high cost of living upon the New Deal burocracy, the housewives routed Secretary Wallace, besieged the President, and finally found a sympathetic hearing before some Detroit congressmen.

Scurries to Sanctuary.

Wallace's retreat was actual as well as metaphysical. After parrying a few questions such as "Why does the government pay farmers not to raise little pigs?" he ducked suddenly out of the office of Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, where the conference was being held, and retired to the sanctuary of his own office.

"Is the government going to see that meat prices are reduced 20 per cent?" Mrs. Mary Zuk, leader of the delegation, demanded of Wallace.

"Under drouth conditions it is impossible to guarantee future meat prices," Secretary Wallace replied.

Seek to Meet Roosevelt.

"The government is only concerned with not raising little pigs for European consumption; that is a market that no longer exists," Wallace answered.

After Wallace's retreat the housewives carried their grievances to the White House, where they demanded to see the President. Marvin H. McIntyre, Mr. Roosevelt's secretary, assured them the President was a very busy man just then and that he could not see them. Mr. McIntyre promised to lay their case before the President.

Drop Extortion Charges but Fine 3 Chicagoans

Three Chicago men, first charged with attempting to extort $1,000 from William Horton, Gillespie, Ill., school teacher, were permitted to plead guilty of disorderly conduct yesterday before Justice of the Peace Joseph Hartley in Joliet. The three, and the fines assessed against each, are: Thomas Murphy, 30 years old, $100; James Newburg, 50 years old, $100, and Brian Markham, 23 years old, $10.

HOUSE APPROVES GUFFEY BILL TO SOCIALIZE COAL

Fate in Senate Is Said to Be Dubious.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Charles West, lobbyist for President Roosevelt, beamed upon the house today as the members passed the Guffey coal socialization bill, 194 to 168. It was the biggest single triumph for an administration lobbyist at this session.

The bill now goes to the senate where Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson has promised that it will be brought up this week. The measure awaits a dubious fate in the upper body where former representative West's influence is not so potent.

93 Democrats Rebel.

There were some qualms for the administration leaders and West before the final vote was announced. Ninety-three Democrats rebelled against the pressure exerted by the White House and voted against the measure. They based their distaste for the bill upon constitutional grounds, pointing out that even the President realized that the measure probably was unconstitutional or he would not have urged its passage "regardless of doubts as to its constitutionality, however reasonable."

The Democratic rebels were joined by 73 Republicans and 2 Progressives. But their total of 168 was overborne by the affirmative voting of 172 Democrats, 15 Republicans, 4 Progressives, and 3 Farmer-Laborites, making a total of 194.

Vote from Illinois.

AYES: Democrats—13—Mitchell, McKeough, Beam, Sabath, O'Brien, Kocialkowski, Meeks, Dobbins, Mason, Parsons, Keller, McAndrews, Brennan; Republicans—Dirksen. Total, 14.

NAYS: Democrats—3—Schuetz, Adair, Schaefer; Republicans—4—Church, Reed, Allen, Arends. Total, 7.

NOT VOTING—Kelly [Dem.], Buckbee [Rep.], Thompson [Dem.], Lucas [Dem.], and Arnold [Dem.].

The bill sets up a private NRA for the bituminous coal industry. A commission is empowered to fix wages and working hours for miners.

Operators complying with the decrees of the board are given a 90 per cent rebate on a tax on coal. Enactment of the measure into law is sure to raise the prices of soft coal, opponents of the measure said.

The anxiety of the President to push the bill through congress was because of his promises on several occasions to labor officials that the measure would be approved at this session. He claimed credit for calling off several threatened strikes by 500,000 coal miners as a result of these promises. The next crisis will come Sept. 16.

House in Night Session.

The house rushed headlong into a night session. It quickly indorsed the conference report on the rivers and harbors bill. The report was expected to be approved quickly by the senate and sent to the White House.

Enthused, the house proceeded to consider the omnibus bridge bill, containing authorization for the construction of some two score bridges, most of them toll bridges, over navigable streams. Representative W. D. McFarlane [Dem., Tex.] tried to filibuster against the bill by insisting upon quorum calls, but finally was quelled and the bill passed.

At 7 p. m. leaders called up the Walsh bill already passed by the senate providing that bidders on government contracts must pledge themselves to abide by wage and hour requirements set up under the now defunct NRA codes. Republican Minority Leader Snell rebelled, and suggested that a pretty good day's work had been done and the members were tired. So a halt was called until noon tomorrow.

Generally Opposed; but Wins.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—This is what the Republican leader, Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, had to say today about the house passage of the Guffey bill:

"That was the first time in the history of the country that the house passed a bill which was opposed by the sub-committee which wrote it, by the full committee which approved it, by the rules committee which brought it out on the floor, and toward which the house organization was entirely indifferent."

OFFICIALS PACKING IN WASHINGTON AS END OF CONGRESS NEARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—With the end of congress at hand, official Washington is packing up to go places.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt still plan to see the San Diego exposition, along with their daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger, now with her husband in Los Angeles.

The attorney general and Mrs. Homer Cummings plan to sail for Europe Aug. 28.

The secretary of war and Mrs. Dern will leave Sept. 1 for a two weeks' stay in their Salt Lake City home, then on to San Francisco to sail for the Philippines to be present at the inauguration of the first president of the commonwealth.

If present plans materialize, a large United States delegation, perhaps including the speaker of the house and Mrs. Byrns and Vice President Garner will be members of a junket to watch the launching of the new Philippine state.

Secretary Wallace will leave tomorrow or next day to attend a regional meeting in Utah, and will later join Mrs. Wallace, who left yesterday, in their Des Moines, Ia., home.

The secretary of state and Mrs. Hull are planning a middle-of-September vacation in their former home in Tennessee.

HAWAII MAY BOLT ROOSEVELT, WORD GIVEN TO FARLEY

HONOLULU, Aug. 19.—(AP)—A threat that Hawaii's delegates would bolt from President Roosevelt in the Democratic national convention in 1936 was made Saturday to James A. Farley, Democratic national committee chairman, by Fred L. Siegling, the latter said today.

Siegling, chairman of the territorial Democratic committee, threatened that Hawaii's six votes in the national convention would go on the auction block for the highest bidder in terms of patronage.

Siegling said the threat, made just before Farley departed for Los Angeles, resulted from the long smoldering resentment of the official party organization against patronage distribution here. A majority of the territorial committee's indorsements, Siegling said, had been turned down in Washington and Republicans appointed instead. Siegling said Farley asked for written reports of grievances.

RASKOB CALLS FOR DEFENSE OF PROPERTY RIGHT

Asks Leaders of Finance to Aid Fight.

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—John J. Raskob coupled an explanation of the 16,540 share increase in his holdings in General Motors Securities with a plea today to "every leader in finance and industry" to rise to the defense of the form of government under which "every man and woman may work, save, and acquire property and be protected in the lawful use of that property when acquired."

A director of General Motors and former chairman of the Democratic national committee, Raskob outlined his position in a letter to the securities and exchange commission and the New York Stock exchange.

Sends Call to Leaders.

"I should like to call upon every leader in industry and finance in the United States to rise to the defense of the form of government which the fathers established in America under which banking and industry have grown and prospered with greater profit to capital, labor, and consumer than under any other system of government in the history of the world," he declared.

Raskob added that it was under such a system that "every man and woman may work, earn, save, and acquire property and be protected in the lawful use of that property when acquired."

"This truly establishes a government of real liberty and freedom," he declared.

"When contrasted with government under which all property is owned by a king or monarch or with a communistic government under which all property is owned by the state, can we doubt the choice of any real American citizen once he is told and understands the truth?"

Denies "Cashing In."

Raskob asserted his statement to the SEC on additions to his securities holdings had created the impression in some quarters that as a director he was in a position to know of a contemplated increase in the General Motors dividend rate.

He denied any such criticism was just and said that as a stockholder in the Wilmington Automobile company he had received shares of General Motors stock when the organization liquidated its assets.

Raskob continued: "More than three years ago I entered into a contract which expired this spring, under which I was obligated to and did purchase 6,000 shares of General Motors common stock at $50 a share.

"Stock Would Bring Loss."

"Were I to sell this stock at the current market price of, say, $45 a share, it would net me a loss of $30,000 instead of a profit of $157,130, as indicated in one of the news articles.

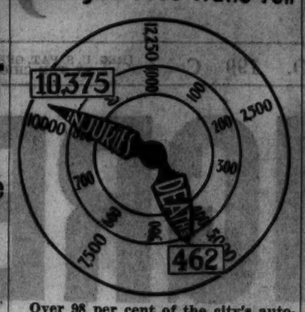
"These two items account for the 16,540 shares reported, and these simple facts seem to put the transaction beyond fair criticism."

General Motors Aug. 5 raised its regular dividend rate to 50 cents quarterly from 25 cents, and declared an extra common dividend of 25 cents a share.

In defense of business leaders and bankers, Raskob asserted that in his twenty years with General Motors "there never was the slightest reason to suspect that a single one of its thirty-odd directors ever bought or sold stock as a result of any information had with respect to a contemplated increase or decrease in the corporation's dividend rate or policy."

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Traffic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

FARMER KILLED BY TRUCK AS HE DRIVES ON SLAB

Otto Bluder, 62 years old, a farmer, was killed yesterday in front of his home on Joliet road half a mile west of Mannheim road when a heavy truck crashed into the wagon he had just driven onto the highway. One of the two horses hitched to the wagon also was killed. The truck driver, Richard Hayes, 23 years old, of Kansas City, was held for the inquest.

This death and one other yesterday increased the Cook county traffic toll to 591 since Jan. 1. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 462 persons had been killed within the Chicago city limits and 10,375 had been injured. The other death yesterday:

Andrew Ellison, 81 years old, 723 Clinton place, River Forest. Died in the West Suburban hospital from injuries incurred Aug. 11, when he was struck by a motor car at Harlem avenue and Ontario street, Oak Park.

Patrick Shea, 69 years old, of 705 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park, veteran printer on THE TRIBUNE, was injured late last night when struck by a taxicab driven by Emil Weber, 1223 Fletcher street, at Van Buren street and Wabash avenue. First district police said Weber fled from the scene and was captured several blocks away. He was held. Shea was taken to St. Luke's hospital, suffering severe cuts on his left arm, hip, and body.

HUNT CHICAGO BUILDER'S BODY IN GOLD MINE

One Shot Pierced Victim Taken from Shaft.

Fear that James C. Kennett, 55 years old, former Chicago building contractor, has been slain at Auburn, Cal., was expressed here yesterday by his former wife, Mrs. Emma Kennett, 6341 Sheridan road. Kennett, who has been missing since June 16, was known to have been in the vicinity of Auburn.

JAMES C. KENNETT.

Yesterday the body of an unidentified youth about 22 years old was taken from a water filled pit in an abandoned gold mine near there.

In the mine shaft was found a letter written to Kennett by his former wife last June. Sheriff Elmer Gum of Auburn declared he believed Kennett's body is in the pit and was dragging for it last night.

Meanwhile Earl Cramer, owner of a cabin at Emigrant Gap near Auburn, was taken into custody. According to information received by Mrs. Kennett, Cramer was held as a cattle rustling suspect, was wearing some of Kennett's clothing and a letter addressed to the missing man was found in Cramer's possession.

Admits Robbing Cabin.

District Attorney L. L. Sparks of Placer county, where Auburn is situated, said that Cramer has admitted robbing Kennett's cabin.

An autopsy performed by Dr. Kay Atkinson of Colfax, Cal., on the body of the unidentified youth revealed that two bullets had been fired through his head and he had been stabbed over the heart.

Mrs. Kennett said that she divorced her husband three years ago, but had been sending him money since then. Last May, on her advice, he entered the Baldy View sanitarium near San Gabriel, Cal. He was suffering from a nervous breakdown she said.

Mrs. Kennett was informed early in June that he had left the sanitarium and was at Spark, Nev. He wrote her from there, she said, and she told him in heply to visit his brother, Martin, at Alhambra, Cal.

He never arrived there according to the family and the next Mrs. Kennett knew of his whereabouts was when he wrote her from Emigrant Gap on June 16. In that letter she said he told her he was staying at a cabin there and asked her to send him money. He also wrote that in addition to himself and several other men there was a youth at the cabin. Mrs. Kennett said yesterday that this may have been the youth whose body was found in the pit.

Tells of Sending Cash.

Mrs. Kennett sent her former husband a check for $25 following his letter. Her letter which accompanied the check was the one found in the mine shaft. The canceled check, cashed at Auburn, was recently returned to her through her bank. Miss Genevieve Madsen, secretary to Mrs. Kennett, said that Kennett's signature, endorsing the check, had been forged. She was notified yesterday that three later letters she had written to Kennett at Emigrant Gap had not been called for.

Mrs. Kennett telephoned her sister, Mrs. Mabel Blackmore, at Los Angeles yesterday and Mrs. Blackmore immediately left for Auburn.

The Kennetts were married in 1913, and have three children: James, 21 years old; Maynard, 19, and Joyce, 15. Mrs. Kennett founded the Kennett Construction company in which her former husband was associated with her.

WIDOW REVEALS MORRISON MONEY WORRIES IN QUIZ

No Discord in Family, Children Say.

Mrs. Ethelwyne Morrison, 47 years old, widow of the slain Kenneth Morrison, assistant controler of the Chicago park district, told Capt. Andrew Barry and Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle yesterday that her husband was worried the last month of his life and that she believed his worries were over money matters. She said the rent on their home was $60 a month and other home expenses were far less than his salary of $5,400 a year.

The widow and Morrison's son and daughter by a former marriage, Donald, 20 years old, and Mary, 18, told the investigators there was no discord in the family.

Questioners Assure Widow.

At one time during the questioning Mrs. Morrison said: "I hope you don't think I had anything to do with the killing of my husband." The officials assured her they did not suspect her.

Morrison's $20,000 insurance policy did not contain a double indemnity clause under which the payment would be $40,000 in the event of death by accident or violence. He had borrowed $4,917 on the policy. Mr. Boyle learned that last month Morrison applied for $10,000 "family income" insurance, but was rejected after examination by a physician who said he had heart trouble and high blood pressure and was working too hard and needed a long vacation.

No Discord, Says Maid.

Mrs. Eunice Morena, who uses the name of Moore, 4050 Keystone avenue, a former maid in the Morrison home, was also questioned. Her statement indicated that Morrison and his wife led a normal happy married life and there was no dissension between Mrs. Morrison and her step-children.

Attorney Emil C. Wetten, former Republican candidate for mayor, appeared at the state's attorney's office during the questioning of the Morrison family and announced that he had been retained by the slain man's brother, Donald, to represent the family.

DIES ON JOB AT METAL PLANT.

A Chicago Girl

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Hollywood rumors grew today that the wedding of June Travis, actress, and Jack Kirkland, playwright, is near. Friends of the actress, who is the daughter of Harry Grabiner, Chicago White Sox vice president and secretary, believe she soon will make the announcement. Kirkland would neither confirm nor deny the report and referred all inquiries to Miss Travis. He is the author of the stage hit, "Tobacco Road."

POLICEMAN WILL BRING SON BACK IN ROBBERY CASE

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Rufus Wiggins, a patrolman, asked and received permission today to go to McKeesport, Pa., at his own expense to bring his 16 year old son back to this city to face a burglary charge.

The city's fund for returning fugitives is somewhat depleted and authorities were doubtful whether they would send after young Raymond Wiggins, accused with two other youths of robbing a neighborhood dry goods store.

Then the father requested that he be allowed to go for his boy, offering to pay his own way.

The patrolman last week suspected his son and two companions of the store robbery. He rounded them up and had called a car to take them to police headquarters when his son and another 16 year old boy, Ray York, broke away, swam a creek, and escaped. A 14 year old boy was turned over to the officers. The York lad still is missing.

DIES IN OAK PARK HOME.

INDIANA PARTY BELIEVED KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Survey of Mountains to Be Started Today.

Glendo, Wyo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Guided by a fragile clue, searchers mapped an aerial survey over Laramie peak tonight and awaited dawn to start their quest for a missing airplane in which they fear three Indiana persons crashed to death four days ago.

A rancher's report that he heard a crash and saw a burst of flame from a two mile high peak Thursday night sent the party to the isolated area 38 miles southwest of here.

His report was the only indication of the whereabouts of Burnside Smith, 47, president of the Aero Mayflower Transit company of Indianapolis; Dick Arnett, 28, Indianapolis, pilot, and Arnett's bride Eleanore, 23.

On Way to Denver.

The three left Helena, Mont., Thursday afternoon for Denver. They have not been located and thorough checks of airports in Montana, Wyoming, and Yellowstone park have not revealed any trace of them.

Walt Higley, Denver aviator and representative of the same aviation firm as Arnett, flew here tonight and left immediately by automobile to confer with Lyle Pexton, a rancher living near the base of the peak, who reported the clew. Higley, who recently suffered a broken leg in a motor car accident, had physicians bind the leg so he could make the trip.

Will Fly Over Scene.

"I will have Pexton point out the place on the peak where he saw the flame, and in the morning I'll fly over the peak to look for wreckage," Higley said.

National Guard planes in Colorado and Montana stood ready tonight to aid in the search if necessary. The arrangements were made after Gov. Ed Johnson of Colorado was asked to assist in the search through a telephone call from Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana.

SCREW LODGED IN LUNG, CHILD IS SENT EAST BY AIR

When physicians here were unable yesterday to remove a small screw lodged in the lung of Vernon Gittelson, 2 years old, the child was placed aboard an airliner and sent to Philadelphia to the Chevalier Jackson clinic of Temple university. The infant is the son of Harvey Gittelson, a farmer living near Plainfield.

VERNON GITTELSON.

The baby began choking on Saturday morning and was taken to an Aurora clinic and then to Dr. Francis Lederer at the Grant hospital. Under a floroscope the presence of the screw in the left lung was detected. After making several attempts to reach it, Dr. Lederer declared it was impossible with the instruments available and told the boy's parents to take him east.

The clinic at Temple university, the doctor said, is equipped with specialized bronchoscopes for the removal of objects from the lungs.

Reveal Details of Fernekes' Market Deals While Prisoner

Details of the stock market transactions in which Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes engaged before he escaped from Joliet prison were made public yesterday by James E. Bennett & Co.

At the same time Warden Frank D. Whipp, Deputy Warden George F. Sehring, and John Broderick, record clerk at Joliet prison, held a conference in Springfield with Director of Public Welfare A. L. Bowen and Joseph E. Regan, superintendent of prisons.

The disclosures of Fernekes' market deals were discussed and a statement was issued denying that the notorious convict "was doing a brokerage business with the knowledge and consent of prison officials." The statement did not deny, however, that Fernekes was permitted an occasional deal in securities, because it was accompanied by records showing Fernekes' transactions with the Bennett company.

Profits Amount to $500.

The Bennett company revealed that in May, 1933, it received a certificate for 50 shares of Marshall Field & Co. stock from Fernekes through the warden's office. The convict asked that the stock be sold and the proceeds invested in ten share lots of stock in several concerns, including the Greyhound Bus Lines and Zenith radio. This was done and in June, 1934, Fernekes ordered the stock sold. The profits, about $500, according to the company, were sent to the warden's office and placed to Fernekes' credit here.

Not more than three or four such convict accounts have been handled by the company, an official said.

The statement issued at Springfield detailing the Bennett company transactions with Fernekes also showed the prisoner checked $325 to the Harris, Forbes corporation on Jan. 19, 1933.

"Warden Whipp knew nothing of these transactions until this morning when he examined the records," Bowen said.

Account in Coast Bank.

It has been reported that Fernekes had accounts in several banks. One of them, it was learned yesterday, was in a San Francisco bank and had only $138 in it at the time of his escape. Fernekes was once able to stage a successful bank robbery through possession of a safety deposit box in New York. He kept two pistols in this box and one day held up guards in the vault and escaped with a sum of money.

It was also revealed yesterday that Fernekes had evinced a considerable interest in religion during the last year of incarceration, making frequent visits to the chaplain's office and attending church regularly.

Two weeks ago Fernekes obtained civilian clothes and walked out of the prison in the guise of a visitor.

FIRST SUIT FILED UNDER NEW LAW TO END "SUPPORT"

The first suit in Cook county to terminate a separate maintenance status in accordance with one of the domestic relations reform statutes enacted recently by the general assembly, was brought in the Superior court yesterday by William C. DeMotte of the Lake Shore Drive hotel, vice president of the National Casket company, 1911 Roosevelt road.

In the bill DeMotte asks a divorce from Mrs. Maud C. DeMotte, now living in Warren, O. He relates that the couple married in 1910 and separated in 1920 and that in 1925 Mrs. DeMotte obtained the separate maintenance decree on grounds of desertion. Since then, he asserts, he has paid $100 a month alimony.

The new law, sponsored by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort, provides that a separate maintenance period may be ended after two years and either party may be granted a divorce on grounds of desertion. The measure is intended to end "gold digging" by wives and to permit remarriages.

HANGS SELF IN HOME.

FATHER DROWNS TRYING RESCUE; OTHERS SAVE SON

Edward Ozreskowski, 36 years old, 5247 Maplewood avenue, was drowned in the Des Plaines river at Madison street near Hinsdale on Sunday afternoon when although he was unable to swim, he jumped into the water in an attempt to save his 12 year old son, John. According to witnesses the boy who had been swimming suddenly began calling for help. Ozreskowski plunged into the stream and sank while others dragged the boy to safety. Other members of the family watched the tragedy from the shore.

HOPSON DARES SENATE TO JAIL HIM OVER QUIZ

Defies Contempt Citation in Lobby Inquiry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—A challenge to the senate to jail him for contempt was shouted by Howard C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas and Electric system of utilities, today at a noisy session of the special senatorial committee investigating lobbying.

HOWARD C. HOPSON. [Before Committee.] [Assoc. Press Wirephoto.]

The senate cited Hopson for contempt last week, but the citation has not been pressed. Hopson openly defied the committee again today when he refused to withdraw an accusation that the senators were "looking only for half truths and don't want the whole truth."

Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], the fire eating chairman, and his colleagues who specialize in pouring invective upon witnesses, warned Hopson of the consequences if he did not withdraw his statement.

Black Changes Subject.

"I refuse to withdraw it," retorted the chubby little utilities head. To the surprise of most of those present, Black, after some hesitation, changed the subject.

The committee members enjoyed themselves hugely today by extracting details of Hopson's income from one of his many companies, the Jones Operating and Financial corporation, which supplies utility companies with engineering and financial advice. Hopson protested heatedly that his connection with this corporation had nothing to do with his lobbying activities against the Wheeler-Rayburn utility control bill, but the inquiry went right on, eliciting some sidelights on Hopson's enormous income which brought envious gasps of astonishment from the crowd.

Outside the committee room the Democratic majority on the investigating group was busy trying to dissuade Senator Ernest W. Gibson [Rep., Vt.], a minority member, from persisting in his desire to summon Marvin H. McIntyre, one of President Roosevelt's secretaries, before the committee. Senator Gibson said he wanted to give McIntyre an opportunity to explain why he had been found last week in the hotel suite of B. B. Robinson, Associated Gas lobbyist, together with Lawrence W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury, and Amon W. Carter, Texas publisher.

Over in the house the Democrats on the rival lobby committee there were engaged in a similar attempt to suppress a move to summon Charles West and Emil Hurja, White House lobbyists, to tell of their activities. Representative Carl E. Mapes [Rep., Mich.] was the sponsor of this movement and Chairman John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.] was much wroth with him.

Expect None to Appear.

The consensus among observers was that none of these men close to the President would appear unless they considered it due to themselves to offer some explanation of the incidents which have given rise to many reports and rumors in Washington. Thus far, none of them has displayed an inclination to testify voluntarily.

In questioning Hopson about his connection with the Jones corporation, Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [Dem., Wash.] brought out that the corporation had receipts of $2,720,000 between 1926 and 1933.

The corporation was organized in 1921, Hopson testified, after protesting futilely that the committee had no right to "drag out my private affairs."

"Edward J. Cheney, an engineer, wanted to form such a corporation and I advanced the capital," he said. "There was a contract whereby all receipts were deposited in the Equitable Trust under his name but with sole authority to make withdrawals vested in me. He was to get a drawing account of $1,000 a month and we were to share 50 per cent apiece in the net receipts."

"This company did business with the Associated Gas system which you controled," Schwellenbach remarked. "This arrangement concealed your part in the business so that the Associated Gas stockholders wouldn't know that you were profiting secretly at their expense."

"That is absolutely not the fact," contended Hopson. "I can see nothing wrong in two men going into partnership."

With the aid of a photostatic copy of an accountant's statement on the Jones corporation finances, Schwellenbach brought out that Hopson had received $654,000 and Cheney $497,000 over a seven year period.

"You're doing a lot of harm by dragging out all these private affairs of mine," Hopson told the committee.

Charges Publicity Scheme.

"You've built up a $2,700,000 figure here by adding up a lot of years," he continued. "Why don't you add up the possible receipts for the next 100 years and get a thirty or forty million figure? That's all you're doing—getting something that will look big in the newspapers."

Returning for a few minutes to Hopson's lobbying against the utility bill, Black brought out that the utilities' head had suggested the appeals to public emotions in advertisments stressing the plight of widows and orphans if investments in utilities should be destroyed by the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

"It had gotten to be an emotional issue," Hopson declared. "The other side was stirring up passion and prejudice against the utilities. I suggested that it could be worked both ways."

Chicago Speaker

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, sponsor of soldiers' bonus, told representatives of small independent retail merchants' associations yesterday he intends to devote most of his attention to a fight for their rights "as soon as the bonus question becomes a past issue." He predicted that the bonus question would be settled next January.

Patman spoke twice yesterday before the National Independent Business Social Civic organization at the La Salle hotel. He addressed a luncheon meeting in the Red room at noon and a large dinner meeting in the ballroom at night, and assured both gatherings that he was "unalterably opposed to the domination of large chain store organizations."

He is now pushing an investigation in congress, he said, in the interests of the independents and this investigation "has disclosed that there is real danger of the independent merchants of this country being wiped out."

GRANDSON TAKES UP TRAIL OF T. R. ON JAGUAR HUNT

Kermit Jr. Is in Brazil with Chicagoan.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—John Harvard and his foe, the Bulldog, are chumming it in Matto Grosso to hunt the jaguar.

"It's a jaguar hunt all right," said Kermit Roosevelt Jr., Harvard '38, and Harold McCormick Blair of Chicago, Yale, '38, of their first big game adventure.

Get Col. Roosevelt's Guide.

Young Roosevelt is 19, his companion, 20. With them arrived Alexander S. Daveron, who said he was on a scientific mission and was a friend of Kermit Roosevelt Sr.

The two college students now are roughing it in a land of vivid memories. They went to Sao Paulo and boarded there a plane for Campo Grande, Matto Grosso, to join Sasha Siemel, tall and bearded Lithuanian, who a month ago escorted Col. Roosevelt in a successful hunt.

The lads are rising at 4 o'clock in the morning to wash and get breakfast before setting out on horseback under the dimming stars in a country of mysteries, legend, and dangers.

Teddy Also Hunted There.

There, as here, Kermit's father is well remembered as a youth of 25 who treked with his own famous sire through the marshes and the jungle up to the far Parecis mountains and down northward along the River of Doubt, now called Roosevelt river.

Kermit Sr. twenty-one years ago came with Theodore Roosevelt the elder to explore and hunt in Matto Grosso.

The legend of Col. P. H. Fawcett, as alive today as it was a decade ago when the British explorer disappeared somewhere in the uncharted vicinity of the River Koluene, is enlivening twilight hours for the university sophomores as it did for Kermit's uncle, Col. Roosevelt.

Must Pay $100 in 5 Days on $6,900 Back Alimony

Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski ordered Claude Morris of Wilmette yesterday to pay by Saturday a $100 instalment on an alimony arrearage. Payments totaling $6,943 are now overdue to his first wife, Mrs. Valerie Morris, 1053 Balmoral avenue. Morris, a real estate dealer and a former federal trustee in bankruptcy, was divorced from her in 1918. He has remarried.

MAJ. GRIFFITH HITS NEW DEAL IN CRUSADER TALK

Says Winners Stand to Lose Victory's Fruits.

BY PARKE BROWN.

With athletic contests as his background, Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the Big Ten and president of the National Collegiate Athletic association, poked fun last night at the Tugwellian position that the United States is off the competitive system forever.

In a speech before the Crusaders at the Palmer house he referred frequently to the gridiron, the diamond, and the track, but he also went to the scriptures by book and verse to produce support for his argument in favor of competition.

"I believe that God wants us to fight our own battles," he said in connection with these citations. "He teaches us to fight fairly, but His is not a soft religion. He did not intend that we should be a tribe of dependents."

Foe of Competitive Champions.

He recalled that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said in a recent speech that if the depression had done nothing else it had destroyed the competitive system.

"President Roosevelt," Maj. Griffith continued, "has made it clear that he does not like the champions produced by the competitive system.

"On the other hand, there are those who believe that if a man is willing to pay the price of victory he should receive the winner's reward. They hold that a man should not be condemned because he was a successful competitor, but only when he competes unfairly.

"If we are to abolish the system under which the winners who deserve to win receive the winners' prizes, it is pertinent to inquire whether the slothful, the indolent will receive prizes. Under his proposed new system there will be only booby prizes."

The Picture Future Will See.

Toward the close of his speech Maj. Griffith described the picture being painted for future generations to gaze upon.

"There is being painted today on a national canvas," he said, "the activities of 125 million Americans, the great majority of whom are making a brave and cheerful struggle to live their lives in accordance with the best precepts of the race, to make a living for themselves and their families, and to help support in so far as possible others who cannot or will not support themselves.

"On that canvas there is being etched the likenesses both of the demagogic politicians who are buying votes with the taxpayers' money and building up a following by appealing to the baser passions of the voters, and the pictures of the few noble and courageous statesmen who value their country's welfare above office.

"There is being depicted on that canvas further the faces of men and women who sincerely desire the greatest good for the greatest number, but who ignorantly are helping to destroy civil, political, and economic liberty and to bring about conditions that our ancestors escaped by coming to America."

Widow Is Found Murdered, Raped Nr. Oklahoma Home

Tahlequah, Okla., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Maggie Owens, 58 year old widow who went last night to search for a strayed cow, was found slain near her home at Moody today. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder and rape.

Indications were Mrs. Owens had struggled with her assailant before she was overpowered. The left side of her throat had been slashed and there was a deep cut behind the left ear.

Sherif Grover Bishop of Cherokee county said indications were that the slaying occurred elsewhere and that the body was removed to the spot where it was found.

PANAMA EDITOR, JAILED FOR LIBEL, FREED ON BOND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Aug. 19.—Nelson Rounsevell, publisher of the Panama American, a newspaper published here, was released on bond today after four days in jail. Rounsevell faces charges of libel, preferred by Gen. Harold B. Fiske, commander of the Panama canal department of the United States army, and Col. J. V. Heidt, commandant at Fort Clayton.

The charges grew out of allegations made by Rounsevell in his newspaper that a recent wave of suicides at Fort Clayton were traceable to the hard work in the tropical sun which army officers forced on their men, and the officers' apathy toward the soldiers' smoking of marahauna.

Ten Canal Zone employés gave personal security for $250 each to secure his release. They include: Louis Townslee, Democratic chairman for the Canal Zone; the Rev. J. V. Tieneen, Baptist church leader; Robert W. Glaw, the canal's paymaster; R. M. Davies, dean of the Canal Zone's Elks and past exalted ruler as well as trustee, and Capt. G. D. Mancosas, canal pilot.

Woman Buys a $150 Dog and Saves Her Valuables

Because of several recent burglaries in her neighborhood Mrs. Marion Coleman bought a $150 police dog to safeguard her valuables in her flat at 6417 Kenwood avenue. During her absence yesterday afternoon burglars entered and stole the dog. They took nothing else.

$200,000 WORTH OF PRECANCELED STAMPS SHOWN

More than $200,000 worth of pre-canceled postage stamps, one of which is valued at $5,000, are on exhibition at the thirteenth annual convention of the Precancel Stamp Society of America, which opened yesterday at the Hotel Sherman.

Adolf Gunesch, chairman of the society, explained that pre-canceled stamps are stamps that have been canceled with the name of the city of first address by the postoffice department before they were affixed to pieces of mail. For ordinary purposes a person purchases uncanceled stamps which are canceled after being placed on a parcel or letter. Pre-cancels are purchased by persons or firms possessing special mailing permits and sending large quantities of mail.

The exhibit of the society is open to the public. The society will hold an open auction of pre-canceled stamps, donated by society members, tonight. Alla P. Vestal, Indianapolis, was elected president last night.

ROOSEVELT WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN ON AIR SATURDAY

September Tour of U. S. to Follow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—In a radio speech next Saturday night, President Roosevelt will fire the first gun in the 1936 battle for the presidency. He will follow up this speech, which will be addressed to the Young Democrats, with a transcontinental tour the latter part of September.

The President's pronouncement, which will be accepted as the keynote of his canvass for reelection, is being eagerly awaited by the Republicans whose fighting spirit is being revived by such evidences of the decline of Roosevelt popularity as the Democratic defeat in the Rhode Island by-election. Outstanding favorite of the Republican organization for the nomination for President is Senator Borah, according to the results of the Lucas poll of state and county leaders.

Cancels Milwaukee Visit.

Announcement of the President's radio address was made at the White House today by Cliff Woodward of Des Moines, Ia., president of the Young Democratic clubs of America, which will hold a national meeting at Milwaukee the latter part of this week. Woodward, who had just had a talk with Mr. Roosevelt, said the President found it impossible to go to Milwaukee because of the necessity of his presence in Washington during the closing hours of this session of congress.

Wisconsin congressmen said they had received word from Madison that the President will not extol the work of the La Follettes. It was understood this assurance was given to placate demands of "deserving and loyal" Democrats of the state that any compliments handed out should not be divided with radicals.

Woodward said the President will speak at 9:30, Chicago time. Mr. Roosevelt will be introduced by Woodward, while Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania will attend the Milwaukee convention as the President's personal representative and will make a speech Friday night. Ten thousand delegates between the ages of 18 and 35 are expected.

Expect New Deal Review.

"There is no doubt about the President's reëlection," said Woodward. "There are enough young people in the country for that. The President will carry Iowa by a larger majority than in 1932."

The President's address is expected to be a review of the accomplishments of the New Deal up to date and a heralding of other achievements to come—if he is reëlected with a Democratic congress to support him. There also were intimations at the White House that Mr. Roosevelt will take advantage of the opportunity to answer recent criticism of the New Deal and strike back at his political foes.

There is plenty for the President to answer, for the Republicans are in a challenging mood and of late have been shooting them at the administration almost daily.

Mr. Hoover called on the President to state exactly what changes in the constitution he contemplates in order to implement the New Deal. Others have challenged him to explain the Rhode Island election, to defend the "death sentence" on utility holding companies and to answer the housewives striking against the high cost of living.

Interest in His Answers.

There will be great interest in the attitude of the President toward the Hoover challenge in this first public utterance by Mr. Roosevelt since Mr. Hoover's Chicago statement. If he answers Mr. Hoover, whatever he may say will have a profound bearing on the shaping of the issues in the 1936 election. If he does not answer him, it will be concluded that the President is avoiding the issue that he himself raised in his famous "horse and buggy" comment on the Supreme court decision that destroyed the NRA.

On that occasion the President, assuming a highly critical attitude toward the Supreme court, suggested a change in the form of government by constitutional amendment or otherwise whereby the federal government would be clothed with supreme power over all business enterprise. To this proposal involving the extinction of the sovereignty of the states the country proved exceedingly cold.

Borah to Watch Tide.

It was learned today, if he is convinced in the next seven months that there is a widespread demand for his leadership, Senator Borah will enter the presidential primaries.

Friends of other candidates for the nomination have taken alarm at the evidence of the volume of sentiment favoring Borah and have begun gunning for the senator on his currency views and his opposition to subsidies to the farmers.

Recently a friend sought to soften his demand for a managed currency, but Senator Borah said his record had been made, that it was fully set forth in the Congressional Record and that he had no desire to change it if he could.

He declared that Great Britain was fast moving out of the depression through a managed currency, while little permanent progress had been made here.

His opinion is that there is no necessity to aid the farmers by a subsidy, and that the only real solution of their problem is to put purchasing power in the hands of the masses through an expanded and managed currency.

The senator does not discount the early advantage he is enjoying in the Republican presidential race, nor is he oblivious to the fact that some leaders opposed to his liberalism are willing to accept him because they think he would win back the independent vote that deserted the party in 1932. He will not be beholden to the old guard faction, however.

The faction advancing Senator Borah says that if he should be the nominee his running mate would be Senator Vandenberg, who would have great strength among industrial states. Vandenberg's views on monetary and banking questions are more conservative than those of Borah.

Senator McNary, the Republican leader in the upper house, is not in agreement with Senator Borah about the farm problem. He declared today that the Republicans were gaining ground in the east and the New England states, and he thought this section might be counted to cast its vote next year for a Republican.

In preparation of a new Republican farm program Senator McNary, coauthor of the McNary-Haugen plan, spent today in conference with farm leaders and economists considering some modernization of the equalization fee system. He was hopeful of working out during the congress recess a substitute for the AAA for presentation to the next congress.

Racine Beauty Queen and Her Court Visit Chicago

Here for a Week

Seven young women chosen Saturday as the most beautiful girls of Racine, Wis., were in Chicago yesterday. They were enjoying a one week stay here as guests of the Racine Association of Commerce which sponsors the annual Carnival of Beauty of that city. The queen, Miss Dolores Johnson; her court of six beauties, and their chaperon, Miss Lillian Anderson, the 1933 World's Fair queen of beauty, visited the Edgewater Beach hotel, several loop stores, and went for a tour of the city's parks.

Bilbo's Wife May Speak for Man He Opposes

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 19.—(AP)—With her husband, United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, taking the stump at Brookhaven tonight for the first of a series of speeches in the interest of the candidacy of Hugh L. White for governor, Mrs. Bilbo said today that she was "considering" an invitation to take the stump for Paul B. Johnson, White's opponent.

SEES DEMOCRAT CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Representative Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrat, predicted today the Democratic party would hold its 1936 convention at Atlantic City, N. J.

"The convention will be a ratification meeting and a jubilee," Young said, "renominating Roosevelt and Garner by acclamation. Therefore, Democrats will be better pleased if they are at a summer resort city."

Ordinarily, Young said, the party would select a midwestern city for matters of policy, but that leaders felt it makes no difference where the convention is held.

The Republicans, Young predicted, would convene in some midwestern city with a "Grass Roots" background. Efforts of San Francisco to get the convention were futile, he said, because "Palo Alto is too close."

CALL A SPECIAL OHIO ELECTION TO FILL TRUAX POST

Columbus, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey issued a proclamation tonight calling a special election next May 12 to nominate a successor to the late Congressman-at-Large Charles V. Truax.

The election will be held in conjunction with the May primary and the candidates will be voted on at the general election, Nov. 3.

In fixing the time for the primary and election, the governor sought to answer critics who charged he was refusing to call a special election to avoid a "knock-down, drag-out fight on the New Deal" and a taxpayer's suit in the Ohio Supreme court.

Ohio Supreme Court Judge Roy H. Williams issued an alternative writ compelling the governor to answer the suit by Aug. 24, but pointed out a new action might be started to determine whether the date fixed was a "reasonable time" as required in the state constitution.

In a statement accompanying the proclamation, Gov. Davey said his thought in calling the special election at the regular primary and subsequent election, was to save the taxpayers money. He estimated it would cost $530,000 to hold a special election.

Mr. Davey was cut off the air today for using profanity in a radio speech before the convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Officials of radio station WAIU, which broadcast the address, said they objected to "hell" and "damn" in an attack on Dr. George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State university.

FLAMES SWEEP BERLIN'S RADIO FAIR; 40 INJURED

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19. — Fire swept through Germany's vast radio exposition tonight shortly after the day's program had ended.

The flames destroyed the main exhibition hall, a wireless station, two television outfits and the exhibition stands of Germany's leading radio companies.

Forty persons, including five firemen, were injured in the conflagration, which was the biggest and most spectacular since the reichstag building burned at the inception of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Nazi régime in 1933.

Deny Arson Reports.

The fire was caused by a short circuit, according to the official version, which denied reports of arson.

The show grounds are located on a slight eminence in the Westend section of Berlin and the shooting tongues of fire could be seen over a wide area, especially when a restaurant high up in the great radio tower in the center of the exposition burst into flames.

The high point of the evening came with the rescue, while thousands watched, of 15 men and women who had been trapped atop the tower. The 15 had rushed from the tower restaurant as the fire started, but instead of going down, went up, and then found it was too late to retrace their steps.

Firemen Stage Rescue.

Finally, a fire brigade answered their screams for help, threaded its way through red hot girders to the top of the mast and succeeded in carrying the trapped men and women to safety. Several of them were suffering from shock.

Earlier the elevator operator in the tower had raced his car to the upper platform to take some visitors down while the iron supporting rods already were weakening. He was forced to give up a second dash when the supports began to show signs of crashing.

Late tonight Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, ordered the exhibition to carry on in the remaining halls and instructed the burned buildings be restored immediately.

Hold Midnight Conference.

Goebbels and Police Chief Count Wolf von Helldorf, Chief of Storm Troopers Dietrich, Chief of the Security Service of the G. S. P. [secret police] Heidrich and the heads of the radio service held a midnight conference to prepare for the reopening of the exhibition.

Eyewitnesses said that the fire started about 8:30 o'clock in the department which housed the latest television devices.

By 11 o'clock the conflagration had subsided and only a reddish glow hung over the radio halls.

During the fire thick cordons of Storm Troopers, police, and Schutz Staffel men held off tens of thousands of people who were jamming the streets. Soldiers of the regular army, Storm Troopers, Schutz Staffel men, and technical and emergency service men were also on the scene, carrying off exhibits from the endangered halls to trucks which rushed them to safety.

POLICE ENTER CHURCH KENTUCKY WOMAN HELD AS HER FORT

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Constables pushed into Sunnydale Reformed church here tonight. They arrested the Rev. Emma Hussung. She had seized the building Friday, locked herself in with three men for a garrison and held it since against the congregation and executive committee. She had seen a vision, she said, and a voice told her the Lord said it was time for her to act.

But today Committeeman Walter Kallbreier swore to a warant in a magistrate's court, charging her with trespassing on church property and breach of the peace. The three guards also were accused of the same offenses in John Doe warants sworn by Kallbreier.

When she understood that the officers had warants the Rev. Mrs. Hussung reluctantly let them in and walked out of the church.

Oak Park to Try Out Suburban Police Radio

Police Chief Benjamin Barsema of Oak Park yesterday announced plans for trial operation of a two way police radio system for a 60 day period beginning next week. The station, WQSL, will operate on 1,712 kilocycles, the same as the Chicago police radio, and the two departments will coöperate in sending messages to prevent interference. If the system proves successful it will be installed permanently possibly with Maywood, Forest Park, and other western suburbs operating squad cars under it.

THE names above, as every connoisseur will recognize, are among Britain's most eminent living artists. Their pictures hang in many of the great art museums of the world. Yet today, for the first time, you will see designs of their creating on some of the swankiest china you've ever beheld—thanks to the British Art in Industry movement.

"Very 1935"—"Will go equally well with Victorian and modern things" are some of the remarks of Chicago art critics and decorators who saw a preview of this china.

Because it is undoubtedly one of the most important steps in modern ceramics, a fresh chapter in the famous history of English china, we arranged to have the entire collection brought to Chicago.

$4,000,000 PARK PROJECT PUT UP TO WASHINGTON

State WPA Officials O. K. Beautification.

Illinois officials of the federal Works Progress administration approved yesterday and forwarded to Washington a $4,074,625 plan to rehabilitate and beautify Chicago parks. Uncle Sam would furnish $3,836,445 toward the program while the Chicago park district would contribute $238,180, according to the application submitted.

Under the program, 3,700 acres of parks would be beautified and 200 miles of parkways would be landscaped. Portions would be planted with shrubbery or resodded. Ralph H. Burke, deputy administrator of WPA in Illinois, said 6,100 men would get ten months' employment.

The work is divided into three projects. One would beautify 1,096 acres in 46 parks and landscape 50 miles of north side boulevards. For this the federal government would grant $1,099,675 and the park board $73,840.

South and West Sides.

A second project, to be financed by $1,302,510 of government money and $73,540 in park funds, would include work on 740 acres of 31 west side parks and 60 miles of boulevards. The third project, contemplating a federal grant of $1,434,260 and local funds of $90,800, covers 1,905 acres in 31 south side parks and 94 miles of boulevards.

Preliminary estimates based on an occupational survey of how persons on relief in Illinois would qualify for the new federal jobs was made public yesterday by R. J. Myers, finance director of the state WPA.

The number of employable relief clients was found to be 376,760. Of this number 266,820 were given "priority rights" since they were the most important workers of families on relief.

Constitution of Groups.

Among the priority group 237,950 were men, or 89 per cent, and 28,870 were women. Sixteen per cent were classified as professionally or technically trained, 17 per cent as skilled workers, 29 per cent as "intermediate," 36 per cent as unskilled, and 2 per cent as "unknown."

The advisory committee of the board of forest preserve commissioners meeting in the Palmer house yesterday decided to apply to the WPA for $350,000 to build 13 comfort stations in the county's wooded tracts. The project was presented to Gen. Abel Davis, committee chairman, by Charles G. Sauers, general superintendent of the forest preserve district.

Julius Kessler, 80, Peps Up Staf of New Concern

Julius Kessler, 80 years old, known as "the dean of American distillers," gave a pep talk yesterday in the Drake hotel to about 100 representatives of the newly organized whisky company which has brought him back into active business as its head. The new concern, Julius Kessler Distributing Co., Inc., is a subsidiary of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Inc. Kessler told anecdotes about his first visit to Chicago in 1873, and of his whisky selling in the west in pioneer days when he used to ride as far as eighty miles a day on horseback and whip pack mules over mountain passes to get $6 a gallon for his whisky.

Into the Red and Out Again It's All in a PWA Day's Work

Richard W. Farmer, a tailor at 175 North Michigan avenue, recently became "public works chairman" for his home village of Bannockburn, population 200, located just north of Deerfield. Yesterday he received an official notice that $900 more than the government allotment had been spent on a relief weed pulling project under his direction.

The notice came in the form of a letter from E. T. Gurney, work relief superintendent for Lake county, reading as follows:

"The project that you had under the Illinois Emergency Relief commission when stopped had exhausted not only the funds allocated to it but was approximately $900 in the red on our books, and it is therefore necessary, in order to adjust our records, to ask you to sign the attached supplement and return it to the writer for passage through the proper channels so that we may wipe out this red balance."

How to Clear Up Books.

The supplement was an application for $900 to employ eleven workers for twenty days.

The original project had called for $2,880 to employ twenty-three workmen. At the end of three weeks the weed pulling along the streets of Bannockburn was halted, Farmer said, when Lake county officials notified him the work would have to be continued in the future under a new application to the Federal Works Progress administration.

"And they only sent five or six men out on the job, instead of twenty-three," asserted Farmer. "I had to fire one of these because he went across the road to a field and slept all afternoon. They didn't give us the full quota of men and the project was halted before completion. How could there be a $900 shortage?"

Really "in the Black."

The facts were laid before Paul C. Dougherty, IERC district representative for eleven northern Illinois counties, including Lake. Dougherty got in touch with Gurney, whose office is at Waukegan, by telephone, and asked for an explanation.

After scanning his records Gurney called back to report that a mistake had been made and that Bannockburn's project was really $2,103 in the black, instead of the red. Gurney reported that $777 had been spent on labor and some one had failed originally to set down the $2,880 allotment on the credit or black side of the ledger.

Dougherty said that it was not unusual to make a supplemental application for more than the shortage. "Everybody makes mistakes," said Dougherty.

L. BARRYMORE, BEERY APPEAL ON INCOME TAX

Late Mrs. Vanderbilt Levy Also Protested.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Beery, and the latter's wife today asked the United States board of tax appeals to relieve them of income tax assessments aggregating $10,700.

At the same time that the two movie actors and Mrs. Beery filed their appeals the Radio Corporation of America laid a $886,729 income tax dispute before the appeals board and William K. Vanderbilt, New York financier, protested a $7,694 income tax assessment made against the late Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt.

The Vanderbilt protest grew out of the refusal by the government to recognize a $58,948 loss on her racing stables which Mrs. Vanderbilt, who died July 5, 1935, deducted from her taxable income.

Claims Sets Unsalable.

RCA's attempts to write down the value of its unsold radio sets and other inventory by $5,293,666 in 1929 led to the corporation's tax case with the government. The corporation claims that changes in radio styles made its old sets unsalable, a contention the government denies. The government asserts RCA and its 21 subsidiaries had a 18 million dollars income in 1920.

The Barrymore and Beery tax cases were echoes of the banking and real estate crises which hit Hollywood in 1932. The government declined to recognize losses which the Beerys claimed to have suffered in the closing of the First National Bank of Beverly Hills and a loss which Barrymore claimed on a real estate investment.

Barrymore reported an income of $32,966 and paid a tax of $4,222 in 1932. The government has increased his estimated income to $51,006 by striking out his claim that a loss of $18,041 on Hollywood real estate should be deducted from his income. The government's contention would increase his tax to $6,733.

Mrs. Beery Assessed $5,629.

Beery reported a net income of $50,344 and paid a tax of $6,267 for 1932. The government increased his net income to more than $67,000 and claims a deficiency in tax of $3,642. Mrs. Beery, who reported an income of $50,408 and paid a tax of $11,474, is assessed a deficiency of $5,629 on the basis of the government's claim that her income was $73,246.

The Beerys claim to have had $48,783 on deposit in the First National Bank of Beverly Hills when it closed and to have lost $29,270 of this sum. The government refuses to recognize any loss until the bank is completely liquidated.

FINED AS RECKLESS DRIVER.

Walter Sarmont, 26 years old, 4427 South Troy street, a clerk, was fined $5 for reckless driving yesterday by Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the traffic court.

REPORT COLONEL OF ARTILLERY TO HEAD ROTC HERE

Addition of Units to Bring Higher Rank.

Word was received at Sixth corps area headquarters here yesterday that Col. William F. Morrison, field artillery, is being considered by the war department as director of R. O. T. C. activities in the Chicago public high schools.

Units are to be established in eleven additional Chicago high schools when school opens in September. It is expected that the new units, together with the present seventeen high school units, will increase Chicago's R. O. T. C. enrollment from 5,500 to 11,000.

Change to Higher Rank.

Directors of R. O. T. C. activities in the Chicago high schools up to this time have held the rank of major, but the expansion will bring an officer of higher rank to the post which is held now by Maj. John D. von Holtzendorff.

Although the board requested that 11 regular army noncommissioned officers be assigned to direct the work of the new units, it was reported yesterday that the war department may detail first class privates to this duty because of the recent increase in the size of the army, which makes it necessary that noncommissioned officers remain with their regular organizations.

Col. Morrison is stationed at Sioux City, Ia., in the Seventh Corps area, in charge of an artillery unit of the organized reserves there. He is a graduate of West Point and the war college.

In addition to the 11 new R. O. T. C. units in Chicago public high schools, units also will be established in this corps area this fall at St. Mel's High school, Chicago; Mattoon High school, Mattoon; Marmion Fox Valley Preparatory School for Boys, Aurora, and St. Norbert college, West de Pere, Wis. The units at Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich., will be enlarged.

AIR CORPS TO SEEK SPEED AND WEIGHT LIFTING PLANE RECORD

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—An attempt to establish a new world record for seaplanes over a 1,000 kilometer course with a 1,000 kilogram load is scheduled to begin tomorrow from Hampton Roads, Va.

The plane conditioned for the flight is a standard army Martin bombing plane, equipped with two Hornet engines developing 800 horsepower each. Pontoons have been attached to qualify the plane for a seaplane record.

With landing wheels and a full military load, this type bomber has attained speeds of over 200 miles an hour, far greater than the top speed of smaller fighting craft.

The record for speed with a load of 1,000 kilograms was established recently by Charles A. Lindbergh, Edwin C. Musick, Pan-American Airways chief pilot, and Boris Sergievsky of the Sikorsky Aircraft corporation.

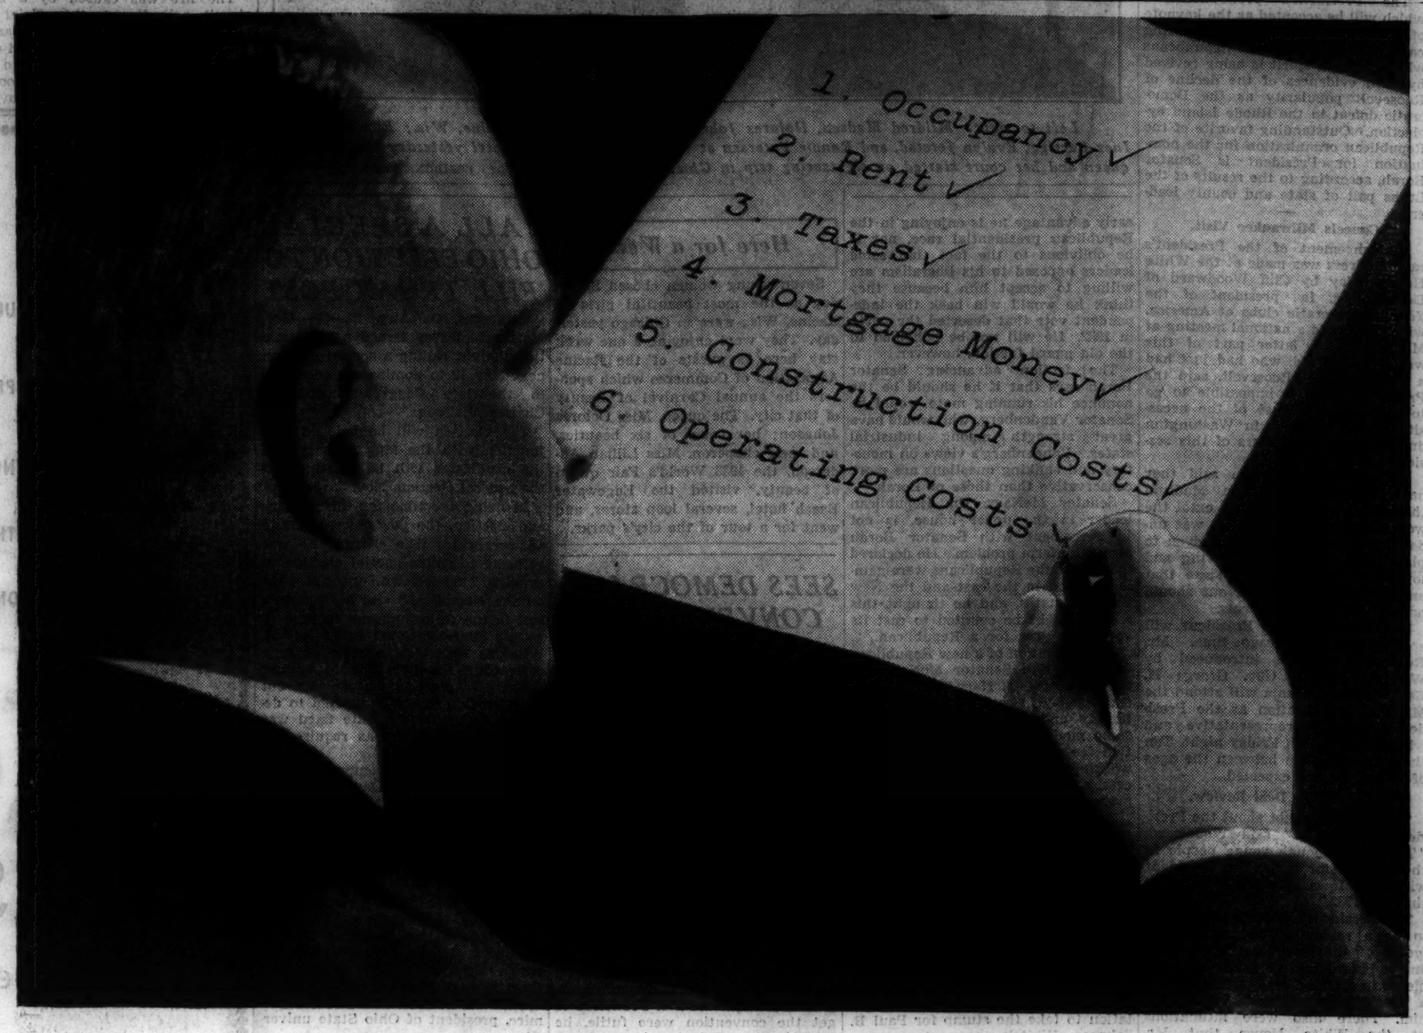
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Negotiations have practically been completed for the sale of Bramshill, the Hampshire home of the Cope family since 1699, which is one of the statellest mansions in England.

This was revealed tonight by Lady Cope, who, before her marriage, was a wealthy young American beauty, Miss Edna Hilton. She blames the crushing burden of taxation for the sale. For years her husband, Sir Denzil Cope, has been ill with nerve trouble, largely a result of the war.

"I cannot tell you my grief at parting with this lovely home," Lady Cope declared. "Bramshill to me is a sacred trust. It will, I hope, become the property of the nation. Ruinous taxation is responsible for the sale. We have just finished paying estate duties in connection with the death of my husband's father. My own fortune suffered in the collapse of the American stock market."



SIX FACTORS in Real Estate Recovery

Residential real estate in Chicago reached a low point in 1932-1933. The improvement which has since taken place is marked by six important factors:

1. Occupancy is up
2. Rental income is higher
3. Real estate taxes are down
4. Mortgage money is plentiful and interest rates are lower
5. Cost of new building is high in relation to prices at which existing structures are selling
6. Operating costs are stable

PICKETS IN RIOT AT MINNEAPOLIS KNITTING PLANT

Fight Police as Factory Is Reopened.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Gunfire, clubs and stones were used today in a clash between several hundred pickets and a police guard. The strife marked the reopening of the plant of the Strutwear Knitting company, closed last week by a labor disturbance.

One of the seventy policemen at the scene fired his weapon into the air and that routed the pickets temporarily. Many persons received minor bruises in the brief fight and one employé, escorting a group of girls into the plant, was said to have been struck on the head by a rock.

Start of the Riot.

The clash occurred as a group of fifty employés marched to the plant from an assembly point several blocks away. Earlier in the day pickets had jeered, but had not molested, employés who had entered the plant. The trouble with the police started when pickets threatened to upset a patrol wagon which preceded the group of workers.

The plant was closed Friday after pickets blockaded it and kept employés from entering. Though company officials asserted there was no strike among their workmen they wrote to Mayor Thomas E. Latimer for police protection.

The union demands recognition and reinstatement of eight workers. Union officials charge the eight were discharged following the Supreme court voiding of the NRA because of their previous union activities.

Power Line Destroyed.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Possible renewal of the strike which afflicted the public utilities of southern Illinois last spring was a subject of speculation here today. Residents of this place were without electrical service last night because an Illinois Power and Light company transmission line tower was dynamited.

A tower carrying a high voltage line from Champaign to Danville was knocked over by three blasts. That sabotage cut off current until the local emergency plant was put into service. Company officials said they did not know of any motive for the blast, the third in the last two months, but the first to halt service.

Local police said that a man, whose identity they kept secret, reported that he drove past the scene of the blast a few minutes after the explosion and saw three men in a dark Chevrolet sedan drive from behind some bushes. It was said, however, that he could not furnish more than a general description.

Gassmakers Quit Work.

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Five hundred laborers struck here today, causing the closing of the Obear-Nester Glass company plant. About 425 workers were members of the Glass Bottle Blowers' association. Seventy-five others, belonging to other glass workers' unions, walked out in sympathy.

The strikers said the management refused a pay increase of 10 per cent and lighter work for women.

CHICAGO LAWYER SEEKS FREEDOM FROM U. S. CELL

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Freedom for Paysoff Tinkoff, Chicago attorney and income tax expert, from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth was sought today through an application for a writ of habeas corpus in federal court.

Hearing on the application was set for tomorrow before Judge Richard J. Hopkins.

Tinkoff is being held on failure to post $7,500 cash bond pending outcome of his appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago on his conviction on a charge of attempting to defeat and evade income taxes and of allegedly aiding and abetting William J. Newman of Chicago in attempting to evade income taxes.

Tinkoff's application contends the indictment was defective and that the statute of limitation precluded prosecution.

The Chicago attorney was sentenced to serve 18 months on each of the two counts, the terms to run concurrently.

WIFE IS DENIED CITIZENSHIP FOR REFUSAL TO ARM

Boston, Mass., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A petition for citizenship filed by Mrs. Gertrude Annas, wife of a Corning, N. Y., clergyman and mother of two children, was dismissed in Federal court today because Mrs. Annas, although willing to uphold the constitution, would not promise to bear arms in time of war.

Mrs. Annas, a British subject, was told by United States Judge Hugh D. McLellan that he was bound to dismiss her petition in view of Supreme court decisions in such cases.

The clergyman's wife said she did not want to fight in the event of war because her own girlhood had been overshadowed by war. Bombing raids by German dirigibles on London, where she was at school, she said, had made a horrible impression on her.

FIRE VICTIM

MARY BREEN.

First Victim Is Identified by Her Father.

A second young woman died yesterday afternoon as the result of burns incurred early in the morning in a fire on the sixth floor of the St. Clair hotel, 162 East Ohio street.

The blaze, apparently caused by a cigaret, was confined to the room of the young women, but smoke drove a number of other guests to the street. The permanent occupant of the room, Miss Sally Bruner, 27 years old, a manicurist, stumbled from her flaming quarters fatally injured. She died in the Passavant hospital.

Jewelry Reveals Identity.

Firemen found the other girl dead on the bed when they arrived in response to the fire alarm. Police were unable at first to learn who she was, but later in the day she was identified by her jewelry as Miss Mary Breen, 26 years old, 2465 Lincoln avenue, an unemployed telephone operator. Her father, Patrick Breen, a printer, made the identification. Miss Breen was visiting Miss Bruner when the fatal fire started.

It was disclosed at an inquest held during the afternoon that the two girls had been seen drinking at the hotel bar. Larry Atkins of Cleveland, O., a publicity and advertising man, was questioned when the key to his room was found in the fire swept room.

Trace Evening's Activities.

Atkins said that he had known Miss Breen for the last eight years and that she met him at the hotel Sunday night. He asserted that she had been drinking and that he gave her the key to his room and went to another room to play cards. From there it appears that Miss Breen went to Miss Bruner's room.

According to witnesses, Miss Breen smoked cigarets, but Miss Bruner did not. Miss Breen's body was burned almost beyond recognition. It is believed that the fire started close to her head.

Miss Bruner, who was a manicurist at the Bismarck hotel barber shop, had been a resident at the hotel for the last three years. The police last night notified her relatives, who live near Pittsburgh, Pa.

ROOSEVELT DEFENDER SILENCED BY FARMERS AT MISSOURI PARLEY

Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Criticism of Herbert Hoover's recent Chicago statement was greeted by cries of "We don't want a political speech" at the Missouri Farmes' association convention here today.

As Hulen was interrupted by some of his hearers, President William Hirth called for order, saying "our organization stands for free speech."

Hulen continued, but changed the subject, saying the recent demonstration of farmers at Plattsburg in preventing a foreclosure sale was regrettable, but farmers as a whole should not be condemned, as small isolated groups were to blame.

C. E. Lane of Springfield told the convention politics in his opinion was "so damned rotten no man could be boastful of his party, regardless of which side he is on."

Sues to Oust Maguire from Election Board

A petition was filed yesterday by the Women's Civic council before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki seeking removal of Fred V. Maguire as an election commissioner on the ground that he already holds one public office, that of master in chancery, and that under election laws no member of the board may retain any other public office. The hearing on the petition was continued until Sept. 10.

MURDER PLOTTER TO UNDERGO TEST OF MIND TODAY

Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, head of the Cook county behavior clinic, is to examine today Joseph A. Hathaway, 2326 Grey avenue, Evanston. Hathaway, arrested a week ago, confessed that he had plotted to kidnap and murder a woman who had repelled his attentions. Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said that Hathaway might also be taken before the grand jury during the day.

Dr. Hoffman was called into the case after Hathaway's wife, Mrs. Lucille R. Hathaway, appeared at the state's attorney's office and asserted she was sure her husband was suffering from a mental disease. She said his actions had been strange during the last three months, and added she felt he was in need of institutional care.

When arrested Hathaway was carrying a rope ladder, shovel, burlap bags, canvas gloves and other tools. All these, he informed police, were to be used to kidnap Alice Fergus, 2100 Lincoln Park West, sister of Ann Fergus, who formerly was employed in Hathaway's office. He said Alice objected to his interest in Ann.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Miss Berenice Glick, a resident of the St. Clair hotel, where two women were burned to death early yesterday, denied last night that she identified Miss Sally Bruner, one of the victims, as was reported in a late edition of THE TRIBUNE Monday morning.

REPORTS THEFT IN CABARET.

George Carroso, owner of the Club Spanish, a cabaret at Roosevelt and Mannheim roads in Hillside, reported yesterday that a $100 bill had disappeared from his cash register.

LAST FLIGHT OF ROGERS AND POST BROUGHT TO END

Sober, saddened crowds gathered again there today as Pilot Crosson dropped out of the skies with his tragic burden and came to a speedy landing at Boeing field. Many had waited through the night at the airport for the arrival of the plane.

Without stopping his engine after the plane had come to a halt, Crosson taxied it into a United Air Lines hangar at the side of the field. The hangar was completely surrounded by state patrolmen, city police, and marine corps reserves.

All Windows Covered.

The windows of both the funeral plane and the hangar were covered and efforts made to conduct necessary arrangements for the continued trip as secretly as possible.

However, an observer inside the building reported that Rogers' face was crushed. Post's face bore a gash over the left eye, and his limbs were broken, it was said.

"We will go through to Los Angeles today," said Col. Young, shortly before the plane left, "but obviously we cannot announce the airport at which we will land. We wish in every way to respect the wishes of the Rogers and Post families and to avoid crowds."

Crosson Keeps Counsel.

Pilot Crosson had little to say about his famous friends, even after he was relieved of his responsibility and the other plane had left. He was asked if he warned Post and Rogers against making the flight on which they crashed. At first he was silent but finally he said:

"I just bade them farewell."

The body of Rogers will lie in state here from 7 o'clock tomorrow morning until just before the funeral services at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The funeral services will be held a few yards away in a chapel, the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, which permits an attendance of only 125. These private services, to be conducted by the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, long an intimate friend of the noted actor, will be attended only by the closest friends.

The public service, to be held before the private ceremonies, will be a huge affair and will be held at Hollywood bowl where a crowd of more than 20,000 persons is expected to gather.

Following the ceremonies Rogers' body will rest for a while in a receiving vault at Forest Lawn, not far from two of his friends, Florenz Ziegfeld and Marie Dressler. Some of the others placed there after they had tasted fame in life were Russ Columbo, Lon Chaney, Charles Mack, Jack Pickford, Ernest Torrence, and Wallace Reid.

Later Rogers will rejoin his old friend Post in graves in their native Oklahoma, where the humorist was born and where he always held legal residence.

Body to Lie in Capitol.

Los Angeles will not see Wiley Post, who will be taken to Oklahoma, where he will lie in state in the rotunda of the state capitol—an honor reserved for the state's great.

At the farm home of the flyer's parents, near Maysville, the widow expressed appreciation today of Gov. Marland's request that the body be brought to the capitol, and said the family would consent.

Again the possibility arose that Post's body might be taken to the modest Maysville home for a while before the services here.

"We feel that Wiley's old friends and neighbors would like to do him honor," said his brother Arthur.

Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

Gov. Marland assigned B. S. Graham, one of his aids who was an army flyer, to arrange the state's official observance. It is expected the body will be taken to Maysville Wednesday afternoon and returned to the capitol Thursday morning. The funeral has been planned at the First Baptist church here for 2 p. m. Thursday. A group of aviators will provide an aerial escort for the funeral plane as it approaches Wiley Post airport, seat of a firm which Post headed.

From all over America these were preparing tonight to converge upon Oklahoma City Thursday to attend the services.

Lindbergh May Attend.

Bennett Griffin, expert in blind flying for the department of commerce, telegraphed he would go from Chicago. James Mattern, Griffin's partner in an attempt to break Post's 'round the world record, also planned to fly there. Art Goebel, winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii, said he was going from Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Haizlip were ready to start from St. Louis. Amelia Earhart was reported en route. It was possible that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would stop on his way to California.

WILL ROGERS, COWBOY HUMORIST
HIS LIFE STORY

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

CHAPTER THREE.

WILL ROGERS became a "Ziegfeld Follies" player in June, 1917, at the New Amsterdam theater, New York. The production was called, of course, "Follies of 1917." Many playgoers, consulting their memories, will assert that they saw him in a "Ziegfeld Follies" several years before that date, but they are speaking from confused impressions, either of his vaudeville tours or his earlier Broadway revues.

After his legitimate stage debut in 1915, in "Hands Up," he appeared under Shubert management in a revue called "Town Topics," staged at the Century theater, New York, in September, 1915, and also in a production at the New York Winter Garden called "The Passing Show of 1917" put on in the spring of the latter year.

These Winter Garden shows were a famous theatrical institution along Broadway and also on tour [see the career of Al Jolson, their greatest star], and thus when Rogers came under Ziegfeld's management he was well established in the theater.

Won Fame with Ziegfeld.

His career, however, may be divided into before-Ziegfeld and after-Ziegfeld periods. Before Ziegfeld [1917], he had been trudging along, making the slow, normal progress of an excellent performer in the line of a clever specialty; after Ziegfeld, he soared swiftly into national fame and popularity. The demand for his almost inexhaustible vein of chuckling, satirical humor, in any way in which he cared to express it, soon became country-wide.

In the "Ziegfeld Follies of 1917," Rogers had the following associates: Fannie Brice, W. C. Fields, Bert Williams, Peggy Hopkins, Eddie Cantor, Edmund Goulding, Dorothy Dixon, Carl Heisen, Lilyan Tashman, Allyn King, Walter Catlett, and a dozen others whose names are of less importance. The song-hit of the show was "The Kind of a Baby for Me," sung by Eddie Cantor.

In Follies of 1918.

The "Follies" of the following season, 1918, also found Rogers in illustrious company. Here are some of the principals in that production: Eddie Cantor, W. C. Fields, Marilyn Miller, Lillian Lorraine, Kay Laurell, Ann Pennington, Frank Carter, and Savoy and Brennan. The song hit, hard to remember, was "Blue Devils."

The year of 1918 brought Rogers his first movie contract, and marked the beginning of his Hollywood activities. That, however, is another story, to be told later. The legitimate stage still had a strong hold upon him.

The summer of 1921 found him in the center of Broadway night life, as a star of Ziegfeld's "Midnight Frolic," at the New Amsterdam Roof. These productions, although given in elaborate theatrical style, had a night-club atmosphere; today the New Amsterdam Roof would be called a theater-restaurant. It catered to the pleasure-seekers who like to stay up most of the night. Rogers used to affirm, in later years, that this was the only night-club he ever frequented.

Leaves Follies of 1922.

Two more "Ziegfeld Follies," with their long runs in New York and their subsequent national tours, are on Rogers' record—the productions of 1922 and 1924. The former company contained Mary Eaton, Ann Pennington, Mary Lewis, Andrew Tombes, Martha Lorber, Lulu McConnell, Brandon Tynan, Gallagher and Shean [of "Yes, We Have no Bananas" fame], Gilda Gray [founder of the "shimmy" dance] and Evelyn Law. Rogers did not remain with the show through the entire year, and when he dropped out Eddie Cantor was drafted as chief comedian.

By this time Rogers had become a movie star of the first magnitude. Therefore, when he signed a contract for the 1924 "Follies," his last, it called for a larger salary, according to tradition, than had ever been paid in the American theater up to that time. Other players in the company were W. C. Fields, Ray Dooley, Edna Leedom, Brandon Tynan, Peggy Fears [she became a theatrical producer], Louise Brooks, Barbara Newberry, and Ethel Shutta.

Becomes National Celebrity.

The career of Will Rogers had now taken practically its full form; he was a screen celebrity, he was in constant demand as a public speaker; the editors of magazines and newspaper syndicates were beginning to offer him fat fees for his homespun philosophical brevities. No doubt when the "Follies of 1924" finished its tour, he thought that he had left the theater permanently.

The year of 1928, however, found him back in grease-paint in a Broadway musical show, under unusual circumstances. In his friendships he was as romantic as one of the Three Musketeers, and when Fred Stone, a man after his own heart and a friend for twenty-three years, was disabled in an airplane accident, Rogers rushed to the rescue, abandoning all his movie contracts. Stone's accident—a portent of the tragedy that ended Rogers' own life—came at a time when he was rehersing for a musical comedy called "Three Cheers," under the management of Charles Dillingham.

Will as King Pompanola.

Rogers sent word from Hollywood that Stone and Dillingham could dismiss their professional worries; he would play the part that had been written for the star. So it came to pass that he appeared in the rôle of King Pompanola in "Three Cheers" at the Globe theater, New York, for a few months in 1928, while Fred Stone's broken legs were healing.

Manager Dillingham, to acknowledge the favor, placed in Rogers' pay envelope every week a check signed in blank; thus giving him the privilege of fixing his salary at any figure. The gossips say, however, that every week Rogers tore up the check. King Pompanola didn't want any money for helping a sick friend.

The story of Rogers' stage activities would not be complete without mention of several London appearances, during his vaudeville period, at the Coliseum and the Alhambra, or without reference to the fact that in the last year of his life the serious drama adopted him. In a west coast staging of Eugene O'Neill's comedy, "Ah, Wilderness," last year, he acted George M. Cohan's rôle.

25 Flyers to Circle N. Y. the Hour of Post Funeral

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Twenty-five planes with black streamers trailing from their rudders will circle New York Thursday in memory of Wiley Post while the late flier's funeral is taking place in Oklahoma. The formation will be manned by commercial fliers from Floyd Bennett airport.

SENATE WOULD ALLOW BURIAL AT ARLINGTON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Burial of Will Rogers and Wiley Post in Arlington National cemetery here, burial ground of the nation's heroes, would be permitted under a resolution adopted today by the senate.

Offered by Senator McAdoo [Dem., Cal.], friend of Rogers, the resolution would authorize the secretary of war to allow burial at Arlington in event families of the airplane crash victims wished it.

At the same time the senate concurred in a minor house amendment and sent to the White House the Thomas [Dem., Okla.] bill authorizing purchase by the federal government for $25,000 of the Post round-the-world plane, Winnie Mae, for placement in the Smithsonian institution.

The McAdoo resolution has yet to be approved by the house.

Hard Rain Stops Fire in Shoshone U. S. Forest

Cody, Wyo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Drenching rain today had halted the nine day Shoshone national forest fire and forest service officials released 100 firemen who had been on the scene since Aug. 10.

SHADES CONCEAL KIN OF ROGERS AS CAR PAUSES HERE

Only Will Jr. Emerges; To Keep On Flying.

Traveling by train from New York to Los Angeles, the family of Will Rogers stopped in Chicago two hours yesterday while the private car bearing them to meet the body of the humorist was switched from the Pennsylvania to the Santa Fe tracks.

Will Rogers Jr., 23 years old, was the only member of the immediate family who emerged from the darkened car during the stop-over here. Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, the widow; Mary, the daughter, and James, the younger son, remained behind the drawn shades.

Will Jr. announced that a public funeral would be held Thursday morning and a private ceremony Thursday afternoon in Los Angeles. The body will rest in a vault in Forest Lawn Memorial park there, he said, "until mother is able to travel to Claremore, Okla., for the burial."

Still Loyal to Aviation.

"We haven't turned against flying," he said, "but I am glad we are making the trip by train because it has given mother more time to rest."

The group traveled in a car lent by Gen. W. W. Atterbury, former president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Others in the party were Frank Phillips, Oklahoma oil executive; Miss Theda Blake, sister of Mrs. Rogers; James Blake, her nephew, and Miss Dorothy Stone, daughter of Actor Fred Stone. Miss Stone and Miss Blake left the train for a brief automobile ride with Frank Bering of the Hotel Sherman, for many years a friend of Rogers.

Gerhard Hoelter, 2061 Humboldt boulevard, who returned to Chicago Sunday night from an Alaskan trip, told yesterday of encountering Rogers, Wiley Post, Rex Beach and Joe Crosson in a restaurant in Juneau on Aug. 8. Having met Rogers here at Onwentsia Country club, Hoelter said he got the humorist to write autographs for four young women.

Party Augmented at K. C.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The family of Will Rogers was joined here tonight by relatives and friends for the journey to Los Angeles. Those who boarded the train here were Rogers' only sister, Mrs. Tom McSpadden of Chelsea, Okla., and her daughter, Paula; Mrs. Rogers' sister, Mrs. D. W. Quisenberry of Joplin, Mo., and her young son, Bill; Miss Ethel Lane of Chelsea, a niece of Rogers; Dr. J. C. Bushyhead of Claremore, a cousin of the humorist, and Mrs. Sam Wear of Springfield, Mo., a friend of the family.

DECIDE TO RELEASE LAST TWO PICTURES MADE BY WILL ROGERS

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Will Rogers' two last motion pictures, completed in Hollywood before his death, are to be released for public showings.

The Fox Film corporation, producers, announced its plans for the releases today. "Steamboat 'Round the Bend," a river picture photographed near Sacramento, Cal., will have its premiere Sept. 6; "In Old Kentucky" will go on the screen Dec. 6.

Officials emphasized that no preview of either film is to be held until after Rogers' funeral Thursday and all Fox theaters will observe two minutes of darkness at that time.

NEW RIDGE AVE. PAVEMENT TO BE OPEN SATURDAY

Benefits Trafic to North Shore Suburbs.

BY HAL FOUST.

Ridge avenue, Evanston's heaviest trafic carrier, will be opened next Saturday after having been closed for eight weeks for repaving. Thirty-six feet of concrete was laid between Howard street and West Railroad avenue at Emerson street by the Illinois highway department at a cost of $165,000, all federal "easy money."

The announcement of the opening date came yesterday from Kendrick Harger, district engineer of the highway department. Work has been started on the removal of the wooden bridge in West Railroad avenue over the north shore channel. It is to be replaced by a $75,000 concrete and steel structure with a 44 foot roadway.

Faster Route to Loop.

West Railroad and Ridge avenues form a route for moderately fast travel, avoiding the narrow and tortuous pavement of Sheridan road in motoring between the loop and north shore suburbs. When this thoroughfare, abutting or adjacent to the Chicago and North Western railroad embankment, is finally completed, the suburbs—and automobile owners generally—would mark it with the Illinois 42 labels that are now carried by Sheridan road.

The final completion date is remote, however. During the eight weeks that Ridge was closed, nothing was done on the North Shore channel bridge. And while the bridge is under construction there is no work on a railroad grade separation that must be rebuilt about three blocks south of the bridge. And even after both structures are finished it is still speculative whether a half mile of necessary widening and repaving in Railroad avenue will be ready for trafic.

The contract for the bridge calls for completion on March 1. The paper work on the $150,000 grade separation hasn't been finished in Springfield and the specifications remain to be approved by the Illinois commerce commission. Work may start about Oct. 1 for completion about next June.

Seek to Condemn Land.

The half mile of paving south of the bridge to Ridge avenue is delayed for right of way acquisition. Cook county is acquiring the property by condemnation for the state to lay a 50 foot slab in this section.

In the meantime, Ridge can function with a moderate degree of usefulness without Railroad avenue. It connects with Sheridan road near the Evanston-Wilmette boundary and, by means of a rough and narrow detour, Railroad avenue north of its junction with McCormick road can be reached. The 35 foot new pavement is not as wide as the state desired to lay, nor as wide as trafic demands. However, Evanston agreed to prohibit parking, so the slab can be divided into four 9 foot lanes, if this prohibition is enforced.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Buy More Steers

Aug. 19, 1935.

THE TRIBUNE farms' live stock feeding program is being developed on an expanded basis to utilize this season's bumper crops of grain and forage. The Thurow brothers, who operate the farm at Yorkville, have just returned from Nebraska and South Dakota where they bought 122 white faced steers, making a total of 266 feeders, including the 144 Herefords already at the farm.

Over the week-end a shipment of eighty head of steers arrived from Smithwick, S. D. The steers, long yearlings, weighed an average of 525 pounds when unloaded at Plano. They were bought on the range by the head at a cost of $45 each, not including 59 cents a hundred pounds for transportation and a small feed bill. The steers are from a pure bred herd of Herefords on a ranch owned by the four Christensen brothers—George, Frank, Mike, and Harry—with headquarters at Chadron, Neb.

The animals grade "good to choice"—fifty-four branded bar CS; fifteen, S hanging Y; ten, three-quarter circle, and one, dot crutch.

Another bunch of forty steers has been shipped from Harrison, Neb. They averaged 567 pounds at the loading station after being driven twenty-three miles. They cost $8.50 a hundred pounds, not including transportation. The steers are from Frank Parsons' herd in the sandhill country near Harrison. They are long yearlings and grade "good to choice."

While the Thurow brothers were away buying cattle, the first calf was born in the herd of ten Aberdeen-Angus heifers in the blue grey beef cattle test at the Yorkville farm. The calf, a female, weighed about seventy pounds at birth.

Corn is making an excellent growth at the Yorkville place. After riding through the fields today, Louis Thurow said, "We have not had better prospects for a good corn crop in many years. Our corn here in northern Illinois is better than anything I saw on our cattle buying trip that took us through Iowa, Nebraska, and the southern counties of South Dakota. All the corn on our farm is safe unless we have an extremely early frost."

The threshing of oats is on the work schedule for this week at the Yorkville farm. The second cutting of alfalfa will be harvested immediately after the oats have been threshed.

Valuable feed has been picked up during the last few days in the oat field, following the harvesting of the grain with a combine harvester, at the TRIBUNE farm near Wheaton. At the time the oats were cut the straw was blown back onto the field. The value of the oat straw for horses has been increased by the lespedeza tops clipped off by the binder. The straw containing the lespedeza was allowed to remain on top of the stubble for a day or two, long enough for the legume plants to be properly cured, and then baled. The straw and lespedeza clippings were easily picked up with a bull rake and hauled to the baler in the field.

The oats yielded by measure about 43 bushels to the acre on forty-five acres and about 35 bushels an acre on fifteen acres. But the grain is light and weighs only about 22 to 24 pounds to the bushel.

Tractors have furnished most of the power used in harvesting the oat and hay crops at the Wheaton farm this year. The farm now has a superabundance of hay, and the oats are so light they are not of the proper quality to be sold as cash grain on the market. The situation would indicate that the farm would have saved money this season at least by having used horses instead of tractors in harvesting the oats and the hay crops.

This herd of 80 steers are some of the 122 head recently bought by Thurow brothers for The Tribune Experimental farm near Yorkville and Plano. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

JAP ARMY LEADER ASKS CHINESE AID TO CHECK REDS

Says Border Area Must Be Freed of Communism

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—Maj. Gen. Hayao Tada, new chief commander of the Japanese forces in north China, declared upon the assumption of his post at Tientsin today that the sovietizing of China's border regions is a serious obstacle to Sino-Japanese cooperation.

"Hence, communistic activities in China should be prevented through the concerted effort of China and Japan because communism is contrary to the traditional thought of the orient," Gen. Tada said.

Echoes Other Army Leaders.

His remarks echoed statements in Japanese newspapers as well as by other military leaders.

Maj. Tan Takahashi, Japanese military attaché at Peiping, declared it is necessary for China and Japan to unite to prevent the communizing of the Suiyuan and Ningsia areas, both of which embrace a considerable portion of Inner Mongolia.

Takahashi said the Japanese Kwantung army intends to establish "special missions" along the full extent of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway which extends northwestward from Peiping into Inner Mongolia.

See Link to Russia.

The Japanese military alleges that Chinese Reds from Szechwan are invading Kansu and Shensi provinces with the object of linking up with the Reds of Outer Mongolia, which is under soviet Russian influence.

Cheng Keh, mayor of Tientsin, has formed a so-called Oriental Economic association to foster Sino-Japanese economic coöperation.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who has been conferring with military and political leaders of the Chinese government in Kuling, returned to Nanking today. Wang Ching-wei, who recently resigned as premier and foreign minister, returned to Shanghai, but it is not yet known whether he will resume his posts, as the Japanese have requested.

SOUTH DAKOTA LOSES 17,767 IN POPULATION; DROUTH HELD CAUSE

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A 17,767 population loss since 1930 was disclosed today as one result of South Dakota's five year fight with successive drouth and grasshopper plagues.

The 1935 state census, first official report of population shifts in the northwest since the drouth started, showed 675,082 persons in South Dakota, compared with 692,849 recorded in the 1930 federal enumeration.

It dropped South Dakota from 36th to 38th in population rank among the states, based upon 1930 figures. Rhode Island was 37th, with 687,497 and North Dakota 38th with 680,843.

The census showed losses in 54 of the state's 69 counties, topped by a 2,000 decrease in Tripp county, center of past drouth, dust, and grasshopper devastation. All but two of the state's largest cities gained population.

SCHACHT'S TALK ON JEWS TAMED IN GERMAN PRESS

Warning Against Nazi Persecution Cut Out.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—The German press today ignored the warning given yesterday in a speech by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht at Koenigsberg, or at best published an emasculated extract of it. The passages warning against illegal actions, Jew baiting, persecution of Catholics and Protestants, and experiments of Nazi radicals were eliminated in the German newspapers. Schacht is economic dictator in Nazi Germany, being president of the Reichsbank and minister of economics.

Informed people here regard the Schacht speech as for the benefit of foreigners. For the Germans there was a version of the speech playing up his admiration for the fuehrer, Adolf Hitler, and dropping his warnings.

Explains Nazi Criminal Law.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Franz Guertner, minister of justice, said today that Nazi Germany has definitly rejected the ancient legal principle of "nulla poena sine lege"—which regards as illegal only such behavior as is an infringement of a legal or penal provision—and has substituted for it the maxim "nulla crimen sine poena"—by which punishment is meted out regardless of the incompleteness of a law.

Addressing 400 delegates from 50 nations at the opening session of the eleventh quinquennial penal penitentiary congress, he said:

"National socialism makes the serious claim that all behavior deserving punishment shall meet with its just reward, that no one shall succeed in slipping through the meshes of the law, that, on the contrary, every one committing an act deserving punishment shall receive the due punishment regardless of the incompleteness of the law.

Cannot Foresee All Crimes.

"Experience teaches us that no legislator can foresee or regulate in advance the facts in every case which he would threaten with punishment if he were all knowing and all foreseeing. Punishment must also be awarded in cases where a legislator has left a gap which he would have filled if he had thought of it.

"Nazism's new penal code, which will come into effect Sept. 1, entails a complete revolution in the domain of the doctrine of illegality and a complete arrangement in the relationship of the judge to the law."

REDS EXPEL WRITER FOR ITEM ON CROSSING OF MONKEYS, HUMANS

MOSCOW, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Soviet Russia showed the door today to a Polish journalist accused of writing a story that monkeys and human beings are being crossed on an experimental farm to "improve the next generation of the soviet population."

It ordered the immediate deportation of Jan Otmar Berson, veteran Moscow correspondent of the Polish Telegraphic agency and of the semi-official Gazeta Polska of Warsaw.

Pravda, the communist party newspaper, besides making the specific accusation concerning the monkey story, also stated Berson mocked soviet youth.

FORMER AUSTRIAN HANGMAN FACES GALLOWS DEATH

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Alois Fuerst, former village burgomaster who once worked for the government as a hangman, faces death at the end of a rope on charges of arson and murder.

He is accused of killing two 5 year old children, one of them his own daughter, and then setting fire to his barn with the alleged double motive of concealing the crime and collecting fire insurance. His wife also was arrested.

Police quoted Fuerst as saying:

"If I have to die I want to be shot. I know what hanging is."

Beauty Shops Protest State Minimum Wage

Beauty shop owners met last night in the Morrison hotel to protest against imposition of a minimum wage of $16.50 and a 45 hour work week for operators by the state department of labor. The wage provisions and other regulations were proposed last week by the minimum wage division of the department. S. F. Rabinoff, attorney for beauty parlors, declared that 2,000 shops would be forced out of business if the regulations became effective. It was decided to send a committee to appeal to Gov. Horner before launching a court test.

BRITAIN HURLS THREAT AT ITALY TO ARM ETHIOPIA

Rome Warns All Peace Offers Are Useless.

Sure of Conquest.

When asked if Italy had weighed the danger of attempting the conquest of Ethiopia, Aloisi replied:

"We have thoroughly studied the question from every angle and are absolutely tranquil in our minds."

This accords with a report from a reliable French source that the Italians are convinced they can complete the conquest of Ethiopia in three months.

Despite the "incident" in Paris, Italy has no intention, Aloisi said, of altering her policy of European cooperation with France and Britain which was fixed at Stresa.

"Italy must have colonial security to fulfill her European mission," Aloisi declared, answering French arguments of the untimeliness of Mussolini's African expedition.

Vows to Protect Brenner Pass.

The Ethiopian campaign, he added, would not cause Italy to diminish her vigilance on Brenner pass. Addressing himself particularly to French reporters, he declared that proof of Italy's ability to take care of her European interests despite African preoccupations would shortly be seen in the form of huge maneuvers in which a million armed men would be assembled in northern Italy.

To fears expressed by a French reporter that the financial burden of the African campaign might be too heavy for Italy, Aloisi frankly replied that the heavy cost of sending an army of 200,000 men to Africa was one of the strongest reasons for not recalling them until all of Italy's objectives in Ethiopia had been obtained.

May Not Attend League Meeting.

Asked if Italy would attend the Geneva session in September, Aloisi said:

"No decision has been taken not to attend. It depends upon events between now and then. Italy does not want to leave the league, but if we were shown to the door, there would be nothing for us to do but go out."

Reminded of the obligation in the league of nations covenant to respect the independence and integrity of member states, Aloisi said:

Fear European War.

Both Britain and Italy have now definitly staked their prestige in the Ethiopian affair and the French fear they are launched in vicious circles of bluffing and calling each other's bluff, which in the end will lead to a European war.

The British threat to arm the Ethiopians increases French Premier Pierre Laval's worries and there is growing pressure on both the French and British governments from home opinion and the small powers to take sanctions against Italy. These would include the closing of the Suez canal to Italian warships.

French Seek to Smooth Row.

The French are now committed to back up the British, but naturally are endeavoring to smooth over the row and prevent if possible any action at Geneva which would irrevocably drive Italy into the German camp. Both the French and British are agreed, however, that the council meeting must take place as scheduled.

Meantime, the arbitration commission for the Ualual border incident got down to work here today with the main item on the agenda being the appointment of a fifth arbitrator.

Aloisi, in his talk with the press, said he had no objections to the French choice for the job—Nicholas Politis, Greek minister in Paris.

ITALIANS SHIP 30,000 SICK, WOUNDED FROM AFRICA, BRITISH HEAR

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 19.—According to information reaching British officials who have been in Paris for the three power conference on the Italo-Ethiopian controversy, about 30,000 sick and wounded Italian soldiers have already been transported through the Suez canal, returning from Italy's African colonies, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

This figure greatly exceeds the French estimates, according to which about 100 such casualties have been transported through the canal daily.

Most of the unfortunates, it is reported here, are not being returned directly to Italy because it is desired to avoid the unfavorable impression that their plight might make. They are taken temporarily, it was reported, to Malta, Rhodes, and Libya. Those who reach Italian soil, it is understood, are placed in sanatoria on the island of Sicily.

BRITISH CABINET SESSION CALLED IN ITALIAN CRISIS

Ministers Meet Thursday to Map Action.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The British cabinet, faced with the necessity of deciding quickly momentous problems arising from the failure of the tri-partite conference in Paris on the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, was summoned to meet in extraordinary session Thursday as ministers tonight converged on London from widely scattered vacation points.

Confronted by a situation considered by many as the most serious threat to world peace since 1914, King George personally took up the matter, summoning Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, to Sandringham.

King's Vacation Hit.

Acting Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, ending a busy day of conferences at his native Lossiemouth, took a train for London tonight.

The king's private secretary, Lord Wigram, also boarded a train for this city, as prospects grew that the situation was becoming so grave it may interfere with the king's own vacation, scheduled to begin shortly at Balmoral.

Immediately after his arrival, lights gleamed at the foreign office where officials faced a quick showdown on a problem grown increasingly grave since June.

Says Britain Must Go On.

"We must go on. I am afraid I can say nothing. You know pretty well what happened so far. We must go on, considering what has happened. I wish the results could have been better that is all I can say now."

Among the problems immediately confronting the ministers in the Italo-Ethiopian problem are the following:

1. The forthcoming Geneva council meeting Sept. 4, with the possibility any determined stand there will cause Mussolini to withdraw from the league;

2. The threat to Britain's Mediterranean lines of communication with the empire and to British control of Lake Tsana in Ethiopia, source of the Blue Nile;

3. The question of the ban against Ethiopia;

4. The breaking up of the "Stresa front" allying Britain, France and Italy;

5. The possibility of recalling parliament to deal with the situation;

6. The danger of race clashes in Britain's wide domain;

7. The extent to which Britain is willing to go to levy sanctions if war comes;

8. The course to be followed if the league flounders.

6 DIE, 12 HURT IN RUMANIAN RIOTS OVER CALENDARS

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Bucharest reported today that four peasants and two police were killed and 12 were seriously injured in a riot near Cetatea-Alba, Bessarabia.

He reported the riot a culmination of the "calendar war" waged for some time in Rumania between the adherents of the Julian calendar and the authorities who are enforcing adoption of the Gregorian.

The riot resulted, it was said, when 1,000 adherents of the Julian calendar stormed a jail seeking the release of several agitators arrested yesterday.

BRITAIN CANCELS PRIZE OFFER FOR AIR LINER DESIGN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—After a consultation with representatives of the aircraft industry, the air ministry decided today to withdraw its offer of a $125,000 prize for the design of a high speed, medium sized airliner. The offer was made last March, but it evoked little enthusiasm in flying circles. Much demand is now being made on the industry as a result of the expansion of the air force.

100 Rescued from Ship Afire Off English Coast

SKEGNESS, Lincolnshire, England, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Craft from the shore today rescued more than 100 passengers from the pleasure cruiser Elizabeth Allen when fire broke out on her two miles at sea. The fire was extinguished.

ETHIOPIA SEES WAR WITH ITALY WITHIN A MONTH

Claims No More Offers of Peace Can Be Made.

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 19.—Ethiopia took yesterday's collapse of the three power conference in Paris in its stride today.

Officials expressed neither surprise nor alarm. They took the position that Ethiopia has offered Italy all the concessions it can and that if France or Great Britain is unable to stop the war, there will be war.

The general feeling here is that there will be war. Indeed, many believe it will start within three or four weeks with an Italian advance from the north as soon as the rains stop.

Silver Exports Curtailed.

This growing certainty that war is inevitable caused the government today to forbid the export of more than $249 worth of silver thalers, except for ligitimate commercial or personal needs. This action was made necessary by the increasing flight of capital resulting from the fear of war.

The thaler remained pegged at 13.50 to the pound sterling while in the outside market—that constituted by Arabs and Hindus squatting cross legged in tin roofed booths in the flea ridden market—the rate is 13.75.

A considerable sum of capital has left Ethiopia in recent months and it is certain that much more would have gone right away because of the blasting of the three power conference by Premier Mussolini's refusal to consider a plan for peace.

One Last Concession.

In some quarters there is believed to be a possibility that Emperor Haile Selassie will, as a last resort, make one last concession in an effort to avert war. He is prepared, it is said, to sell Italy a fertile strip of land known as the Aussa district if that will satisfy Il Duce.

It is known that Italy has long coveted the Aussa area, which is just in back of the savage mountains of southern Eritrea.

Aussa is inhabited by savage Danakils of the same tribe which murdered the French commissioner Bernard last January. The Ethiopians find it hard to keep order, so that they might be willing to sell out. This would give Mussolini some land to show the folks back home and a chance to use his troops in subduing the Danakils.

A big obstacle in the way of such a sale is the fact that French Somaliland would lose the only part of its hinterland which is fertile and in time Assab, Eritrea, might become a rival port to Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Would Build Road.

The Italians wanted to build a road from Assab to Dessie a few years ago as provided in the 1928 treaty and tried to extend the projected road through Aussa. As this would cost the Ethiopians twice as much money and would have been an Italian strategic road, they objected, but if Aussa became Italian the road would be built.

If such a transaction were made it would in no way prejudice the cession of a part of Ogaden to Italy in exchange for the port of Zeila in British Somaliland and a corridor to the Red sea, as has already been proposed by Great Britain.

Ethiopia, it is understood, would pledge itself to use the money from the sale to finance social reforms, suppress Ethiopia's worst blot—slavery—and also to police the frontiers.

A further condition of any concessions, it can be stated authoritatively, must be a pledge by Britain, France and Italy to guarantee Ethiopia's integrity and independence in the most formal way instead of by the vague, unbinding wording of the 1906 treaty. That would make Ethiopia a party to that treaty for the first time.

TRAGIC DEATH

GERALDINE WORLEY.

Lowell, Ind., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—A blasted romance was blamed tonight for the deaths of Geraldine Worley, 19 year old grocery clerk, and Earl Ewer, 25 year old farmer.

Coroner Frank Petree refused to state whether he believed the deaths the result of a suicide pact or a case of murder and suicide. The girl's body, shot twice through the heart, was found lying near Ewer's not far from their automobile on a deserted road early yesterday. Ewer was shot once through the head and a pistol lay by his side.

Petree said last week the girl's parents had instructed her not to go out with Ewer, who had been a friend for two years.

PLAGUE OF GUN FUSES MENACES L. ISLAND SHORE

Police and Guardsmen Find 54 in Night.

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The south shore of Long Island between Long Beach and the Rockaways was menaced today by a mysterious invasion of fuse caps from trench mortar shells, which were washed up by the ocean and lay waiting to explode if handled by one unaccustomed to the danger in them.

During the night, the police and life guards picked up 54 of the firing heads, some of which were in packing cases.

Order Coast Guard Search.

Coast guardsmen were ordered to collect any fuses seen on the beaches and hold them for disposition. The crews of patrol boats were ordered to board fishing vessels which might have salvaged the packing cases and commandeer the dangerous contents.

At Governors Island, Maj. W. H. Jones, a member of the staf of Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commanding the Second Corps Area, said that an investigation had been instituted to determine the origin of the firing heads. It was believed they may have formed part of a consignment of condemned war materials taken out to sea and dumped overboard.

Boxes Float Ashore.

Yesterday, one of the fuses was found in a box that floated ashore at Rockaway point. A number of similar boxes, all empty, also came in at various parts of the coast.

The firing heads are three inches in length and 3 inches in diameter, made of steel and have a safety ring at the tip.

416 POLICEMEN ROOKIES START TO LEARN JOBS

Get Ten Weeks' Training in Many Subjects.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Four hundred and sixteen "rookie" policemen began a ten weeks training period yesterday at police schools in the Fillmore street and the East Chicago avenue police stations.

It is the largest class since 1930 in the ten year old police school, according to Lieut. Maurice J. Wall of the detective bureau, who is in charge of the Fillmore station classes.

Football Players in Class.

Former bank clerks, gymnasium instructors, steamfitters, asbestos workers, receiving clerks, bricklayers, street car conductors, electricians, photographers, gasfitters, and clerks were among the new policemen. One Patrick Fitzgerald listed himself as a "progressive student." Lieut. Wall said many of the men had attended colleges and universities for a time and that he could assemble a pretty good football team from among his pupils.

The subjects they will study include discipline and deportment, government, criminal law, department regulations, ordinances, summonses, assemblages, fires, aid and accidents, observation, patrol, traffic and safety, care and use of arms, reports, and drill.

Learn Source of Laws.

"What is the source, the s-o-u-r-c-e, of our state laws?" Robert Sullivan, lawyer and new instructor from the detective bureau, asked one of four classes of fifty-two each in the station. "'Source' is synonymous with 'beginning' and means the same thing."

A few men squirmed when Instructor Sullivan tossed off the words "habeas corpus" and explained: "Habeas is from the verb 'habeo,' meaning 'to have,' and 'corpus' means 'body.' That's Latin."

Across the hall Sergt. Thomas Burns of the Thirty-first district police station, where he is acting lieutenant, wiped a streaming face and read from a printed form, occasionally asking questions.

"Now I want you to take a question on some of that stuff I read. Does any one know who the chief justice is?" he asked.

Several hands were raised, and "Hughes" was answered.

TWO FOOD TICKET RACKETEERS SENT TO PRISON IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Two food ticket "racketeers," trafficking in human misery, went to prison today for selling food tickets at a dime apiece.

Three special sessions justices found Martin Michalski, 54, and Edward J. Feran, 34, guilty of selling the tickets to a department of public welfare investigator.

The pair's "racket" was to buy the tickets from Bowery derelicts whose craving for liquor made them easy prey for the "ticket brokers."

CRUSHED BY HEAVY PUMP.

Geno De Servi, 28 years old, 1918 Maple avenue, Evanston, former city dog catcher, was critically injured yesterday when a 1,000 pound water pump slid off the truck he was unloading at McCormick boulevard and West Railroad avenue in the suburb. He was taken to St. Francis hospital.

TROOPS POISED FOR TWO WEEK MIMIC WARFARE

Mobilization of 36,000 Men Is Completed.

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—More than 36,000 troops were camped in this 100 square mile "north country" area tonight ready to commence tomorrow the series of mimic wars which will "rage" across the sandy loam of Jefferson county for the next two weeks.

The first phase of the most ambitious peace time field maneuvers the army ever has planned—the mobilization and concentration here of National Guard and regular army units and their equipment from a dozen states—was successfully completed before dark, when the last of a large number of motor convoys arrived at the 43d division bivouac near Philadelphia, N. Y., after a 770 mile trek from Maine.

Mobilization Is Completed.

The convoy of about eighty vehicles transported a detachment of the 152d Field artillery, Maine National Guard, from Caribou, Presque Isle, and other towns near the Canadian border. The trucks towed twelve "seventy-fives" which will fire blank shells against the "enemy" later in the week.

Arrival of the Maine detachments and of troops from Rhode Island completed the mobilization of the 43d division and by nightfall these troops from New England, as well as the soldiers of the other four divisions here, had finished setting up camp and were ready for "war."

The 26th "Yankee" division from Massachusetts also welcomed new arrivals today as the 101st and 102d Field artillery regiments of the 51st brigade, and other Massachusetts troops from Boston, arrived by motor convoy and by rail.

2,500 Join Troops.

Approximately 2,500 men in all joined the other troops here during the day. The four National Guard divisions all spent the day setting up camp, policing their quarters and "shaking down" for the start of intensive training tomorrow.

Staf officers began their reconaissance of the area over which the "battles" are to be fought, and commanding generals studied plans and prepared orders.

The 44th New Jersey, with Maj. Gen. John J. Toffey commanding, and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, as his intelligence officer, was busy policing their bivouac area and preparing for the visit Thursday of Gov. Harold Hoffman of New Jersey, first of a long list of distinguished guests scheduled to visit Pine Camp within the next ten days.

COURT TO PERMIT PRIVATE MENTAL TESTS OF ZENGE

Acting Chief Justice Donald S. McKinlay of the Criminal court signed an order yesterday permitting an examination of Mandeville W. Zenge by a private alienist. The order was granted on the petition of attorneys for Zenge, farmer-carpenter of Canton, Mo. Zenge is under indictment for the mutilation murder of Prof. Walter J. Bauer, who had married Zenge's fiancé, then Miss Louise Schaffer.

The defense was uncertain as to when the examination would be carried out because a condition in the court's order was that Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the Cook county behavior clinic, be present during the tests. This provision was included by Judge McKinlay at the request of the state over objection of Attorneys Joseph E. Green and Joseph R. Roach, representing Zenge.

The defense indicated that an amended petition would be filed within a few days requesting the court to exclude Dr. Hoffman during the tests. Roach and Green said that the presence of Dr. Hoffman would defeat the purposes of the examination, as there has been no assertion an insanity defense will be used for Zenge. The defense plans to have Zenge examined by Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, alienist in the Loeb-Leopold murder case.

TRIAL IN DRAKE ESTATE SWINDLE SET FOR NOV. 18

The trial of 43 persons on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the ancient Sir Francis Drake estate swindle was set for Nov. 18 by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday after 28 of the defendants, including four women, were arraigned before him and entered pleas of not guilty. The other 15 defendants already have pleaded not guilty at preliminary hearings.

In the group arraigned yesterday was Oscar M. Hartzell, 59 years old, former Iowa farmer and head of the alleged conspiracy, who was brought to Chicago from Leavenworth penitentiary, where he was serving a 10 year sentence for previous Drake estate frauds. Hartzell's head was wrapped in bandgages—he explained he was suffering from carbuncles—but he was cheerful, emphatically announcing his innocence when ar-

MATTHEW J. MURPHY SEEKING HIGH POST IN LEGION ELECTION

MATTHEW J. MURPHY.

Four Cook county members of the American Legion have announced their candidacy for the post of senior vice commander, department of Illinois. The election will be held during the 17th annual convention of the Illinois Legion, which begins next Saturday at Quincy.

Among the four leading candidates is Matthew J. Murphy, commander of the Cook county council and a member of the Chicago Police post, No. 207. Mr. Murphy is widely known in Illinois Legion circles and has been commander of the Police post, member of the Cook county executive committee, First district commander, and a delegate to a national Legion convention, as well as a member of national committees. In 1929 he received a gold medal for obtaining the greatest number of new members for the Legion in Illinois.

Others in the race are Robert E. Klnnare, past commander of the La Grange post; Joseph Novotny, member of the North Shore post and past commander of the Cook county council, and Edward F. McGinnis of Brophy post, also a past county commander. By common consent the senior vice commander race is limited to Cook county in the odd numbered years.

Eleven hundred delegates will vote in the election of officers.

MACHINIST ELECTROCUTED.

Otto Cameione, 42 years old, 5006 South Keeler avenue, a machinist, was electrocuted yesterday by a short circuit in an electric drill at the plant of the Millergum company, 4427 Kinzie street, manufacturers of synthetic gum.

NAVAL MORALE IS ON DECLINE, SIMS DECLARES

Assails Promotion Plan Now in Force.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Charges that naval morale was "continuously declining," and that high ranking officers in the fleet and navy department have been "notoriously inefficient" were made today by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, in a current magazine.

The condition, he asserted, resulted from the present system of promotion under which "injustice" was "inevitable."

Declaring "a fleet that is not ready for war is of no use, and one that is under a commander known to the whole service as incompetent is a positive danger," the wartime commander asserted, "it is enough to make one's hair stand on end to contemplate the results of an unexpected outbreak of war at a time when the fleet and the navy department happened to be in the hands of officers who lacked the essential confidence of the service."

Promotion Held Remedy.

The remedy, he suggested, lay in placing the issue of promotions before competent authorities for study, criticism, and constructive proposals, with, if a revision was indicated, congressional action to follow.

Under the system today, Sims declared, while the service "believes the selection boards do the best they can under present conditions," it "likewise believes, however, that they (the boards) do not have sufficient information of a just estimate of those officers whom they do not know, even by reputation."

Claiming that there was a lack of confidence in the manner men reached high commands in the service, Sims charged that "at present navy officers have not the reasonable security of position necessary to efficiency; the naval career has ceased to be a life profession and become only a temporary job."

Students Less Desirable.

One consequence, he warned, might be that "less desirable boys will apply for admission to the naval academy."

"If," he recommended, "the President of the United States or the secretary of the navy should initiate the practice of calling upon all the active admirals of the navy to indicate the officers whom they would like to see in chief command in time of war, and should assign these officers to train our fleet in time of peace, the navy would be much better prepared for any emergency. And the feeling of confidence in the leaders thus chosen would do more for the morale of the service than any other measure possible."

FERRIS IS IN PRISON AT MARQUETTE, MICH., FOR REST OF HIS LIFE

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 19.—(AP)—William Lee Ferris, 26, leader in the holdup murder of Howard Carter Dickinson, became No. 6457 in Marquette prison today as he began serving a life term for the slaying.

Brought from Detroit, where the New York attorney was slain June 26 in a robbery which netted Ferris and his three women accomplices $134, Ferris was placed at once in quarantine.

Florence and Loretta Jackson and Jean Miller, former burlesque dancers, who induced Dickinson to accompany them on the fatal ride with Ferris, are serving life terms in the Detroit house of correction for the murder.

AHEPA PARLEY OPENS; PATRIOTIC WORK REVIEWED

Greek-Americans Urged to Be Good Citizens.

Accomplishments in Americanization by the Order of Ahepa, 13 year old Greek fraternal organization, were reviewed by speakers yesterday at the order's twelfth national convention at the Hotel Sherman. More than 4,500 registrations were reported, with 234 out of 317 chapters in the United States and Canada represented.

Alexander Papanastiou, former premier of Greece, was yesterday's principal speaker. He urged all Greeks living in America to become good and loyal citizens of America.

Achilles Catsonis, a Washington, D. C., attorney, and supreme president of the order, reported that the social and educational activities of the order have cemented the pride of the Greek in his heritage with the desire to be worthy of American traditions.

Must Be U. S. Citizens.

No one is eligible to the benefits of the order without American citizenship, Catsonis said. The organization conducts citizenship classes, gives twenty to thirty scholarships a year for American universities, sponsors good will pilgrimages to Greece, and carries out a broad educational program, he said.

With this convention, which will last through Saturday, the order began a nation-wide program of athletics for Greek-American youth.

The convention yesterday adopted a resolution calling for legislation to deport any alien who remains in this country five years without taking out citizenship papers. The resolution was proposed by Peter Vondouris of San Francisco, and a bill in accordance with its proposal will be put before congress.

Archbishop Opens Parley.

Archbishop Athenagoras, primate of the Greek Orthodox church in North and South America delivered the invocation of the convention. Three sessions will be held today and the ladies' auxiliary will hold a bridge luncheon at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The "Ahepa" designation of the order is derived from the initials of its full length name, the American-Hellenic Educational Progressive association.

At its last convention in Chicago 10 years ago the order had 50 chapters with 6,000 members. Its membership now is 50,000.

Mr. W. Holmes Onderdonk,
Manager, Tribune Tower,
Chicago, Illinois

My dear Mr. Onderdonk:

We cannot refrain from writing you this letter any longer.

These last few weeks have been hot, humid and sultry outside and also in every office in the city into which the writer has had the temerity to venture.

However, we in 2307 have never enjoyed such perfect working conditions. Our comfort comes from the air- conditioned installation which you put into the Tribune Tower last summer. We want you to know how very much we appreciate it.

To the many inquirers wanting to know how we like our offices in the Tribune Tower, we have always replied that they are the finest offices in the City of Chicago and you are the best landlord we know.

Very truly yours,
MOSINEE PAPER MILLS CO.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

A LAST WORD ON THE GUFFEY BILL.

The Guffey coal bill has been retained on Mr. Roosevelt's list of "must" measures. The bill has been described correctly as setting up a little NRA. Essentially it is a scheme to trustify the coal business. Prices are to be fixed artificially. The creation of a labor monopoly is encouraged. Markets are to be allocated. The provisions are to be enforced by savage penalties.

With the Schechter decision as a guide, there are few lawyers who think the Guffey bill constitutional. Mr. Roosevelt himself has grave doubts. He advised congressmen to vote for it whether they thought it valid or not. Had he believed the bill constitutional he would have said so and said why.

The bill is the product of a three way deal. In this it closely resembles the National Industry Recovery act. Mine owners are to be permitted to combine to raise prices. Through the labor provisions of the bill the leaders of the United Mine Workers expect to obtain control of all mine labor. In return for these favors Mr. Roosevelt expects political support from both mine owners and mine labor. The cost—and it will come high—is to be paid by the public in higher prices for coal. A substantial number of mine operators and mine workers are opposed to the measure, but their views have been largely ignored.

All three parties to the deal figure that even if the court throws the law out they will have obtained a lasting advantage. They think that the severe penalties will give a year or two of rigid enforcement. If the operators once get their cartel well organized it will not easily be broken, or so they think. The labor leaders believe that if once they get all the mines on a closed shop basis they can keep them there and no rival union can break their monopoly. The President knows that two years elapsed before the Supreme court ruled on NRA; election day is less than 15 months away.

The deal is a conscienceless one in that the buyers of coal, who together constitute the party of largest interest, are victimized. In addition to being conscienceless, the deal is stupid on at least three counts.

1. If the NRA experience is worth anything as a guide the probability is that the scheme will break down through secret rebates, private understandings with labor, and all the other methods of evasion which marked the progress of NRA. A few Fred Perkinses of the coal business will be fined and jailed, but the bootlegging will go on. Cheaters will profit; honest men will be penalized until they, too, cheat; the industry will be disorganized.

2. In so far as the scheme will work at all, it will result in higher prices for coal and therefore lessened consumption. That will be bad for mine operators and worse for mine labor. It will aggravate the chief cause for depression in the coal industry, which is the narrowing market for coal. The customers lost will be lost for good.

3. The general recovery will be delayed. Evidence for this assertion is found in many places, but nowhere more clearly than in the stock market tables. In the two months which followed the Supreme court's decision in the Schechter case the stock market rose about as much as it had in the previous two years. Since then the market has continued to rise. In face of that record, supported as it is by reports of general business improvement, it can be stated with certainty that the regimentation of industry under government auspices is not essential to recovery. Business men go much farther than that. They believe that the unanimous decision of the court, freeing enterprise from one set of restraints and promising to free it from others, is largely responsible for the summer's gains.

Common sense supports this position. In the two years from June, 1933 [when regimentation was instituted], until the end of May, 1935 [when it was halted], recovery was world-wide. The United States made some progress in this period, but it was a conspicuous laggard in the procession. Since the decision the United States has kept pace with the world and probably has moved toward the head of the procession. Certainly in the absence of any evidence to the contrary business men are justified in thinking [a] that the Supreme court has been a more useful agent of recovery than the President; and [b] that regimentation of the NRA-Guffey type is a serious detriment to recovery.

The President and the Democratic majority in congress are familiar with the objections to the bill, but are deliberately sacrificing the welfare of the country and of the coal industry to put over an indefensible political deal. All parties to the scheme will live to regret it.

HOW BIG A WAR?

Mussolini is apparently determined to blow the roof off. Laval and Eden have offered him a virtual mandate over Ethiopia, but without military conquest that will not do. The French and British were prepared to give away the Ethiopian shirt, really a gross betrayal of the nation they are supposed to be protecting, to keep Italy from making war, but war is desired by Mussolini as a good in itself. That's his story. He has been telling it for months and he sticks to it. Britain and France might not have been able to give what they offered. Ethiopia might have asked to be delivered from its friends at any price.

All depends upon how much of a war Mussolini gets. Some military observers are certain that he will get a big one and no European government is at all sure that it can be confined to the Ethiopian corner of Africa. It seems that the Italian has gone too far to retreat, even with the spoils of a peaceable settlement in his possession. We can all remember the fatal moment in 1914 when it was announced that mobilization had gone too far and could not be controled. The machine had been started and it couldn't be stopped. Mussolini takes the same position. His mobilization has committed him.

If the Ethiopians should succeed in stopping him, if they should succeed in holding him up, if his enormous expenditures should fail of material progress, the consequences to him will be incalculable and they may involve Europe. That a signal defeat would bring his overthrow is wholly probable and that it would invite an attack by Italy's angered neighbors is equally so.

Half of Europe is war crazy. The injuries caused by the peace have lost none of their sting and in most of continental Europe there is daily incitement to anger and resentment. Lost territories and lost peoples and lost causes are used to whip nationalistic sentiments to fever heat and keep revenge as a predominating influence on the continent. The neighboring countries injured by Italy would like nothing better than to seek satisfaction by attacking. Mussolini's imperialistic game is new only in that it is very crude. The Japanese made themselves notable for lack of finesse in dealing with China, but they were marvels of delicacy in approach as compared with the new Cæsar in Rome.

DROPPING MR. HORNER?

From what is coming to the surface in the Democratic state organization it appears that the men at the controls do not think Gov. Horner will be their man for the next nomination. Whether this is personal feeling or political judgment, it seems that Mr. Horner's renomination with the consent of the bosses, is doubtful. The bosses think he has made himself unpopular.

If he has done so it is not entirely his own fault. In happier circumstances he might not have done so. He ranks high in ability and his career as probate judge was full of honor. Illinois had everything to gain in the change which put him in charge at Springfield and sent his Republican predecessor out.

Gov. Horner's principal troubles were not in Springfield but in Washington. Washington reduced him from the governorship to the subordination of a federal agent. Many Democratic governors were given the alternative of executing New Deal orders or of losing New Deal subsidies. Mr. Horner did not make the decision Talmadge did in Georgia, to take his own course and the consequences with it. With the majority of governors he took orders instead.

Under direction he demanded the state NRA act, a pathetic concession considering what the Supreme court presently did to the Blue Eagle. Of still more serious consequence to him was the sales tax increase. Here he was the victim of Mr. Hopkins, the hard boiled relief administrator, who cut Illinois from the dole until the legislature was forced to pass the most unpopular tax increase ever known in the state. Nearly every time a purchase is made the purchaser says or thinks an unkind thing of the administration held responsible.

In the ordinary administration of state affairs Gov. Horner's pledges of economy have been deflated by the appropriations. Now the Democrats talk of dropping him. It was a Democratic majority in the legislature which passed the tyranny law. It was a Democratic majority which passed the sales tax boost. It was a Democratic majority which passed the swollen appropriation bills, and it was the Democrats who shared the pork.

The Democrats may repudiate Gov. Horner. They repudiate themselves with him and also the New Deal. The governor's unpopularity, if he is unpopular, is the New Deal, nothing less.

Editorial of the Day

OUR BIRTHRIGHT FOR A MESS OF POTTAGE.
[Rockford Register-Republic.]

We hear much talk of "sovereignty" these days—sovereignty and sovereign rights. What is sovereignty? It is the supreme power. In government it is the final, the highest authority for all laws and rules of conduct.

With Americans sovereignty is a birthright. It is the most valuable thing which belongs to us; our greatest and dearest treasure—the right of us, the people, to rule ourselves.

Sovereignty is not a birthright of all other people of the world. In England, for instance, sovereignty always has reposed in the king or queen. In other nations the sovereign power reposes in a small group or class which rules the other classes. A king obtained his sovereignty because he was strong enough to take it way back in primitive days and he kept it only because he was powerful enough to hold it—by right of might.

Never since the beginning of time has there been a nation such as ours. We Americans have stood out among the nations of the earth and among the nations of all times as proof of the contention that man is capable of self-rule. We have been an example which has been cited as verification of the theory that individual liberty is a practical thing.

Of late doubts seem to be rising as to that proof. There seems to be a question as to whether we still stand out as a shining example—whether we are yet capable of self-government. There is a tendency toward permitting sovereignty to slip away from us and, once we relax our hold upon it, we are doomed—liberty will be gone.

Magnifying the importance of superficial things, we are disregarding fundamentals. We have selfishly become blinded to the beauty of the forest by the sight of the trees near at hand. By radical grants of our sovereign powers to special governing groups, by being lulled into a false security by glowing promise of future benefits and gains, we are in danger of being tricked out of our priceless treasure by confidence men who seek to sell us gold bricks.

We are, in short, on the verge of doing a very silly thing—of selling our birthright for a mess of pottage.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THEY STOOD BEFORE HIM.

They stood before Him,
And before Him was the book,
That book of all record,
And Will said,
"I ain't asking', Judge, only Wiley here is all right. You know . . ."

And He above looked down and said,
"The world has sent to us two of Its greatest heroes, and you, Will, are
A man who knew no creed except that
Of love, of hope, and the greatest of
All, charity. Your greatness was only
Exceeded by your unselfish goodness
And by the joy you brought to people
In every walk of life. Your life record

And then He above turned to Post,
"And you, Wiley, have proved yourself
A man. Your deeds are well recorded.
It is by men like you that nations advance."

And Will smiled that smile that made thousands
Happy and said,
"Thanks, Judge; I always knew you would be

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS.

Wake-Line: The dissertations of one Harvey T. Woodruff to "Friend Arch" on the subject of "legitimate expense" items always are of informative interest and provoke many a chuckle. The accompanying excerpt along that line is taken from a letter received from one of the technical men in response to queries concerning certain items appearing on his expense account:

"As about suit pressing. I have one suit with me. A two pair of pants one. And as hot as it has been and have to work up here I tell the world that you have to have them pressed. But since this all happen, I now have a suit with only one pair of pants. I had one pair torn off me and on one of my reports you will find, 'Unionall, $2.00.' Because I can't work in the only pair of pants that I have. I will even have to go to bed now when I have them pressed." E. V. L.

COURTING BY ANY OTHER NAME.

HTW: Did you ever stop to consider how many terms have been applied to the ancient art of courting? There was bundling and sparking, later spooning and petting, and now necking. In a small Wisconsin town they call it smooshing. A Scottish friend tells me their words are winching and dolling. Perhaps others can add to the list.

Lass o' Laughter.

PROS AND CONS

Harvey: I've heard a lot about pro and con as bein' opposites, but the best example I've run across yet is pro-gress and con-gress.

The Barnyard Philosopher.

LIVING GINGERLY.

I listen patiently the while,
But mum's the word for me,
Adhering to old fashioned style
And living gingerly.
Keeping the middle of the road,
Hurting no man's feelings,
Timid soul in my abode
Askance to others' dealings.
Neutral my philosophy,
Neither out nor in,
Refrain from being gossipy
For fear that I may sin.
I answer no man, hoping then
To keep aloof from fight.
Result! I'm but a has-been
And stripped of every right.

Clarence Milligan.

A FAN DANCER, IN FULL STREET REGALIA except shoes, plunged into the Chicago river to rescue a man attempting suicide. Hampered by her unaccustomed clothes, she became exhausted and was herself rescued. It just goes to show you can't put clothes on a fan dancer and expect results.

"IT WON'T BE LONG."

Harvey: One of your Helpers wondered how we barbers could size up our customer to tell him "It won't be long" when several are waiting. That's easy. When a feller like you comes in we know he wants one haircut without conversation. We just look 'em over and separate the boys goin' to call on Sweetie, who want the works, from the squirrels with the bristles of wire. We can always call 'em. Kiner the Barber.

"CHILDREN'S HOUR" WILL BE PRESENTED in this column tomorrow. All contributions will be from writers 18 years or younger. We were surprised at the reception of our suggestion. Our desk is simply inundated with verse and prose, causing fear that many must be eliminated for lack of space. We're trying to think up some solution.

LOOSE ENDS.

At least one thing may be said for hot weather; if it doesn't do anything else it makes conversation.

Have you ever noticed that the bitterest condemnation for a fallen woman usually comes from the women who never had a chance to fall?

If men could just get it through their heads once and for all that cigaret ashes are a whole lot easier to clean up right off the middle of the floor than when hidden in the wife's cactus plant American home life would be a whole lot happier.

LEPROSY.

THE fact that there are relatively few localities in which leprosy is found in the United States—certain small areas in Louisiana, Minnesota, and South Carolina—does not exclude the possibility of the existence of sporadic cases that may occur along our seacoast due to immigration from countries where the disease is more common. Reports that are considered reliable indicate that leprosy is increasing somewhat in Argentina. At the present time leprosy is a real problem in other parts of South America and in the orient.

Nevertheless, an increase in our country is improbable unless quarantine regulations become notably lax. Bad hygienic conditions and unfavorable surroundings undoubtedly have much to do with the spread of the condition. Physicians and nurses who work in leper colonies are seldom attacked, although a few dramatic cases are on record of scientists who have lost their lives in this manner.

There is probably no disease which enjoys such an unpleasant history. It dates back as far as 3000 B. C., at which time it was prevalent in Egypt. It was well known to the early Hebrew writers, although the description in Leviticus no doubt included numerous other skin diseases. The writers of the Old Testament took no chances. Anything that resembled leprosy was so classed and, as a consequence, the disease acquired an unsavory reputation which was not entirely justified. It has been estimated that there were 20,000 leper colonies in Europe following the crusades, and certainly the disease was much more prevalent during the middle ages than at present. Perhaps this segregation or quarantine had much to do with the decline of the malady.

The causative organism resembles in many ways the tubercle bacillus, and it is possible that the bacillus enters the body through abrasions of the skin or the mucous membrane. Insects, particularly the bedbug and the mosquito, have been under suspicion as possible agents in the spread of the infection.

Every now and then an individual case of leprosy will be found by some alert health officer and identified by the typical lesions or by finding the bacillus of leprosy in the skin nodules, in discharges from ulcers, or in the mucous lining of the nose and throat.

The disease may assume two forms. The one called "nodular" is characterized by the formation of lumps in the skin, usually in groups, which develop most commonly on the feet, the face, and the backs of the hands. As the disease progresses thickened areas of skin will appear on the forehead, in the region of the eyebrows, and on the ears, cheeks, nose, and about the mouth. The so-called "anesthetic" form is recognized by large, flat patches that may be distributed evenly on both sides of the body. These patches exhibit a smooth surface and in appearance they often simulate other skin diseases. The areas are at first extremely sensitive, but as the disease progresses all sensation is lost because of destruction of the skin nerves. Injuries and burns may then occur without the patient's knowledge.

The outlook in advanced cases is not hopeful. However, under proper treatment lepers may live a normal span of life. Chaulmoogra oil and its derivatives have been used extensively and seem to be the best therapeutic agents known at this time.

Individuals afflicted with leprosy should be isolated because—as with tuberculosis—coughing, sneezing, and spitting are important factors in disseminating the disease. Patients with oozing ulcers are particularly infectious. Every precaution that is exercised in the care of the tuberculous patient should be redoubled in leprosy.

Some day a skin test for leprosy similar to the tuberculin test for tuberculosis will probably be developed.

LEARNS DIETING TRICK.

J. M. writes: Your article on the normally balanced ration and diets in general was a "wow"! I know from experience, because my doctor ordered 15 pounds off, and saw to it that I took 'em off.

It was a drastic diet. I reported each week for a check-up, and during the 15 weeks he made several urinalyses, as well as watching my eyes and feeling my throat. My friends, most of whom had tried reducing by the "neighbors' diets," thought I was being a perfect meal ticket for my doctor, but in the end the excess was off perfectly, with no lumps, bumps, or bulges; and, with the exception of taking on and off a pound or two now and then, I have had the prescribed weight of 120 pounds that he ordered as top for me.

In maintaining this there are few potatoes and no spaghetti or macaroni. When potatoes are eaten there is no bread at that meal. If I find that the extra weight has crept up, I eliminate at once the starches and sugars, and in a week the weight is off. I might add that I think a good deal of disgust in amateur dieting comes because we do not realize that there is no apparent weight lost in the first two or three weeks, unless one is flabby.

Because I did have intelligent direction my results have been most highly satisfactory and have remained so. The small loss each week did not leave wrinkles, as the flesh returned to normal. I took off but two ounces a day, or about 16 ounces for the week. There was no reason for cheating, and I soon knew that my doctor would detect it instantly. The day I complained about being tired he raised his hand and ordered me to eat normally again.

REPLY.

You certainly have learned the dieting trick. Your perseverance won. I wish every one faced with the same problem had a physician as wise and intelligent as yours.

VIOLATOR IS BEING SUED.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—I wish to thank you for the interest you have taken in the use of property in the 6400 block of South St. Louis avenue for commercial purposes, but although the department of buildings has notified the offenders to discontinue business they have not done so. The parkway between the sidewalk and street is also being used by them. It is hard to understand why a violation of the zoning ordinance is not enforced as any other violation. H. K.

The occupant of the premises has been notified to discontinue a commercial use in an apartment zone, and having failed to comply with our notices, suit has been instituted to compel compliance.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Deputy, Acting for the Mayor, Department of Buildings.

LIENS.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If an apartment building is incorporated [2] can judgments and [3] liens be charged against the individual who was the owner before the incorporation? 4. How does it affect the first mortgage holder? S. S.

1. A building cannot be incorporated. We assume that you mean that it becomes one of the assets of a corporation. 2. Depends on whether the judgments were entered against the individual and upon other facts not before us. 3. The word lien means a right against property. 4. If the mortgage was originally a valid lien against the real estate, then presumably it has continued to be a lien. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LANDLORD UNDER NO OBLIGATION.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We moved into an apartment and upon getting settled discovered the place overrun with bedbugs and roaches. The landlord claims he had the exterminators there before we moved in. We want to move. Is there any way to get our rent back, or part of it, if we move out before the month is up? We have no lease. T. B.

In general, a landlord is under no obligation with respect to vermin unless he has expressly made some agreement on the point.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SEWERS FOR NORTHWEST SIDE.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—Is it possible to obtain definite information pertaining to the installation of sewers in that part of Chicago lying north of Belmont avenue and west of Harlem? C. L.

A group of sewer improvements to be located in this section of Chicago amounting to approximately 26 miles in length has been set up in the works inventory as one of the first to be constructed under the federal works program. Because of the necessity of setting forth a plan of operations which will come within the federal requirements for the use of relief labor, considerably more time than was anticipated has been taken in working out satisfactory plans of operation. It is very probable, however, that this group of projects will be the first one to receive an approved allotment, and it will probably be the first one on which construction will be started. It is impossible at this time, however, to give an exact date.

A. J. SCHAFMAYER,
Engineer, Board of Local Improvements.

WIFE MAY MAKE WILL.

Batavia, Ill., Aug. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have made a will giving all my real estate to my wife unconditionally. She would wish on her death to divide it among our children. Can she properly make a will while I am living to that effect? J. N.

Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Prof. E. M. East of Harvard university in his book, "Heredity and Human Affairs," shows that when cousins are healthy and have had ancestors of good mental and physical health there is no danger whatever of their producing inferior offspring in case they should marry. Inbreeding never creates defects—it can only keep them in the family. In the same way genius can be retained in the family. There were several cousin marriages in the Bach family, and in five generations there were twenty-eight distinguished musicians.

MORE LAWYERS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Recently the bar examination results were announced. Three hundred and sixty-five applicants were successful. Imagine, flooding the legal profession at this time when the bar is already overcrowded and completely saturated! Just what are these bar examiners thinking about? The best law schools are unable to place their honor men. A profession that once was great is being ruined by admitting men who are forced to unethical practices due to their economic condition. Come on, Mr. Bar Examiners, wake up!

DISGUSTED PRACTITIONER.

PREJUDICE IS NOT PERSECUTION.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—The writer in your column signed "America Perfect" seems to be a Nazi himself because he is giving the same silly arguments that the German government gives in answer to the protests from this country and others to the persecution of Jews, namely, that in this country the Negro is discriminated against. The Nazi government, as well as he, does not seem to, or want to, understand that if there is any discriminating against persons of the colored race in the United States it is not by our own government but only by private individuals. In this country the constitution protects everybody, and if there are ever any laws passed that go against the constitution our Supreme court nullifies such acts, whereas in Germany the Jew has no redress in the courts. They are just trying to starve out these poor people and, as Lloyd George said some time ago, "This is the most cowardly act possible," and one of these days the awakening of the German people will be terrible. CHRISTIAN HANSEN.

THE FAMILY WAY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—In the dispatch printed today from your Paris office about the current Mdivani mess this statement is made regarding the former Barbara Hutton: "In passing she denied rumors that she is expecting an interesting event. . . ." If this means that she denied she is pregnant or that she is expecting a baby, why not say so? Why evade it by an old maidish euphemism? Being pregnant, while less usual than formerly, has not yet become a shameful state for a married woman. SPADE.

A WESTERNER FOR PRESIDENT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Why not choose a President from west of the Mississippi? The men east of it may have had more time and opportunity to become politicians, but the mind of the western man is very alert and active in business. The people of the west are not in favor of the presidency becoming hereditary in the Roosevelt family.

SOLDIER'S DAUGHTER.

TOO MUCH SHRUBBERY.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Whoever is responsible for the unlimited planting and the uncontroled growth and spread of shrubbery in our Chicago parks should be sentenced to spend every hot day in Jackson park on one of the few benches there, completely hedged in on three sides with shrubbery so dense that no breeze can penetrate, and the seat facing, as they all do, the only opening—the boulevard where thousands of speeding autos are belching forth gas fumes. What a restful change for a city dweller!

That old beauty spot on which once stood the La Rabida convent is a disgrace. It is almost entirely given over to shrubs and weeds, the latter not even cut. This place, which used to afford one of the finest views in the state, now has such a growth of dust laden shrubbery that one can't even see the yacht club and harbor below. There isn't a decent path leading to it, and the path that once led along the harbor is either overgrown with shrubbery or given over to parked cars.

All other parks here are fast approaching this same sad state. Each year the shrub areas spread and the wide open spaces with their lovely tree shaded benches overlooking vistas of beauty become a thing of memory.

There is enough excess shrubbery in our parks and along our boulevards to supply the entire state. Why not set some of the unemployed to work digging out shrubbery and planting grass, and let us look into our parks and across our lagoons again? Then place plenty of benches where one can enjoy restful views and not all along the hot, gas filled drives. INVALID.

SACRED.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—I have no political ties and gain nothing by my loyalty but the grim satisfaction of telling your correspondent, N. S. Mayo, I think he is either terribly disrespectful or else terribly ignorant.

Our President, a man of spunk, had courage enough to run for the presidency in the face of depression and now dumb clucks call him only Mr. Roosevelt, a title you might give a man on Madison street.

Regardless of what he has done, which I can't convince myself is much worse than anything you or I might have done under the circumstances, he was elected by the people as the man to lead them and is therefore our President.

Kindly, N. S. Mayo and Voice of the People, do not break down what teachers have spent years in teaching: respect and love for your nation and every one and everything that stands for it; therefore, President Roosevelt as much as President Lincoln. MRS. R. RUHFF.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

The College Fashion Bureau HAS ALL THE ANSWERS

We asked the questions . . . 40 college women gave us the answers. Then we held a session of our own. We boned up on college customs . . . pored over questionnaires until we knew them by heart. Today we bring you the formula for college success. Checked and double checked. 40 college women can't be wrong!

"Loads of sweaters and skirts" — Betty Ann Ervin - Mount Holyoke

Cashmere, beloved of the college girl, in a classic slipover and straight skirt. Brown, autumn rust, natural, heather green, alpine blue. 12 to 20. $13.95. With them the paradoxical pearls, anklets, and white oxfords that are "worn all year 'round"!

"Cardigan worn backwards" . . . a favorite campus contradiction, was mentioned by 15 out of 40. Brown, rust, blue. 34 to 40. $3.95 up. Plaid wool skirts, too! Ours are brown, heather, blue, or green. 25 to 30. $6.95. A triangular scarf tops this outfit . . . $1 up.

Let "Matched Accessories" Help

Field's "Matched Accessories" has a new service to offer. From its collegiate section on the Sixth Floor, a young woman will accompany you to any part of the store (except furniture) on a "matching-up" expedition. From her you may buy anything you see. Bags, shoes, luggage, draperies, bedspreads . . . everything!

"3-piece tweed suit" — Helen Wigglesworth - Wellesley

Here's how to make the most of your week-ends! A brown tailored suit with an almost invisible plaid . . . and over that a topcoat to match. 12 to 18. $29.75. "Matched Accessories" supplies: Stetson hat, $6.75; pigskin gloves, $4.95.

"for 'coke dates'" — Mary A. McIntyre - Illinois

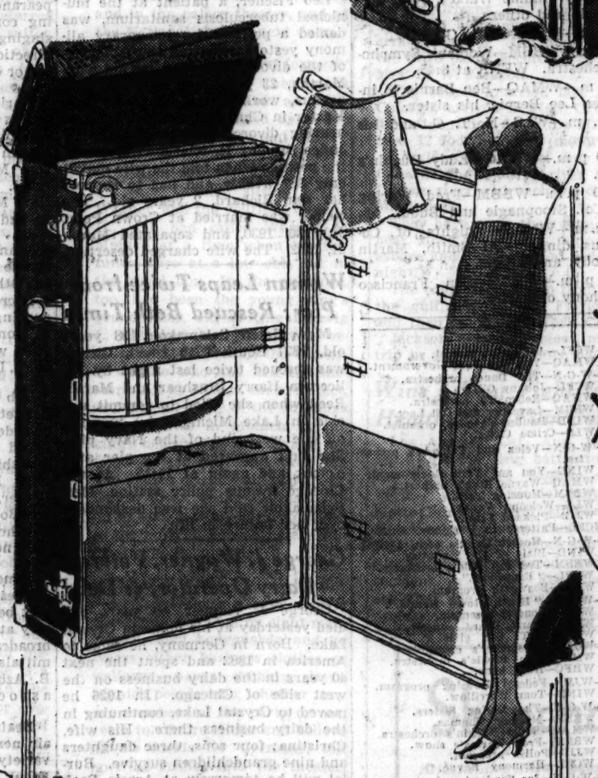
Simple little wool dresses are a necessity at co-educational schools. This one is made of soft ostrich cloth with a velveteen scarf. Wine, green, brown, rust, French purple. Sizes are from 12 to 20. $19.75.

"camel's hair coat" — Annette Ivey - Wisconsin

Strook's camel's hair in the swagger type so universally in demand for all 'round campus wear. But, look! This coat comes in a rich wine red or blue, as well as natural! Sizes are from 12 to 20. $45

"dressy outfit for tea" — Rita Pool - Northwestern

A well-cut black silk dress is indispensable. Or you may order this one in any color your heart desires. 12 to 20. $35. Accompaniments from "Matched Accessories": Suede bag shown above, $5 (initials $1 extra); pouf hat, $6.75.



"Vassarette $5 girdle" — Winifred Frank - Connecticut

"three evening gowns" — Alice Mueller - Vassar

"One of them velvet!" So Field's produces this sophisticated combination of velvet and metal . . . slashed down the back for more sophistication. Black, caribbean blue, dubonnet red. Sizes are from 12 to 20. $29.75.

"prefer silk pajamas" — Shirley Combs - Chicago

Trim as a shirtwaist . . . the way college girls are asking for them. Diagonal rows of hemstitching make these new ones extra good-looking. In tearose or aqua. 32 to 38, $3.95. Lingerie, Fifth Floor.

"A good wardrobe trunk"

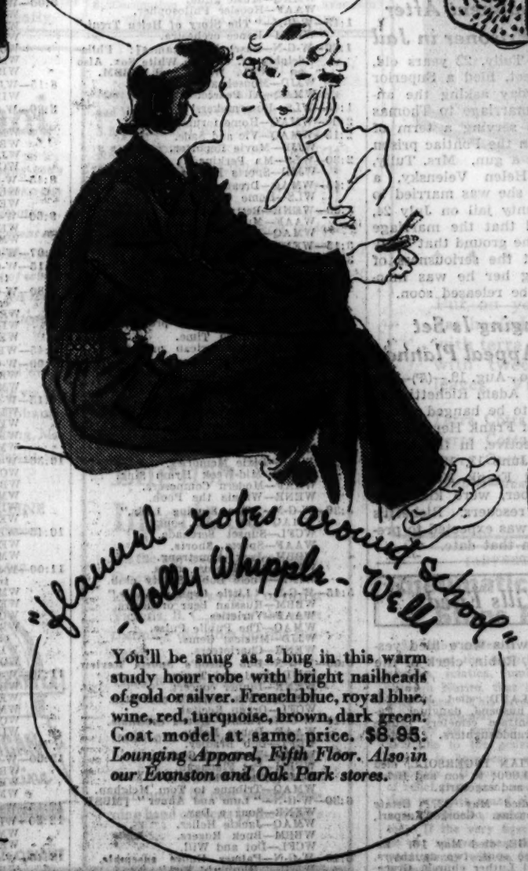
HARTMANN'S COLLEGE SPECIAL

$37.50

You're off to a good start with this version of the country's most popular college trunk. Watch it take a whole year's wardrobe and a whole roomful of gadgets safely and securely to your college room. Hartmann-built, it will give unusual mileage of satisfactory travel and "at school" service. Bright red top for identification. $37.50

THE LUGGAGE CENTER, FIRST FLOOR



"flannel robes around school" — Polly Whipple - Wells

You'll be snug as a bug in this warm study hour robe with bright nailheads of gold or silver. French blue, royal blue, wine, red, turquoise, brown, dark green. Coat model at same price. $8.95. Lounging Apparel, Fifth Floor. Also in our Evanston and Oak Park stores.

"fur coat? yes!" — Eleanor Reid - Smith

GEORGE DAWSON, ATTORNEY HERE 50 YEARS, DIES

Taken at 88 in Michigan Summer Home.

George Ellis Dawson, for more than fifty years a Chicago attorney, died yesterday at his summer home in Ludington, Mich. Mr. Dawson was 88 years old and lived at 552 Elm street, Winnetka.

He was born on June 23, 1847, at Loami, twelve miles southwest of Springfield, in Sangamon county, the son of Charles and Julia Meacham Dawson, early settlers in the state. Soon after graduation from the Springfield High school Mr. Dawson sang in the Lincoln funeral chorus there in 1865.

Five years later he was graduated from the University of Michigan, where he also received his degree of master of arts. As a catcher of the university baseball team Mr. Dawson was elected to the "M" club. Upon leaving the university he played for a season on the Detroit baseball club, receiving $75 a month.

Teacher, Then Student Abroad.

During the next eight years Mr. Dawson was a teacher, serving as principal of grade and high schools in Flint, Mich.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Peoria, and Chicago. He then went abroad to study the humanities, spending two years in Leipzig, Goettingen, Paris, and Rome.

While teaching and while studying in Europe Mr. Dawson studied law. He was admitted to the bar upon his return to Illinois in 1881. The following year he became a member of the law firm of Pedrick and Dawson, with offices in the old First National Bank building at 38 South Dearborn street.

This firm was dissolved in 1904, and a few years later Mr. Dawson took his son, Mitchell, into partnership. The Dawson law firm, which has maintained offices at the same location since its inception, is believed to be the oldest tenant of the First National Bank building.

In Charge of Canal Condemnation.

From 1892 to 1896 Mr. Dawson served as attorney for the newly formed Chicago sanitary district and was in charge of condemnation suits for the projected canal.

He was a leader in civil service and tarif reform movements and was one of the first members of the Chicago Literary club, serving as president. He was a member also of the Chicago and Illinois Bar associations and of the City club, and was a past president of the Chicago Law institute.

In 1885 Mr. Dawson married Miss Eva Manierre, daughter of Edward Manierre, a pioneer Chicagoan who served as alderman and as city treasurer. Mrs. Dawson died in 1929. Surviving are two sons, Mitchell of Winnetka and Manierre of Ludington.

Funeral services for Mr. Dawson will be held tomorrow in the Graceland cemetery chapel.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Two Cynics

CHICAGOAN SINCE 1851, WIDOW OF ARCHITECT, DIES

Rites Tomorrow for Mrs. Zarbell.

Mrs. Pauline Hane Zarbell, 91 years old, a resident of Chicago for more than 80 years, died yesterday in her home at 4132 Ellis avenue. She had lived at that address for 51 years in a home designed by her late husband, Iver C. Zarbell, who was one of the city's early architects.

Hand Shaken by Lincoln.

Mrs. Zarbell was born at Rostock, Germany, and was brought here by her parents in 1851. The family lived in Iowa for a few years and then returned to Chicago. In 1860 Mrs. Zarbell, then Pauline Hane, was one of those who shook the hand of Lincoln when he was nominated for President in Chicago. In 1869 she married Mr. Zarbell.

Their home was burned down in the fire of 1871. Then they lived at what is now the site of the Harris Trust and Savings bank at 115 West Monroe street until 1884, when Mr. Zarbell built the home on Ellis avenue.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

Mr. Zarbell died 10 years ago. The widow is survived by two daughters, Ada Zarbell, a retired teacher of the city schools, and Mrs. Meda Steele, and by four grandchildren. Funeral services for Mrs. Zarbell will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home. The body will be cremated and the ashes placed in a vault at Oak Woods cemetery.

NEW YORK PUBLIC ENEMY LAW GETS COURT APPROVAL

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Constitutionality of New York state's new "public enemy" law, which makes it prima facie evidence of unlawful purpose for persons with criminal records or of evil reputation to associate with each other, was upheld today by the appellate division of the Court of Special Sessions.

In a unanimous decision of three judges upheld the constitutionality of statute under which Salvatore Spitale and Salvatore Arcidiaco are now serving terms of three months each in the workhouse as public enemies.

They were seized in a restaurant and charged with "consorting with each other for an unlawful purpose and with intent to provoke a breach of the peace."

Under the terms of the new law it was assumed that with proof that both men had criminal records their purpose was unlawful and it was up to them to prove otherwise.

Raid Columbia Yacht Club; Seize Porter as Gambler

Police visited yesterday the Columbia Yacht club at the foot of Randolph street and arrested Earl Harris, 25 years old, colored, 4205 South Park way, the club's porter, on a charge of possessing gambling devices. He was booked to appear in the South State street court today after police said they found four slot machines in the place.

Attorney Nathan Rubinkam, who has offices at 77 West Washington street, commodore of the club, denied the machines had any connection with the organization.

Sues for Annulment After Marrying Prisoner in Jail

Mrs. Helen F. Tully, 22 years old, 4115 Monroe street, filed a Superior court bill yesterday asking the annulment of her marriage to Thomas J. Tully, who is serving a term of one year to life in the Pontiac prison for robbery with a gun. Mrs. Tully, formerly Miss Helen Velensky, a singer, said that she was married to Tully in the county jail on July 24, 1934. She asked that the marriage be dissolved on the ground that Tully misled her about the seriousness of his crime, telling her he was innocent and would be released soon.

Richetti Hanging Is Set for Oct. 4; Appeal Planned

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Denied a new trial, Adam Richetti was sentenced today to be hanged Oct. 4 for the murder of Frank Hermanson, Kansas City detective, in the Union station slayings June 17, 1933, when four officers and Frank Nash, convicted bank robber, were killed by Nash's would-be rescuers. Richetti's appeal, however, was expected to prevent execution on that date.

New Wills Filed

The following wills were filed yesterday with M. C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court:

FRANCES KNEELAND, died June 24. Estate $60,000; to husband, daughter, Father Thiels, St. Boniface cemetery, Annie Egger, and four granddaughters. Frances Kneeland, executrix.

WARREN CHRISTIAN INGERSOLL, died July 28. Estate $10,000; to son and Helen Dutton, sister-in-law and executrix.

HENRY WITT, died May 22. Estate $5,000; to eight cousins. George Kaspari, executor.

AUGUSTINE KLUGE, died May 16. Estate $10,000; to two sons, two daughters, niece, and Emmanuel Luther church, Graceland cemetery, and Central cemetery. William Kluge, son, executor.

Maj. Otto H. Jorgensen, World War Veteran, Dies

Maj. Otto H. Jorgensen, world war veteran, died suddenly of heart failure yesterday at his home, 551 Surf street. He was 52 years old. Maj. Jorgensen, who held the rank of first lieutenant at the outbreak of the world war, was commissioned captain, then major during his service in France. He was a member of Chicago chapter of the National Sojourners, a Masonic organization of army officers, and of Aviation post of the American Legion. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue and burial will be private. Surviving are his wife, Cora, and a daughter, Bernice.

Gloria Swanson's Former Husband Crashes a Cafe

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JUAN-LES-PINS, France, Aug. 19.—Michael Farmer, former husband of Gloria Swanson, drove his big touring car into the front door of Hollywood, the only American night club on the Riviera, early today. Farmer was accompanied by Mme. Delbarre, wealthy French woman to whom he is reported engaged, and a man. The accident was ascribed by Farmer to a defect in the steering gear. Despite the crash of glass and wood and the panic among the dancers no one was hurt.

George I. Wilson, 80, Dies of Self-Inflicted Bullet

Vineland, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—George I. Wilson, 80, who refused a presidential nomination, died in a hospital today of a bullet wound. Police Chief J. Hamilton Gebhart said the aged man admitted shooting himself, but gave no reason. Wilson rejected the national party's nomination as its standard bearer in 1932.

Funeral of John Convey Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in St. Sabinas chuch for John Convey, 61 years old, 7924 Bishop street, who died yesterday after a heart attack. He was employed by a carnival wholesale and jobbers concern. His wife, Elizabeth, and a daughter, Lillian, survive.

TODAY'S FEATURES

ON W-G-N.

"The Heatrolatown Herald," family magazine of the air, will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System at 8 o'clock tonight in the first of a new series. The cast of the show will be headed by William Stoess' orchestra and chorus, with Dorothy Frederick, contralto, as soloist. Originating at WLW, Cincinnati, the program will offer a variety of music and dramatic sketches.

WILLIAM STOESS.

An interesting feature is a musical guessing game in which the orchestra plays a well known selection of many years ago and the listeners are asked to name a popular song resembling it.

David Darrah, TRIBUNE foreign correspondent, will be presented in a 15 minute talk over W-G-N at 10:15 tonight, with "Italy" as his subject. Mr. Darrah was recently expelled from Italy by the Italian government.

Other features:

9:45 a. m.—"Back Stage Wife."

10:45 a. m.—"The Cordova Sisters," a harmony trio.

1:15 p. m.—"The Romance of Helen Trent."

1:30 p. m.—Baseball [two games]: Philadelphia vs. Chicago White Sox; also on WCFL, WIND, and WBBM.

7 p. m.—"The Tuesday Promenade," with the W-G-N dance orchestra, directed by Harold Stokes; Carolyn Rich and Lynn Cole, soloists.

9:30 p. m.—Lawrence Salerno, baritone, and the W-G-N Concert orchestra, directed by Henry Weber.

ON OTHER STATIONS.

ARTIFICIAL SEX HORMONE MADE FROM WOOL OIL

Scientist Tells of Experiments.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Production of 20 milligrams of pantothenic acid—a powerful regulator of growth—was announced today before the American Chemical society.

At the same time the society's 90th annual convention was informed that 200 drams of the first synthetic hormone ever "manufactured" also has been produced.

Two Tell Discoveries.

Prof. Rodger J. Williams of Oregon State college, in a report at the society's opening session, revealed the production of the acid. Dr. L. Ruzicka of Zurich, Switzerland, told of making the synthetic hormone from grease of sheep's wool.

Although an amount of the acid weighing less than half a drop of water has been obtained, the Oregon scientist disclosed the acid apparently is a universal constituent of all living cells—plants, animal and bacteria. Minute amounts of the acid, he said, have a remarkable effect in stimulating the growths of various types of plants and single celled animals.

Artificial Male Harmone.

From grease of sheep's wool the Swiss scientist has provided the man of medicine with an artificial male sex hormone with which he may be able to correct sex abnormalities and other physical and mental malcharacteristics, Dr. Ruzicka reported.

Dr. Ruzicka said 200 drams of the first synthetic hormone ever produced were obtained from chloresterol, obtained from the grease of sheep's wool. It has been named "androsterone," and it will be produced in wholesale quantities in Germany and Switzerland.

To the layman a hormone is a "chemical messenger" which travels chiefly in the blood stream and delivers the brain's orders.

Husband Denied Alimony; Wife Earns $17 a Week

Leo Fischer, a patient at the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, was denied a petition for temporary alimony yesterday during the pendency of the divorce suit filed by his wife, Martha, 23 years old, 5944 Diversey avenue, worker in a candy factory. Master in Chancery Samuel Epstein, hearing divorce motions for Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski, denied the petition when told the wife makes only $17 weekly and has to support her son, Richard, 2 years old. The couple was married at Crown Point July 30, 1930, and separated March 21, 1932. The wife charged desertion.

Woman Leaps Twice from Pier; Rescued Both Times

Mrs. Helen Selamakois, 28 years old, 1827 South 57th court, Cicero, was rescued twice last night by Policemen Harry Brashear and Martin Reed when she tried to commit suicide in Lake Michigan by jumping off the west end of the Navy pier. She first appeared at the pier at 9 o'clock and again at 11:15. At the Chicago avenue police station, Mrs. Selamakois said she was despondent over her failure in life.

George J. Wagner, Veteran Dairy Operator, Is Dead

George J. Wagner, 69 years old, died yesterday at his home in Crystal Lake. Born in Germany, he came to America in 1882 and spent the next 40 years in the dairy business on the west side of Chicago. In 1926 he moved to Crystal Lake, continuing in the dairy business there. His wife, Christina; four sons, three daughters and nine grandchildren survive. Burial will be tomorrow at Acacia Park cemetery.

Employe of Surface Lines Since Horse Car Days Dies

Funeral services for August A. Andresen, real estate supervisor for the Chicago Surface Lines, who died Saturday, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in Geneva. Mr. Andresen, who was 67 years old, had been employed by the surface lines for 47 years, starting as a driver of horse cars of the old West Chicago Street Railway company in 1888. His widow and a daughter survive.

Barney Axelrod, 40, Police Operator, Dies in Hospital

Barney Axelrod, 40 years old, 6513 North Sacramento avenue, a police operator at the North Damen avenue station, died in the Alexian Brothers hospital yesterday from acute appendicitis. Axelrod, who was wounded during army service in France, is survived by his wife, Marie. Funeral services will be held Thursday from a chapel at 1359 Devon avenue.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Miss Nell Stuart, young Champaign soprano, who was named the best woman singer in the Chicagoland Music festival on Saturday, made her second radio appearance last night. On Saturday she sang over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from Soldiers' field. Last night she made her first professional radio appearance, singing with the Northerners on W-G-N. Sponsors of the program, the Northern Trust company had contracted for the winner's services several weeks ago before her identity was known.

Miss Stuart last night sang Oley Speaks' "Morning" and the Ave Maria from Verdi's "Otello." She was introduced by Edward Moore, music critic of THE TRIBUNE. In presenting her Mr. Moore said: "We feel that winning first place against so much brilliant talent means something. I am not going to speak about this young artist's voice. I just want you to listen to it."

Miss Stuart's lovely voice is to be heard on a nationally sponsored program next Monday evening when she makes a guest appearance on the Carnation "Contented program" with Morgan L. Eastman's orchestra and the "Lullaby Lady." This program will be aired over WMAQ-NBC at 9 p. m.

Beginning this morning W-G-N's programs will be presented from the station's four studios on the 11th floor of Tribune tower. All operations at the Drake hotel studios, which have served the station for 13 years, have been transferred to the tower studios. No visitors will be accepted at W-G-N pending the completion and dedication of the new W-G-N studio building adjoining Tribune tower.

Ireene Wicker's vacation in England is turning out to be a sort of bus man's holiday. In a cablegram to her husband, Walter Wicker, the Singing Lady of W-G-N and NBC revealed that she is making some guest appearances for the British Broadcasting company in London. Ireene is singing with an orchestra under the direction of Henry Hall, musical director of BBC.

Mario Chamlee will sing a new song on his "Tony and Gus" broadcast at 5:15 p. m. today over WENR-NBC by Lillian Rosedale Goodman and her son, Morton Goodman of the Surf hotel. The number is titled "You Have My Heart," with music by mother and lyrics by son.

Jimmy Walker, John McCormack, Bessie Love, Charlotte Greenwood and other old friends will gather about a microphone in London at 6:15 this evening to send songs and greetings to Tom Meighan, the former movie star, who lies seriously ill at Great Neck, Long Island.

Bob Becker's black English Labrador retriever, Mike of Barrington, was awarded honors as the best of his breed and 4 points toward a championship at the Northbrook show Sunday. Marion Claire, wife of Henry Weber, W-G-N musical director, will tell Bob something about her German shepherd, Afra, on his W-G-N broadcast next Sunday.

Something new under the sun: Graveside ceremonies are to be broadcast beginning this fall from a cemetery at Belleville, Ill. "There will be broadcasting in connection with committals where music is requested," J. B. Azbill, president of the Valhalla association, announced yesterday.

Beatrice Lillie will be back on the air next Thursday on Rudy Vallee's variety hour. . . . George Olsen and Ethel Shutta have decided to come back to the College Inn and CBS after all this fall. They'll be on hand about Oct. 1.

Relatives Left $85,000 by Mrs. Lydia Watkins

The will of Mrs. Lydia F. Watkins, 237 Hazel avenue, Highland Park, who died June 14, was admitted to probate yesterday before Probate Judge Martin C. Decker in Waukegan. It disposed of an $85,000 estate, naming relatives chief beneficiaries. The Highland Park Hospital association was given $5,000 as a trust fund for twenty years to be used for maintenance expenses.

INDIGESTION PAINS STOP

Here is good news for all who suffer from stomach distress. Science has now found a quick, utterly harmless way to combat stomach ailments, called NUCHAR—a revolutionary form of activated vegetable char. Far more than an anti-acid, it has amazing powers of adsorbing impurities and poisons from the stomach and intestines.

FIRST TOWN WEST OF MISSISSIPPI 200 YEARS OLD

Ste. Genevieve, Mo., Aug. 19.—(AP)—While a regiment of United States infantrymen stood at attention, the flags of France and Spain again were raised in this historic little town today.

The ceremony inaugurated a four day bicentennial celebration, planned by citizens of the first white settlement west of the Mississippi river.

The first episode of a pageant depicting the settlement of Ste. Genevieve 200 years ago by a group of French miners under Philip Francis Renault, were given tonight. An outdoor amphitheater seating 14,000 was erected for the show.

It was a gala event for the community, whose citizens for the most part still bear the family names of French pioneers who came to the new world seeking fabulous gold.

Thousands of visitors from Missouri and neighboring states jammed the streets and passed in long lines through pioneer homes, many built 150 years ago and still occupied by descendants of the builders.

Auto Shortage Endangers Orphans' Picnic Wednesday

Unless more autoists volunteer the use of their cars for the 31st annual orphans' outing of the Orphans' Automobile Day association, many of the invited guests will be left behind, according to Si Mayer, president of the association. The organization hopes to entertain more than 4,000 orphans and inmates of homes for the aged on Wednesday in Lincoln park. Yesterday Mayer asked motorists who would volunteer their cars to telephone Dearborn 0718 or 0719.

Arrange Party for Labor Day at Desbarats

John Simpsons to Have Several Guests.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE RED MITTEN, the picturesque Desbarats camp of Mr. and Mrs. Uri B. Grannis, has been shuttered and quiet all summer, but it's to be very much alive the next two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacLaren Simpson are taking it over for an extended Labor day house party, to which they are inviting six or eight of their friends. One of their guests will be the Grannis' elder son, Dustin. Probably by boat, a private one, the party will leave Chicago this coming Friday and will not return until Labor day is properly celebrated.

It's too bad Billy Grannis, Mr. and Mrs. Grannis' youngest son, will not celebrate his birthday Aug. 26 at Desbarats. According to record, the late James O. Heyworth, as godfather for Billy, said: "I shall give this baby a present that he cannot break before he is a year old and that he always can enjoy." As a result Mr. Heyworth deeded the young man a camp on St. Joseph's island at Desbarats with 300 feet frontage on Bamageseck bay. A few years later he put up a rustic cabin for Billy, and after this Mr. and Mrs. Grannis built their family cabin in among the white birch.

Billy gave the name of "The Red Mitten" to the camp when he found a red woolen mitt such as is made by the native Indians and worn by the Canadian lumbermen. This identical mitt has been preserved and hangs in the living room of the main cabin over the great stone fireplace. The camp stationery bears a small red mitten as a crest and the white linen sailing hats were embroidered with a miniature red mitten.

Billy Grannis is out on the A Bar A ranch for August with Mrs. Arthur Burrows and her children, and Balcom Grannis is away from Chicago at work. Mr. and Mrs. Grannis have no plans for visiting Desbarats this year.

Miss Barbara Stanley is having a gay summer at Desbarats and trying to decide with her mother, Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley, just when she will make her bow to society. She has made up her mind, however, that the party will be a small dance and probably in November.

Taylor Strawns at Desbarats.

After a vacation at Crab Tree lake the Taylor Strawns have proceeded to Desbarats for a few days before joining their daughter, Louise, at Camp Ketchewa. The term at the camp will be completed Aug. 28, and at its conclusion the Strawns, with their daughter, will return to Lake Forest. At Crab Tree lake the Strawns visited Mrs. Strawn's sister and brother-in-law, the De Forest Hulburds.

The Robert J. Thornes occupied their Desbarats camp early in the summer. Incidentally, the main cabin at this camp belongs to the five daughters of the household. One of them, Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, has just returned from the camp and Mrs. Mark Morton came back the last week-end from a visit with her daughter, Miss Jane Morton, at her island home at Desbarats. Miss Morton plans to be away until after Labor day.

The junior William Burrys spent several weeks at Desbarats, and now Mrs Burry is in Camden, Me., enjoying a visit with her sister, Mrs. Rexford Daniels. Albert De Wolfe Erskine and his sons, Albert Jr. and John, left Saturday for Desbarats to join Mrs. Erskine, who preceded them north. The Erskines rented their own lovely island home to the Philip Pecks for the summer, so they are staying on another little island called Slip In. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine will remain in Desbarats through the first week in September.

Tennis Champion at Barrington Hills.

Mrs. Samuel D. Rowe's 15 year old daughter, Kitty Lawrence, is the new women's tennis champion at the Barrington Hills Country club, where she defeated Miss Bonnie Jean Clark, 6-0, 6-2, last week. Miss Lawrence also is doing well in the mixed doubles tournament, in which she is paired with John DeKoven Bowen.

Others competing in the mixed doubles which are being played this week are Mr. and Mrs. Alexis De Tarnowsky, Mr. and Mrs. Hyde Gillette, the Harold B. Smiths, and Miss Ellen Woodhead and Brook Willis.

Miss Katharine Daniels and William Watkins Joyce defeated John L. Dole and Mrs. Eugene O'Brien [Margaret Lynde] Sunday in Wayne, where they were entered in the mixed doubles tennis tournament at the Dunham Woods Riding club. The men's doubles tournament at Dunham Woods is rather at a standstill, for one partner in nearly every team is out of town on either a vacation or business.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, the former Jacqueline Buhl, are spending the summer in Wayne with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Joyce, who have taken a house there. The O'Briens also are spending the summer in this western community.

Son Is Born to H. Warren Bucklers.

Chicago friends learned last night of the birth of a son last Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Buckler Jr. at John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore. Mrs. Buckler is the former Helen R. McCormick, known to her friends as Patty, daughter of Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick and Robert Hall McCormick. Since her marriage last September Mrs. Buckler and her husband have been living in Baltimore. Several weeks ago Mrs. Buckler's sister,

Autumn Shoes Seem to Take Inches Off Feet

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Just when you decide you can't stand another week of white shoe cleaning or the sight of any more summer sandals, along come the first showings of fall footwear. After days of white pastels and all the wide open spaces of summer models, these new arrivals are a joy to inspect. They not only make your ankles and feet look inches smaller, they make you feel smarter and better groomed than you have been in months.

Boot makers are doing a lot of tricky things with combines—suede and kidskin, alligator and suede, and dull kid with trimmings of reptile skin. Inky all black numbers have high Spanish heels. Walking models with moderately high heels and opera pumps are stepping along as running mates to tie pumps in popularity. Patent lether is combined with dull suede in dress parade creations that are especially pleasing when matched with a stunning fall handbag of the same combination of suede and patent.

Alligator bags in rich spicy brown shades are easily matched to strap oxfords and are going out strong with college crowds filling their wardrobe trunks. And if you yern for color, all kinds of fringed tongue suede oxfords, in wine red, forest green, all shades of gray [and gray, for your fashion knowledge, is going to be one of the best of fall colors], with ginger and dark brown are now ready for tweeds, fuzzy street woolens, and sports clothes. And you don't have to buy sports oxfords to get color this year. The smartest and newest street models feature all shades, from wine red, green, blue, and gray to the browns that are deep enough in tone to wear as accents for all high colored fall dresses, whether of wool or silk.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

MUNICH.—Last night we went to see a play at the Residenz theater. It was a light love drama that had to do with the landlord of an inn, a rustic fellow in lether shorts and an Alpine jacket and a charming lady who preferred him to a more aristocratic suitor. Every seat in the little opera house was filled except two of the boxes, and there was much enthusiastic applause for the actors. But the tiny, jewel box of a theater interested me more than the play. Built by that same master of the rococo, the Frenchman Cuvillies, who built the Amalienburg in Nymphenburg park, it holds fewer than 600 persons. Four circular tiers of boxes, each ornamented with plaster draperies of scarlet and gold that fall over the balconies, are supported by figures bearing brackets of lights. There is a handsome and glittering chandelier and the royal box, hung with crimson, ornamented with gilt cupids and scrolls and trumpets, rests on the heads of tall golden women.

* *

THE royal box is now Hitler's. It was empty last night. So was the Wittelsbach box, which, once the royal box, is now the first to the left of the stage. It, too, was empty. There probably were no ghosts for the gay German folk who fanned themselves, and applauded, and peered through opera glasses at the stage, for one is always more conscious of history and the past when one is a visitor to another land. In the half light I saw Emperor Napoleon and Eugenia in the royal box. And, years later, Ludwig II., Bavaria's prince charming who became her insane king, leaning back against the red velvet to enjoy, alone in the darkened theater, the private performances he was wont to command, both here and in the palace theater, and at the National theater next door.

* *

THE National theater, formerly called the Hof theater, is being repaired now, but an obliging employé permitted us to see inside. Here "Tristan and Isolde" was produced for the first time with Hans von Bülow conducting, his wife, Cosima, sitting beside Wagner, and the youthful Ludwig II., who had called Wagner to Munich at a time when his fortunes were at a low ebb, sat in the royal box. In the audience, too, had been the young king's grandfather, old ex-King Ludwig I., who had lost his throne because of Lola Montez, the dancer. It was he who had had the theater built by Klenze, the architect, who erected many of the buildings and galleries in Munich at the king's behest. The theater and the foyer is adorned with over life size figures of gods and goddesses, which, after seeing German galleries and palaces, one recognizes as the work of Schwanthaler. The ceiling is Pompeian.

* *

HITLER comes to this theater several times a year. He is invariably attended by eight men, Brown Shirt bodyguards, and he wears either business clothes or uniform—never evening dress. Munich people who, whether they are members of the party or not, seem to admire Hitler and believe in his ideals for Germany, tell how he rushes into the theater, surrounded by his men, and dashes up the wide stairway, two steps at a time, surrounded by his men.

"But why does he rush so?" I inquired.

"To dodge the autograph hunters," was the reply.

"Then not because he is in fear of his safety?" I persisted.

The answer was a German shrug.

"Das auch" (that also), said my informant.

Report Secret Marriage of Mrs. Bell and Content

Miss Laval Is Bride; Becomes U. S. Citizen

Bridegroom Descendant of Lafayette.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Marie José, brunette daughter of Premier Pierre Laval, became a countess today.

Her civil marriage to Count Rene Adelbert de Chambrun also made her a citizen of the United States. The count, a nephew of the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth, by law is an honorary citizen of the United States because he is also a descendant of Gen. Lafayette.

His bride, under French law, takes the nationality of her husband, hence both are citizens of both France and the United States.

Rumors of a 10 million franc dowry were dispelled when it became known that no prenuptial agreement or evidence of parental gifts had been recorded in the marriage contract, as the law requires.

The ceremony, in the well guarded Sixteenth ward city hall, was relatively simple. Tomorrow a religious ceremony will take place at the little Church of St. Clothilde, back of the ministry of foreign affairs where the Lavals live.

Among the witnesses was Gen. John J. Pershing.

The mayor, wearing the sash and gleaming metal chains of his office, read the legal phrases and heard the responses of the couple. Then he expressed the customary wishes for their happiness and the hope they would have many children.

The ceremony ended with the traditional collection for the poor, and the two families of the 28 year old bridegroom and 23 year old bride proceeded to a wedding luncheon at the premier's home with a few close friends.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Count Charles de Chambrun, the French ambassador to Italy and brother of the bridegroom, and Senator Marquis de Chambrun were among the guests.

Chicago Voyagers Reach New Orleans in Outboard Boat

New Orleans, La., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Three on a honeymoon is the ideal arrangement if "Old Man River" is the third party, according to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jackson.

The couple, married last April in Chicago, arrived in New Orleans today after riding down the Mississippi in a 12 foot outboard motor boat.

Leaving Chicago on July 7, they followed the Chicago river into the Illinois river and then on down the Mississippi.

They have made their home on the boat since that time, taking meals ashore and putting up at hotels each night.

The couple plan to go from here to the gulf, around the Florida keys, and then on to New York City.

Wins 5 Year Fight for Health; Gets Film Contract

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—After a long battle to regain her health, Alice Weaver was rewarded with a movie contract at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios today. Miss Weaver, who won fame in George White "Scandals" before she was 16, was so severely injured in an auto accident in Miami, Fla. five years ago that she was unable to reënter professional work until recently.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

For the young woman who prefers the dainty to the sophisticated in fragrance and the light touch in its use there is a new infusion in a floral scent. It can be used like cologne, though its fragrance is more lasting.

A new infusion, in a floral fragrance that will enchant you, has just arrived at our desk and heaven help any light fingered woman who tries to steal a drop of it. You may remember our writing about the other two made by a famous French firm. From reports you all liked them, but then, you wouldn't be human if you didn't. This newcomer is up to the high standard, but quite different in fragrance.

These infusions have a thousand uses, it seems to us. Few lotions are as lovely for a rub after a bath. This new one, with its whisper of fragrant flowers, is tremendously dainty and sweet, ideal for these muggy days when giving the impression of crisp freshness is a real chore.

An infusion, you know, is neither a straight concentrated perfume nor an ephemerally scented cologne. It's sort of a cross between both. The new floral one has a delicate scent but a lasting one and the liquid itself is refreshing to the skin. It can be used on hands and face, in the water in which you bathe and on your hair. But we like best to use it as a body lotion because its fragrance seems to us to be best infused in that fashion. Even if you could afford it you hardly give yourself a rub down with a straight perfume though you might use a bit of it on the flesh. Using the infusion is a subtle trick of scenting yourself. The fragrance is all about you like a sweet mist but is never obvious.

To know and appreciate the delicate floral fragrance of this new one you should get its effect on the flesh after it has dried. It might strike you as being alcoholish and sharp when you simply sniff it from the bottle. Don't be deceived. It's an airy, gay perfume, more demure than sophisticated and cool as a shady garden. It's grand for the crisp young woman who feels, and quite correctly, that the heavy note in fragrance is OUT for midsummer.

Good Morning!

You never know from where you sit.

December and May may make an incongruous pair—and then again they mayn't. The sweet young thing who weds a mature man may be a bird in a gilded cage. But suppose the bird likes the cage. . . .?

"Accent on Youth," from a stage play uses a timeworn plot, but it brings a fresh intriguing twist to the romance of a middle aged playwright and his pretty secretary. You think, right along, that you know what's going to happen in the end, but, bless your hearts! you DON'T!

[And don't think I'm going to tell you, for I'm not!]

Herbert Marshall, as the playwright whose hair is interestingly silvered and who is beginning to feel the frosty touch of time, gives one of his sure, suave performances. A man who can play billiards with his butler without a touch of patronage and still never for an instant overstep the invisible line of caste. He invests his character with an appreciation of the ridiculous side of his situation that is droll and a little sad, and makes Stephen Gaye keen, facile, both simple and undecipherable—and always intensely human.

I liked Sylvia Sidney immensely as Linda. You may think she plays the rôle too seriously—that it should have been more jazzed up, but if you do, I don't agree with you. Linda was serious. She knew what she wanted, and, if she did get switched off the main track for awhile, she had sense enough. . . . But there I go telling you when I said I wouldn't!

Phillip Reed is fine as the youth to whom youth should have responded. Astrid Allwyn does a nice bit as a girl who had been in Gaye's life. Ernest Cossart is aces as a "gentleman's gentleman" and other rôles are beautifully handled.

Perhaps "Accent on Youth" is a smidgin too long—but, as long as it's as long as it is on other things than length—who cares!

Not I, sezzi.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage, Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy has been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Nancy learns that her sole remaining relative, an aunt, has been killed in China. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left. That evening Dick disappears. He returns later intoxicated. A taxi driver calls the next morning to collect fare for two girls and two men. That evening Sylvia Lane calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed, asks him to plan a house for her, and boldly invites herself to his home for dinner. Sylvia assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy tells her she had torn it up. Sylvia's new home is started and Dick spends most of his time with her.

INSTALMENT XX.

A MARITAL DANGER.

To Nancy, Edith said: "That little room will really be very nice for Dick. Now that he's got this work to do for Sylvia he'll be busy in the evenings, and you ought not to risk having your rest disturbed. From now on, Nancy, you can't live entirely for yourself. You have the little one to consider."

Perhaps Edith would not have accomplished the separation so easily if Nancy and Dick had not come to cross-purposes over it.

Dick chose to assume that Nancy wanted him to occupy the room she had arranged for him in what was really no more than an exaggerated fit of temper, and Nancy got an impression that he welcomed the innovation. At heart, each felt forlorn and would have given anything to conclude peace, but circumstances seemed to stand between. If Dick's mother hadn't been living with them, they could have had their little row all over the house after Minnie retired, and no one to be the wiser. And then they could and would have made it up.

But now they could not quarrel in a healthy fashion. Nancy stood on her dignity, conscious all the time of Edith's presence; even, it seemed to her, of Edith's ear at the keyhole. As for Dick, he turned sulky.

"O, you're making last night just an excuse to turn me out. All right, have it your own way. That divan's quite comfortable enough for me. And when the weather turns cold, I can have a hot water bottle."

"I simply can't imagine that house without you in it, Dick Heritage."

In the dark, Edith Heritage lay in her own bed, serenely smiling. One step, and an important one, had been achieved in the matter of separating her son from his undesirable wife.

Was Dick such a ninny, she wondered? Did he really believe that Sylvia Lane would ever have thought about having a country cottage designed for her if she hadn't met him and discovered that he was an architect?

The truth was, Sylvia had fallen headlong in love with him. How long would it be before Nancy began to suspect?

It was, in fact, quite a long time before Nancy realized that Sylvia was by way of being a danger to her married happiness. Six weeks, to be exact. It was mid-July now, and the young Heritages were not going to take a holiday this year; that is to say, they were not going away anywhere. Dick's nominal holiday was being employed on Sylvia Lane's behalf. It had taken quite ten days for them to discover the proper site, and every day during that period Sylvia called for Dick early in the morning and carried him away in her car. Sometimes she had a lunch packed up, and sometimes they lunched at country inns. Twice Nancy had gone with them—she was always invited—but on each occasion she could not help but feel that she was in the way. When Edith was invited she always declined on the score that Dick and Sylvia were not on pleasure bent. She did not want them to have her on their minds.

From the beginning, Nancy had fought hard against a growing feeling of jealousy. She attacked it from every possible angle, but it persisted.

Wasn't she utterly unreasonable? Just as silly as a doctor's wife, for instance, who might object to her husband having women patients.

She was jealous, too, of the ideal home—Sylvia's—which Dick was planning with such enthusiasm. It was exactly the sort of home Nancy would have liked for herself. The little house in Primrose Dene suddenly manifested a lack of so many things it ought to possess.

What was the good of that money lying there idle? One could only spend it in bits and pieces—dribble it away! and to dribble away £5,000 is rather shocking.

By this time, Dick's heart and soul appeared to be in Sylvia Lane's house. The firm had been unbelievably kind. Because he had had his salary reduced, the chief said he could have the whole commission on this work, if he did it in his own time. Double what he had thought he was going to get, and the house, too, grew bigger than Sylvia had at first intended. It was not altogether a woman's house. There was a garage, of course, and a sort of studio room planned as a gymnasium, with a little office or workroom at one end. There was to be a swimming pool.

Sylvia's mother had been shipped off to some seaside place to get her out of the way, but like Dick, Sylvia was not taking a holiday. She lived alone with a couple of maids in her London flat, and sometimes Dick found he stayed longer than he intended when he looked in to consult with her, and then she would coax him to cheer her loneliness and remain to a meal, either dinner or late supper.

Dick did not think it was necessary to tell Nancy these little details. Anything seemed to upset Nance these days, so he merely telephoned to say he was working late at the office, for although it was his holiday he had to use the office because all his tools were there.

That birthday Dick was going to celebrate soon was approaching, and Nancy began to be filled with a mood of desperation.

She saw more of her mother-in-law than she wanted to, and far too little of Dick.

The coolness which had risen between them in the matter of the back bedroom had passed off to a certain extent. As far as Dick was concerned, although he still kept to the little room, he had forgotten that they had been on the verge of a quarrel about it. He had got used to sleeping alone, as in his bachelor days, and he accepted Nancy's queer moods as part of her interesting condition. His mother had cautioned him to take no notice.

Up till quite recently Dick had also accepted Sylvia Lane on her own description as that of a good little pal.

But now, as her house was taking form in his imagination, he began to see her as the graceful young chatelaine. He saw her flitting about, arranging flowers, playing in her swimming pool, sitting at her dinner table, vigorously employing the gadgets she intended to fit up in the gymnasium, and a suspicion grew upon him that perhaps Sylvia Lane had other plans at the back of her mind. Was he, in fact, building this ideal home for some one else besides Sylvia?

He and Sylvia had driven down to the place they had chosen in Surrey to confer with the masterbuilder, and afterwards they had lunch under the silver birch trees where there was to be a marvelous show of doffodils and primroses next spring. The builder had departed and now they were alone.

"I say, are you by any chance thinking of getting married?" Dick asked.

"What a question! But probably some day I shall," Sylvia replied. She stretched her long limbs on the grass and reached for another sandwich. "I don't think I shall remain single all my life."

"Got the victim in mind?" Dick asked, wondering why he should feel a twinge of annoyance at her plain speaking.

Sylvia gave him a sidewise glance.

"Yes, I have—since you're so curious."

"Come, confide in your uncle. Shall I approve of him, do you think? Is he worthy of you? And, by jove, is he worthy of my house?"

"I suppose you do think of it as your house," Sylvia said sentimentally.

"Just as your future gardener will think of it as his garden," said Dick.

"It is your home!" Sylvia exclaimed softly. "You ought to live in it yourself. I simply can't imagine that house without you in it, Dick."

"I say, you're not trying to sell it to me, are you?"

Sylvia laughed and opened her bag to get a cigaret.

"What would you say if I told you I would like to give it to you?"

She leaned towards him and begged for a light.

But the match in Dick's hand burned down and he only dropped it when he felt the flame touch his fingers.

Young Children Don't Need Nor Crave "Shows"

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"I wish," wrote an intelligent mother of a 6 year old to me last winter, "that you would advise me. What shows are there that I can take my little girl to? I want her to see things that are especially planned for children. I know that puppet and marionette shows are being given, but there are few of them. And a few plays are occasionally presented just for children, but sometimes even these are too old for 5 and 6 year olds. I want to take my little girl to the right shows for her—but what shows are there?"

The answer is right in the letter. With the exception of marionette and puppet shows which are often perfect for young children, and the occasional performances by children's theater groups, there aren't any shows created solely for an audience of this age. Except that we may add some, not by any means all, of the drawn cartoon movies, like Mickey Mouse, which are short and are shown with other adult films.

All that a mother like this can do is to watch the papers for announcements, and the advertisements of department stores, which quite often feature marionette or puppet plays for children of customers, and let it go at that.

She can also keep in mind this important fact: That young children don't really crave this form of entertainment. There are some things they do crave, but not this. Due largely, I think, to the fact that movies loom so large in the world of pleasure and that so many children are taken before and more often than they should be, we have gotten to think that children want shows. For young children especially the theater is an acquired taste and does not add to the sum of their happiness.

The pleasures of the young child are manifold. He does not need shows to supply excitement, interest, color, and drama in his life. He gets all these from his play, his association with children, birthday presents, Christmas, little surprises, trips to beach or zoo, ferry rides, the wild screeching and careening of a scarlet fire engine, picnics, swimming, pets, stories—O, I could go on and on.

Let adult pleasures and sophistications wait until your child is not only ready for them but needs them.

Arrange Party for Labor Day at Desbarats

John Simpsons to Have Several Guests.

Mrs. Sargent Collier [Eleanor McCormick], became the mother of a daughter.

There's a new young lady in the household of Mr. and Mrs. Clymer S. Bowen of Lake Forest. She was born on Thursday at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. Before her marriage Mrs. Bowen was Esther Ely.

Another new baby girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hardwick Moseley of Lake Bluff. She arrived on Friday, also at the Alice Home hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sanger Hinchman are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son last Tuesday at the Alice Home hospital. He has been named David Farwell Hinchman after his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Walter F. Wallace, who was a Farwell before her marriage. Mrs. Hinchman is the former Virginia Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. John McEwen, who now live in Indianapolis, are the parents of a daughter, born last Thursday. Mrs. McEwen is the former Margaret Hamill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamill of Winnetka, and the baby has been named for her and Mrs. Hamill. Mr. McEwen is a son of Mrs. John McEwen, also of Winnetka.

Jane Rowe and Fiance Pay Visit to Father.

Several of Miss Jane Rowe's friends had the opportunity to felicitate her in person and also meet her fiance, Robert French Evans, on Sunday when she and Mr. Evans unexpectedly arrived in Chicago from Massachusetts. They stayed over night with her father, Edgar C. Rowe, and left last night to spend a week with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fifield Evans, in Davenport, Ia.

Miss Rowe will return to Chicago next Sunday, and it is possible that Mr. Evans will remain here for a few days at that time. Their marriage is to take place on Oct. 18 in Hingham, Mass., and they will live in Quincy, Mass., where Mr. Evans is in business.

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. R. Clair Taft of Wilmette of the engagement of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Vance Soule, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Soule, also of Wilmette. The young couple told their intimate friends of their betrothal Sunday evening at a buffet supper at the Taft home. The wedding is to take place in December.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at St. Luke's church in Evanston Miss Marion Elizabeth Jeffrey, daughter of Mrs. Lucy B. Jeffrey of Evanston, will become the bride of William MacDonald Fanning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Fanning of Paterson, N. J. A reception will follow at the Orrington hotel. After a wedding trip in the Adirondacks Mr. Fanning and his bride will make their home in East Orange, N. J.

Clarence Mitchells to Arrive Today.

Because of the early opening of the California schools, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, who are arriving in town today en route from Bar Harbor to their Santa Barbara home, will not be able to remain here longer than Friday. During their four day visit they will be with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell in Lake Forest.

Since the Charles Garfield Kings, parents of both the Mrs. Mitchells, are in Lake Forest this summer, the Clarence Mitchells' visit will be rather a family party. Mr. and Mrs. King will move in town to their apartment Oct. 1.

Mrs. Ayres Boal left yesterday for the Philip Wyatt Moores' ranch in Montana where she will join her daughter, Miss Henrietta Boal, who has been visiting the Moores. After a night there Mrs. Boal and Miss Boal will go on to another ranch for the remainder of their visit in the west.

The former Betty Dixon and her husband, Parker Bryant, arrived Saturday to visit her parents, the Homer Dixons for the rest of the summer and early fall. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have been living, since their marriage two years ago, on a plantation near Lake Worth, Fla.

Leave by Motor for Eastern Trip.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon left Sunday with her cousin, Miss Ruth Green, on a motor trip to the eastern seaboard and New York. Mrs. Hixon will be away until after Labor day and will come home by way of Williamsburg, Va., where she wants to see the reconstruction of the colonial village.

Miss Mary Seymour Pynchon, who has been visiting her father, Harold C. Pynchon, and Mrs. Pynchon in Barrington, left for school in California last Saturday. While she was in Chicago she attended classes at the Art institute.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Housewife Wants Kerosene Stove.

"Dear Miss Brown: Do you think you can help me to obtain a kerosene oil stove or a garbage burner to be used for cooking purposes? Our gas service soon will be discontinued because we are unable to pay the bill. I am expecting a baby and also am in need of baby clothing. We are not on relief."—Mrs. F. R.

Mrs. R. lives on the far south side.

Invalid Baby Needs Buggy.

M. G. is 19 years old and an orphan. Her husband deserted her recently and left her with a baby 2½ months old. The child was ill at birth and has to have surgical attention at a charity hospital. He still is weak and sickly and needs much care. It is necessary that he have plenty of fresh air and sunshine and the mother has no buggy or crib for the child. Can you help her?

Nautical Effect for School Days

GIRL'S SCHOOL DRESS.

Sailor dresses always are in vogue for school wear, and this dress is well cut, easy to make, and smart looking. The sleeves, gathered into narrow wristbands, are comfortable and just the thing for school wear. The inverted plait at the center front of the skirt allows ample walking freedom. One of the printed, washable, rayon crêpes in pottery rust, with plain navy for the collar, cuffs, and tie, made the original dress.

The pattern, No. 2915, comes in sizes 6, 8, 10, and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

SQUEEZE AND END PLAY.

The hand:

	NORTH
	♠ K-Q-J-8
	♥ A-J-4
	♦ J-8
	♣ K-Q-7-2
WEST		EAST
♠ 5-4		♠ A-10-8

♣ A-J-10-5		♣ 8-3
	SOUTH
	♠ 9-7-3-2
	♥ Q-8-7-3

	♣ 9-6-4

The bidding:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
Pass	Pass	1 Cl.	1 Di. [1]
Pass	1 N. T.	2 Sp.	2 N. T.
Pass	3 N. T.	Dbl. [2]	Rdbl.
Pass	Pass	Pass

First. East should double informatively.

Second. You should have heard the nasty, vicious tone that North used to double three no trumps, although his hand is actually nothing to write home to mother about. Anything that happened to him subsequently was his just desserts.

The play:

North leads king of spades. Every one ducks the trick. South puts on seven spot. North continues with queen of spades. See above. South puts on deuce. North plays small spade. Dummy wins.

Six diamonds are taken. West retains:

Sp.—None	Di.—None
Ht.—K-10	Cl.—A-J

Sp.—J	Di.—None
Ht.—A	Cl.—K-Q

Or:

Sp.—None	Di.—None
Ht.—A-J	Cl.—K-Q

If North, gnawing his under lip, finds himself at the end with the first hand, West simply leads a small heart and ducks it. That develops the ninth trick.

If North cannily keeps the second hand West throws him in with the play of the ace and another club. North must now lead the ace of hearts and give the declarer the king. Or North can lead the jack of hearts and get 10 points for last trick.

	NORTH
	♥ A-K-10-7-4-2

Either seven spades or six hearts can be made on the above hand, although personally I should prefer to play it at seven spades. It's just a quirk of mine.

Single Women Often Happier than Are Wives

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Some learned person recently offered some statistics to support his claim that married women do not represent as high a state of happiness as do single women. We forget the percentages offered, but we remember them as imposing at the time. We don't even know what a difference in the age group was represented in the statistical collection.

Whether the happiness contest was one between young married women and young business women or older women from each vocational class we do not know. But the suggestion that married women are not happy brings up the question of why not? If there is truth to the claim that the single woman wears the more contented look there must be a reason. Is it money? A greater personal spending allowance enjoyed by the single sister, freer hours, or what?

We doubt that it is money or the much vaunted feeling of independence for single women, as we have met them all seem willing to exchange these so-called states of bliss for the more promising (to them) adventure of matrimony.

So it must be something else that keeps her from brooding over life's injustices. We're not shooting wide of the mark when we suggest that what makes the single one more contented for the time being than the married woman is work. A disciplined, systematically well planned day.

The married woman may snort at the suggestion that her work is not every bit as hard and engrossing as the single woman's. She's right in numbers of cases. But in our country at least there are thousands of women who simply have not enough work to absorb their day completely and in a disciplined way. It is in this group one finds the great body of malcontents.

It's not always the fault of the housewife that she has too many idle hours on her hands. Work saving devices are responsible. But today there is little excuse for the home woman getting that discontented droop to her mouth corners because she has not enough to do. She has a wide world of interests to draw on to fill out those now unoccupied leisure hours. She can study. She can have a hobby that is constructive. She can plan a day that is full to the limit—and she can enjoy the satisfaction needed for peace of mind of doing something constructive in those hours now devoted to running around senselessly or sitting around complainingly.

The Stage

The first play of Chicago's new theatrical season will be "Tobacco Road," dramatization of Erskine Caldwell's novel by Jack Kirkland. This study of "white trash" in the backwoods of Georgia is credited with the longest New York run of the last six years. The production will begin a run at the Selwyn theater on Labor day, Sept. 2.

Henry Hull, originator of the central rôle of Jeeter Lester in "Tobacco Road," will be the star of the Chicago company, which is coming here after a tour of the Pacific coast cities. Others in the cast will be Mary Servoss, Fiske O'Hara, Bonita Des Londes, Leon Ames, Haila Stoddard, Pauline Drake, Hallene Hill, Howard Banks, and Herbert A. Pratt.

Ruth Lee will replace Miss Dennis Moore in the cast of "Three Men on a Horse," at the Harris theater, next Sunday night. She has been drafted from the California company which has been acting the play since last spring. This will be the first change in the Chicago cast since the première, twenty-two weeks ago. C. C.

Neckline Is a Major Factor in Success of Hat

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

Just a little tip before you buy your fall chapeau.

First, advises one of the best hat designers in America, don't rush in and buy the first popular style unless you can afford to throw the hat away shortly. Wait until the styles settle, says the authority!

But here's the point I want to make. Get your hair style set before you choose this year's chapeau. Get a new coiffure arrangement if you wish. It's a good thing to do indeed unless you already have arrived at the perfect one for you. But the same authority tells me that a hat in itself is nothing. The most beautifully designed and skilfully made hat is simply nothing unless the wearer's hair is well arranged, the complexion good, and the neckline good.

Of course we know all about the hair making the hat. We know what a good complexion, smartly made up, does to and for a hat. But there's that neckline business on which a good many women go wrong when it comes to tying it up with the lines of a hat.

I recall not long ago sitting in with a friend who was buying an expensive chapeau. The head designer said to her: "This is the frock you're going to wear it with, I take it." "O, no," said the customer. "It's not. It's another dress with a high neckline!" "Then," said the designer, "please wear the other dress when you come for your fitting!"

Some one may be sitting talking to you, the designer went on to explain, or standing talking to you for that matter. What that audience of yours is taking in is you from the neck up. That whole circle of you is constantly before your audience's eye. Naturally your neckline is going to receive a great deal of scrutiny; also your skin and hair. Your hat has to be just another note in this complete ensemble. It can't stand out like a sore thumb or be just something to cap your hair.

The hat is important, true, but not one whit more important than the throat and neckline. Women, she reported, will try on a hat, meanwhile wearing a fur collar held up high around the neck. It's a different looking hat, creates an entirely different line with the collar removed and the whole throat taken into the picture.

But above all, the authority advised, the back of the head should be made the deciding point in a hat's choice. Or maybe we should better say the back of the neck. If the hair is worn low you need an entirely different crown and brim height and width than if the hair were brushed up high and clear of the neck. There are other little rules, but you're smart, girls, once you're made to realize that this whole area from the neckline up must be taken into serious consideration when you go hat shopping. All you need is a reminder so you won't be carried away with a color or hat shape that in itself intrigues.

Many Children Find Thrills in Hotel Toyland

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Boys and girls from all parts of the world have visited the huge playroom at the Stevens hotel. Many of them came from the United States, others from Scotland, Australia, London, and one little boy came from China. Many of the youngsters have said how much fun they had in the big recreation room and mentioned just what they liked best. You might know that a lad from Kentucky would like the horse called Man-o'-War best of all the toys to be found there.

Little Peggy V. from California liked the doll house and the sand pile. I don't blame her for liking the doll house—it's the cutest thing you ever saw, and is completely furnished from the attic to the basement.

If you think you'd like to be one of the 100 youngsters who'll go to this playroom with me on Thursday, Aug. 29, you'd better do more than just think about it. You'd better get that letter written, because if it isn't mailed some time tomorrow at the latest it won't reach me in time.

On Thursday I want to pick youngsters who'll really enjoy being turned loose in this marvelous playroom—who'll enjoy seeing "Rainy Day," a soft shoe dance that Lorraine Santschi and Josephine Buckley will do for us—who'll like meeting Seymour Simons, the orchestra leader, who'll have autographs for all of us, and I can only know that you like these things if you'll write and tell me so, so hurry up with that letter.

Be sure to write it yourself, and tell me your full name, address, and age. Please don't ask for invitations for other youngsters—if they wish to be included, have them write to me, too.

Helen Hayes Refuses Offer of $85,000 for One Film

Suffern, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Helen Hayes disclosed today she had turned down an offer of $85,000 to co-star with Ann Harding in a filming of the prize play "The Old Maid." Instead she will remain here and play Cleopatra in Shaw's "Cæsar and Cleopatra." The offer, Miss Hayes said, came from Paramount pictures and it took her four days to decide to say no. Recently she vowed she would not appear in movies again.

New Style of Can Opener Is Kitchen Boon

Really Efficient Piece of Household Equipment.

BY MARY MEADE.

The can opener may not be the most important single unit in the modern kitchen, but not even the most violent head shakers of the old school of cookery can deny that it does have its place. And as long as things stand that-a-way it behooves the clever cook to stock her kitchen with a really efficient piece of equipment.

In the interests of hushing kitchen profanity and preventing whacked fingers and bruised palms we all welcomed with glee the rotary, wall fastened opener several years ago. We liked its speed and the fact that it left the edges of the tin neatly folded under.

However, there still remained a few difficulties. We were looking for an opener which would open cans of any shape, not just the round ones. We wanted one which could be cleaned easily without contortions with twisted paper. And we objected to the occasional embarrassment of having the opened can slip out of the opener if we relaxed our vigil.

Well, it seems that there's a new opener on the market which answers all those problems. It's of the wall bracket variety, so's to be always conveniently at hand. It is sturdily built and its makers have given it a two year guarantee.

More important, this opener is so constituted that it will open tins of any shape. No more fussing around with those swivel screws that always twist sideways or break during the unwrapping on oblong sardine cans or square corned beef ones! The knife goes smoothly around any trick curves or corners that may be present.

Too, the knife attachment of the opener is quickly and easily removable for cleaning. Since the older style openers were hard to keep scrupulously clean this point is a strong one.

When a few quick turns of the handle have completely severed the lid from the can and have smoothly folded under the sharp edges it isn't necessary to grab for the tin to prevent its plopping down onto the table top. The opener firmly holds the can in position until it's released even after the top is removed.

This paragon of can opening virtue is fortunately no more expensive than others of its kind. However, for the new bride who's just finding that equipping a kitchen is frightfully expensive business we've another opener to suggest as well. This one is obtainable at most 5 and 10 cent stores and is to be recommended as an efficient little tool. It's small and not of the stationary, wall hanging variety, but it does a fine, quick job of clipping out the can lid and smoothing under the edges. A small lever clamps down inside the rim of the can and an easily turned screw handle does the trick. Or mayoe you will want to look into the matter of both openers. The first is grand for regular kitchen use and the latter should be just the thing for picnic and camping duty.

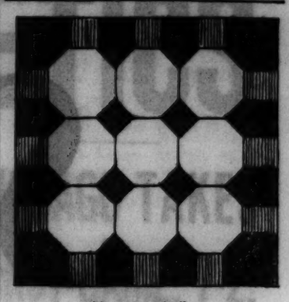
Design of This Pattern Creates Outstanding Quilt



Nine Snowballs.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Quite an unusual pieced pattern is "Nine Snowballs," whether it is used for an all-over pieced quilt, or alternated with blocks of plain colors. The technique of this block is something which makes it an outstanding example in the realm of quilting. The pattern suggests sufficient material for an all-over pieced quilt. When alternated with blocks of plain color, only half the yardage is required.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

The Significance of a Closing Date

IT is 2:00 A.M.—Thursday, September 12th! High-speed presses start printing more than 1,100,000 copies of the October issue of FARM JOURNAL—the magazine that is in closer contact with dirt farmers nationally than any other publication.

It is four days later—Monday, September 16th!

Into rural mail boxes from Maine to California go 1,100,000 copies of the first and only national farm magazine to deliver immediate, world-wide farm information and news service to farm families!

News? Yes. But more than news, FARM JOURNAL will interpret that news as it affects the lives and livelihoods of its loyal, cover-to-cover readers.

A field force of 15 correspondents—all trained farm writers; all strategically located—will write, wire, or telephone the latest farm information from all sections of the country. . . . Legislative news from Washington will be reported at the last minute, its meaning clearly and simply explained, its importance identified. . . . Farm news pictures will be as current as the pictures in the rotogravure sections of big-city newspapers. . . . And behind all news is the editorial direction of a recognized authority on growing methods, farm administration, and rural taxation: Walter B. Pitkin ("Life Begins at 40").

But what is the significance of a closing date "6 days preceding" to you, the advertiser?

To the publisher, it is obvious: It is a logical decision for a magazine that has always changed its tempo to meet the changing tempo of the times; that has always stood for service to the American dirt farmer, regardless of his geographic scene.

To the reader, it is inevitable: It will add to the basic worth and helpfulness of the magazine that he has so long depended upon for guidance, inspiration, advice, and entertainment.

To you? To you, it is Opportunity! An advertising natural! A medium that you cannot intelligently ignore. No other farm magazine of national circulation offers you the flexibility, the editorial timeliness, the ability to make your advertising message true news.

In spite of changes made to keep abreast of its readers, FARM JOURNAL is basically the same. The sound principles that have kept it in the homes and hearts of America's true dirt farmers since 1877 remain unchanged.

Use FARM JOURNAL, the leader in the national R. F. D. farm field. Catch the October issue. There is still time to turn a new advertising furrow with nearly one-third of America's true farm families—to swing into their confidence and to enjoy with them—profitably—this better-looking, this thicker (60 pages), this more significant and more useful magazine.

1,100,000 farm families — self-sufficient — versatile — well-informed — acquisitive — curious —nationally-minded. . . . 1,100,000 farm families —willing, eager, able to buy useful products truthfully advertised!

Greet the Reborn American Farmer

SUDDENLY—dramatically—unexpectedly, the farmer has loomed solidly before the eyes of America. Hidden by the terrific economic storm of the last five years, forgotten in the mad rush for cover by business men and sales managers, he is suddenly the center of all eyes. Washington finds him the foremost buyer of postal savings bonds. Detroit finds him buying an incredible number of automobiles. New York finds him the great American property owner. Business finds him a cash buyer of every kind of product.

This independent, serious, deliberate, versatile person, the farmer—this greatest working partnership in the world, the farm family—has come out on top more successfully than any other single income group.

If you have a product to sell, talk to this farmer—1,100,000 of him. You can do it quickly, effectively, nationally, through the pages of FARM JOURNAL.

ALL-AMERICANS WORK OUT DEFENSE FOR BEARS

DR. SPEARS AND MADIGAN CHART STARS' DUTIES

Coach Thomas Back with Squad.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Americans yesterday in Dyche stadium began their defensive work which is calculated to stop the plunging of Bronko Nagurski and the runs of Beattie Feathers when the college boys face the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 29. The plans looked mighty fine on paper and undoubtedly the players will master their assignments, but the test will come a week from Thursday when Nagurski, et al., romp out on the gridiron and no longer are indicated by the spot marked X.

C. W. Spears, Wisconsin's and Edward [Slip] Madigan, St. Mary's, had charge of the blackboard work in the morning. Spears as seen the Bears perform many times and his advice has been heeded not only in formulating defensive plans but in assignments for the linemen who must handle the Bears' giant tackles and block Bill Karr and Bill Hewitt, who are regarded as the best pair of ends in professional football.

Plenty of Free Advice.

Madigan, who made his college reputation at center, admits having played guard also, and he also has definite ideas of what the defense should be. For that matter, if the All-Stars needed information, Madigan could obtain it from his former players who have made good in professional football. Each day's mail brings the coaches free will offerings from fans who think they know how to stop the Bears.

Charley Bachman, of Michigan State, had a one day leave of absence yesterday to take care of business in Lansing, Mich. However, Frank Thomas, of Alabama, head coach, who has been confined to the hospital for a week with acute arthritis, returned yesterday afternoon and will be present at all practices from now on. Thus the coaches presented a quorum when the afternoon drill took place.

Guests at Lunch Thursday.

Last night the All-Americans visited the loop to attend the play, "Three Men on a Horse." On Thursday the squad will be the guests of the Interfraternity club of Chicago at a luncheon at the University club. This will be the only occasion when all of the players will attend any luncheon or meeting.

Thirty thousand seats at $1.10 and 12,000 at $1.65 are available for the game. These are splendid locations, not between the goal posts, it is true, but the same tickets for which $5.50 was charged when the Army and Navy played at Soldiers' field and which brought $3.30 for the Southern California-Notre Dame contests.

Real Football Bargain.

Moreover, the extreme sections on both sides of the field at the north end are not included in this list of tickets. These seats are not being sold. The 42,000 seats available are near enough to the gridiron to afford all an excellent view. Those that are located high up, particularly in the south horseshoe [at $1.10] are football's greatest bargain. The seats at the ends give a view from above and each player can be seen. Frequently the spectators on the sides have their vision obstructed by the players who are in alignment.

Regardless of location, at $1.10 no one can afford to miss this battle between the college stars of 1934 and

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 19.—New offensive tactics occupied the Chicago Bears today, strengthening the belief that the All-Star game at Soldiers' field on Aug. 29 will be a battle of open and spectacular attacks.

GEORGE HALAS.

The Bears have spent all their time on offense since their arrival at St. John's military academy a week ago yesterday. Lectures have been devoted to new plays and ground gaining has been stressed in the two scrimmages. Even the individual instruction has been limited largely to assignments on offense.

Halas Demands Scores.

Explanation for this lies largely in Coach George Halas' determination to get some points on Aug. 29, whether the Bears win, lose, or tie again. Touchdowns and field goals afford the average fan his greatest thrill. The professionals have built up their following chiefly through free scoring.

This is particularly true of the Bears, whose games with the New York Giants, Green Bay, and Detroit in the past have been among the most talked of in history. Having been charged by other club owners with the duty of upholding the prestige of professional football, Halas is set on giving the spectators at Soldiers' field a dazzling offensive display.

Just Keep the Ball!

Such a plan of attack will serve two purposes, for to show off the latest designs in open football the Bears must have possession of the ball, and while they have the ball the All-Stars cannot score. This is an application of an old football axiom which is variously credited to A. A. Stagg, Fielding Yost, and the late Knute Rockne.

Another scrimmage is scheduled for tomorrow at which time Halas expects the players to have mastered signals and assignments. From then on practice will become largely a matter of perfecting timing and coordination. There will be a morning workout at the St. John's camp Wednesday and a drill, probably scrimmage, at Lake Mills, Wis., 20 miles from here, at night. The Lake

CONRAD JENNINGS, Marquette athletic director, had his first fist fight since he was a boy the other day when he saw a motorist deliberately run down and kill a dog. . . . 124 SEEK PLACES IN U. S. AMATEUR TOURNEY TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Today is the day of the local preview to the biggest show in amateur golf—the Chicago district qualifying rounds for the championship of the United States Golf association. A field of one hundred and twenty-four will speak their lines today at the Beverly Country club, 87th street and Western avenue, all of them seeking to win a rôle in the cast of the big show itself, which will be produced at the Country club of Cleveland, O., from Sept. 9 to 14, inclusive.

Of these one hundred and twenty-four one hundred and ten will be Chicagoans, to whom twenty places in the tournament proper have been allotted. The remaining fourteen are transfers from other districts.

25 Other Sections Hold Tests.

Beverly will not be the only tryout scene today, for golfers in twenty-five other sections throughout the country also will be holding 36 hole tests to determine their representatives at Cleveland. Three districts—Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Denver—already have held their qualifying rounds, and today's play will make the field for the tournament proper complete.

The Chicago district delegation again will be one of the strongest units in the regiment of golfers who will strive to prevent W. Lawson Little Jr. of San Francisco, the defending champion and a winner of the British amateur for the second straight time this spring, from making it a two year double.

22 Will Go to Cleveland.

Last year's Chicago quota for the amateur tournament was 16 players, which was raised to eighteen with the addition of Bob Gardner and Chick Evans, both of them exempt from sectional qualifications by reason of having held the title. With Gardner and Evans entered again this year, 22 Chicagoans will go to Cleveland.

Many of today's players know Beverly well from 1931, when the south side club was the scene of the national tournament. One of these will be Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge, who went to the title match that year against Francis Ouimet. Others include Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields, who won the 1930 western amateur at Beverly; George Dawson of Glen Oak; Art Sweet and Jimmy Miller of Bob o' Link; Charley Smead, Elmhurst's district junior champion; Cliff McKelvey, former state runner-up, who is registering from Glen Oak; Steve Williams of Evanston; Gus Fetz of Medinah; Bill Lain and Don Hamilton of the home club; Henry Bowbeer of Big Oaks; Chuck Becka of Calumet, and John Hobart, state champion from Rockford.

Cubs' Rally in Eighth Saves Major Debut for Shoun, 2-1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 19.—Although their hitting wasn't worth writing home about, the Cubs managed to make a success today of the big league starting debut of Clyde [Duster] Shoun, the 20 year old lefty from Birmingham. The young fellow went away thinking himself a loser, but his mates rallied in the eighth, scored two after an error had cost a chance to retire the side, and defeated the annoying Phillies, 2 to 1. The Phils are going to protest the outcome, but probably will not get far with it.

CLYDE SHOUN.

For quite a spell the Cubs thought they had solved the reason for the winning of six straight by Joe Bowman, who started against them. They couldn't even get a man to base until the sixth inning, and meanwhile a run registered against Shoun loomed larger and larger. Finally came the Cubs' first hits, a double and single in the seventh. A painful piece of base running, however, kept them from scoring. But Mickey Haslin erred in the eighth, Pinch Hitter Jim O'Dea produced, and Billy Herman, the guilty party in the base running episode, compensated by singling off Sylvester Johnson for the winning runs.

Grimm's Troubles Start.

When Shoun was yanked for a pinch batter in the eighth Manager Grimm's troubles started in a big way. Swayed by his idea that the Phillies can't touch southpaws, Grimm summoned Larry French, who was knocked out of yesterday's second battle. French remained long enough to bring about a full house with one out. Then Grimm decided he would risk a right-hander, so Tex Carleton was thrown into the center of action and he not only choked off the rally but kept the Phillies from becoming gay in the ninth.

The victory brought the Cubs up to even terms with the Phils on their season's work, the record being eight wins apiece. It also brought the Cubs to a won and lost tie with the second place Cardinals, but the latter hold a 7 point edge in percentages.

Phillies Score in First.

Freshman Shoun had a little trouble getting squared away in the first inning and before so doing the Phils sneaked a run across the plate. Gomez, a Mexican lad who was turned loose in the spring by a class D league team, led off with a single to center. Watkins was called out on what Umpire Sears termed a third strike. Allen drew free passage. Moore bounced a single past Herman's left to score Gomez. The next two fellows slammed long flies to center, but Lindstrom took both.

A pass put Wilson on with one out in the second, but Bowman helped his youthful opponent by bouncing into a double play. Another survived Whitehead Pitches in Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox yesterday staged a six run rally in the fifth inning of the first game of their double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics and later finished with a 7 to 2 victory to give John Whitehead his 11th favorable decision of the year.

In the second inning of the second game Jack Hayes knocked a homer with Jimmy Dykes on base and this caused the statisticians to figure the Sox would go back into third place by a fraction of a percentage point. But many things happened thereafter, including Jimmy Foxx's 23d home run, which put the A's ahead and on their way to an eventual 8 to 4 victory.

So the statisticians got to figuring again and found that the Sox are clinging to a first division berth ahead of Cleveland, .51401 to .51351.

Simmons Gets Some Hits.

The Sox runs in the first game were scored on a single by Rip Radcliff and a double by Al Simmons in the first inning and in the fifth on a single by Dykes, a walk to Hayes, a single by Sewell, an error on Whitehead, singles by Radcliff and Simmons, a double by Piet and a fly ball by Washington.

Both of the A's runs in the first game were scored by Bob Johnson, the first with his No. 22 homer and the other following a single.

In the second game Les Tietje held the A's to one hit in the first four innings. In the meantime the Sox had made seven hits, including Hayes' homer good for two runs. But Les bogged down in the fifth and Foxx's aforesaid homer with one on and two out topped off a four run inning.

Manager Dykes sent Carl Fischer in to pitch at the start of the seventh. Carl allowed no hits in the seventh and eighth innings, but gave up four runs on five hits in the first of the ninth.

Piet Knocks One.

The Sox broke loose a bit in their ninth, but caused no anxiety in view of Fischer's performance in the first half of the inning. With two down Simmons doubled and scored on Piet's homer. Appling reached first on an error, but good old dependable Vernon Washington sent the folks home to supper with a pop to Warstler, his ninth batting failure of the afternoon and his 29th in 30 times at bat.

FIRST GAME

On the presumption that customers may be tired of reading of what Washington can and can't do with a bat, we will slide over the first inning of the first game as gingerly as possible. Radcliff followed his custom of opening the Chicago offensive with a hit, this time a single to right. Simmons followed with a double off the right field wall which scored Rip, Al taking third on a throw to the plate. Dietrich threw out Piet, Simmons holding third, and then Appling walked. Up strode Washington. Vernon tapped into a double play.

Sox Get Going in Fifth.

The Sox made six runs in the fifth inning, five of them before the A's accomplished their first putout. Dykes started it with a single to center and Hayes walked. Sewell failed in an attempt to sacrifice and then singled to right, Dykes scoring and Hayes stopping at third. The bases were full when Dietrich made a wide throw to second after capturing Whitehead's grounder. Radcliff delivered his second single to

HERE'S AN ALL-AMERICAN KICK THAT MAY EMBARRASS BEARS

When football fans pack Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 29 to see the college All-Americans play the Chicago Bears of the National Professional league, they may be treated to a sight of this combination in action. It's strictly an all-Minnesota duet, with Francis (Pug) Lund, half back, holding the ball for Bill Bevan, guard, who was one of the most accomplished place kickers in the Western conference. There's plenty of smoothness here as the boys practice for the time the All-Stars need a point after touchdown or field goal. The Tribune speed camera shows each phase of the kick.

HIGGINS BATTLES PACHO TONIGHT IN WESTERN RING

Lovings Meets Wallace or Irving at 4 Rounds.

Gene Higgins, junior welterweight member of the Catholic Youth organization, tonight will receive his chance against topnotch competition in a ten round clash with Bobby Pacho of Los Angeles, Cal., at Western stadium, Western and Devon avenues. Pacho's showing against Tony Canzoneri at Mills stadium last July 25 gives Higgins an excellent opportunity to score an upset. In that bout Pacho, who scored a knockdown in the third round, made many mistakes and so Canzoneri went on to win the decision in ten rounds.

Lorenzo Lovings, stablemate of Higgins, and 1935 international Golden Gloves lightweight king, will make his professional debut in a four round supporting match. He is likely to oppose Ben Irving or Sammy Wallace. His original opponent, Mickey Genaro, asked to be excused because of lack of condition. Other matches:

Nestor Bruggman vs. Ernie Kulasik, [5], 145.
Sailor Born vs. Carl Scalise, [5], 138.
Al Pahl vs. Herbie Wilson [4], 135.
Davy White vs. Fred Chynoweth, [5], 136.

Max Marek, C. Y. O. heavyweight, yesterday accepted an eight round return bout with Steve Roberts at South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27 on the program headed by an exhibition involving Joe Louis. . . . Marek defeated Roberts here recently after a hard battle. . . . Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight, slipped into town yesterday to prepare for an anticipated contest at Western stadium next Tuesday. . . . Sykes has been spending the last few weeks working with a construction contingent at Elmira. Tony Cancela, Tampa, Fla., plans to head for Speculator, N. Y., tomorrow or Thursday to join Max Baer's sparring staf there. . . . Cancela expects to box Ford Smith on the Louis-Baer program.

Babe Marino, New York 152 pound boxer, is being sought to oppose Billy Celebron of Rockford in the windup at Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . Bryan Downey, Cleveland, O., former middleweight title claimant, is in the city for an indefinite stay. . . . King Levinsky visited Trafton's gymnasium yesterday and announced that he may go to Europe for a series of fights in the fall. . . . Bert Rubi and Alex Kasaboski are ready for their encounter which features the wrestling card tomorrow at Marigold Gardens. . . . Lorenzo Pack, heavyweight; Dave Clark, middleweight, and Clinton Bridges, light heavyweight, are likely to fight at Mills stadium Aug. 28 if their scheduled matches at Washington, D. C., Aug. 27, fail to materialize. . . . Lew Feldman boxes Jimmy Christy and Holman Williams faces Lew Massey in two ten round tussles on the Mills stadium card.

Jacobs Picks New York as Site for Baer-Louis Bout

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 19.—The fight between Joe Louis and Max Baer, former world champion, will be held in New York, on Sept. 24, 25 or 26, at the Polo Grounds. Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, who holds personal contracts for the services of the two heavyweights, came to that decision today when informed the New York boxing commission insisted the bout be put on here.

Jacobs had been holding the match open for bids since Aug. 8, the day after Louis knocked out King Levinsky, when he signed Louis and Bear and announced the match would go to the city making the best offer. Chicago promoters and civic leaders have been making every effort to land the match, one offer to Jacobs providing for a cash payment of $75,000 merely for turning over the contracts to a Chicago club.

The boxing commission today requested Jacobs to appear at tomorrow's meeting and he was told the board would insist that the match be fought here.

"As the commission insists that Baer and Louis fight in New York," said Jacobs, "there is nothing for me to do but put it on here. The commission has always treated me well and I must bow to its wishes, regardless of pressure to put the match on in Chicago."

BAER HARD AT WORK

Speculator, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The forgotten man of pugilism, Max Baer, has been found again, but you'd scarcely recognize him.

He's roaming the hills where Gene Tunney, who never was unprepared, practiced running backward for that night in Chicago when he had to retreat faster than Jack Dempsey could move forward, or get himself annihilated.

Baer is swinging an ax in the forests that cover the Aridondacks, crowding down on his mountain cabin. He rows daily over the same lake on which Tunney pulled a pair of oars and planned his fighting strategy. He squeezes hard rubber balls in his hands all day long to strengthen them, as Tunney did.

Content to Dodge Spotlight.

It's difficult to believe, unless you see it, but Max Baer at the moment is as serious about his profession as Gene Tunney, the most serious of all the heavyweights, ever was. He has hit the come-back trail with a vengeance.

For the first time since he gained fame as prizefighter he seems happy to be out of the spotlight, content to let the rest of the world sing the praises of Joe Louis, the dark thunderbolt, while he himself grimly prepares to demolish the colored fighter on the night of Sept. 24, 25 or 26, at the Polo grounds in New York.

No Foolin' Now.

"I practically gave my title to Jimmy Braddock," he said after finishing five rounds of harder work than he did in an entire week at Asbury Park, N. J., where he tin-canned through six weeks of tom-foolery before losing the heavyweight championship to the Jersey Irishman.

"But this time I'm not fooling. I'm getting ready to fight a world war all by myself if I have to. I can become the greatest man in the fight game again by knocking out Louis. I can get another shot at Braddock and I can win back the title. I'm going to do all that. I'm going to tear Joe Louis apart."

Baer isn't fooling a bit. He's been here a week. He's worked like a savage. The palms of his hands are covered with callouses, healed blisters from chopping wood.

His wife is here superintending food. His father, Jacob Baer, the original butcher boy of Livermore, Cal., is here with Max's mother. Max does as his dad tells him. So intent are the Baer forces on the comeback campaign that they've even brought Will McCarney up here as the general major domo and field marshal of the camp and training things in general.

Hands to Be O. K.

McCarney goes all the way in heavyweights from Luther McCarty, who was killed by Arthur Pelky in the white hope days, to Max Schmeling, whom he helped manage and train into the heavyweight title and final demolishment by this same Baer.

The great question mark as far as Max is concerned—his hands—has been answered already to the satisfaction of any one who has seen him work out so far. He wears a specially built pad over the one sore knuckle on his left hand that remains of the injuries he suffered before and during the Braddock fight.

He smashed a heavy over-sized bag around for three rounds today, hit it harder than he has done in the past year. He was punching meanly, savagely.

Muskie Fishers Await Autumn Sport in North

BY BOB BECKER.

With the fishing season approaching autumn days when many muskie fishermen go north to try for a big one, devotees of rod and reel still have plenty of time to hunt for a specimen that will top last year's prize winner weighing 49 pounds 8 ounces.

This fish was caught by Benjamin Levitan, Chicago, in the Lake of the Woods, Ontario, a region that has figured in the record muskie catches of most every year. This first prize fish was taken the first week in July on a muskie size plug lure.

Many fishermen deliberately wait until the snappy autumn days arrive before they pick up their heavy rods and head for the waters that produce the muskies. Any number of Chicagoans are in this group that prefers September and October trips for the big 'lunge. This fact reminds us of a remark of an Indian guide in the Flambeau region the other day when we were talking about real big wall-eyes. He said that he'd rather fish for the big fellows in September than in any other month of the year.

So far we have not had word of any muskies caught that tipped the scales enough to beat the 49½ pounder which won the national fishing contest last season. If any midwest angler has connected with a whopper that size or one even close to it, we would like to hear about it.

We know of several muskies weighing around 40 pounds that have been caught. W. C. Dannenberg, Chicago, hooked and landed a 38½ pounder in Chippewa lake near Hayward, but fish in the 40 to 50 pound bracket do not come in with every cast in any stretch of fishing water.

Last year fifth prize in the fishing contest conducted by an eastern magazine was a 43 pounder taken by a woman from Papoose lake in northern Wisconsin. This fish was fooled by a jointed plug lure.

If any fisherman lands a wall-eye between 12 and 14 pounds he'd better weigh it very carefully and observe the other rules of qualifying so that the fish can be entered in a fishing contest, because in any ordinary year wall-eyes of that size will win prizes.

A. A. U. Head Urges U. S. to Skip Olympics

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the American Athletic union and a member of the American Olympic committee, tonight said it was his opinion that unless conditions in Nazi Germany were radically changed at once, United States should not compete in the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin.

". . . I regret to say," the judge said in a radio address, "that irrefutable proof seems to exist that the discriminations in Germany against Jewish athletes have been continued in such a manner as to justify a definite and positive decision by America that she will not participate in the Olympic games in Berlin, unless conditions are radicaly changed at once.

Cites Rules for Qualifying.

"That there has been discrimination against the Jews with respect to their representation in the Olympic games, has been proved beyond a shadow of doubt. Attempt is made to explain this by saying that those who wish to try for the German team are eligible only when they belong to a Nazi athletic organization. In the next breath it is conceded that Jews are not eligible for Nazi athletic organizations. In other words, therefore, due to unfair rulings and discriminations, it is impossible for any Jew to qualify for the Olympic games and no Jew has yet been given a chance to qualify.

"It may be possible that few Jews could make the German Olympic teams, but instead of permitting the natural course to decide events, the Nazi government has stupidly directed action against German Jewish athletes in an un-American, unsportsmanlike, uncharitable, and un-Olympianlike manner."

Recalls 1933 Resolution.

Judge Mahoney said that in 1933 the Amateur Athletic union in annual convention passed a resolution to the effect that if evidence were established against the Nazi government of discrimination against the Jews, that it was the sense of the A. A. U. that America should not compete in the Olympics at Berlin. He suggested that the spirit of that resolution be carried out.

Medinah to Hold White Fez Golf Tourney Today

The Chicago district golf season's busiest week continues today with the national amateur qualifying rounds at Beverly, and White Fez day, annual women's invitational tournament of the Medinah Country club, which is expected to draw a field of more than 300 to the west side plant.

Tomorrow's program, undoubtedly the heaviest of the year, is headed by the 22d annual Club Relations day of the Chicago District Golf association, which will bring together all officials of the member clubs at Glen View. In addition, three invitational tournaments—the North Shore Silver Tassel, Mohawk's Wa-Hoo day, and the Bunker Hill Frolics—also are on the program.

The Illinois Athletic club will conduct its annual tourney at Beverly tomorrow, which also will see the opening of the second anual Illinois junior championship at the Cog-Hill Golf and Country club, 119th street and Archer avenue. Sixty-four will qualify at 36 holes of medal play. The tournament will continue through Sunday. Plans are being made to drive contestants without cars to the club. A call to Tom Murphy at Normal 5417 will result in information on the matter.

Tomorrow also will see the Chicago Women's District Golf association in one of its regular intra-district team match series. Balaban & Katz employés also will have their golf outing at Lincolnshire.

Thursday's schedule is featured by the first annual Imp day of the River Forest Country club, sponsored by the improvement group within the membership. Since it is the only invitational event of the day, it is expected to attract a big field.

On Friday Glen Oak will begin its annual Round-up tourney, which will continue through Saturday.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY FOR WILLAMAN

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Notables of the Ohio football world prepared tonight to pay final homage to Sam Willaman, widely known football coach of Western Reserve university, who died yesterday following an emergency operation for a chronic intestinal ailment.

The funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow on the Western Reserve campus.

Ed Slobe Wins District Caddy Title with 115

Ed Slobe of the Glen Flora Country club shot a 27 hole score of 76—39—115 to win the Chicago district caddy championship from a field of 150 at the Westward Ho Golf club yesterday. The tournament is an annual event sponsored by the Chicago District Golf association.

Young Slobe, who has been toting clubs at Glen Fora for several years finished four strokes ahead of the field. His nearest rival was Peter Trucano of Exmoor who finished with 76—43—119.

Two Westward Ho caddies tied for third. They were Joseph Nardiello with 79—42—121 and Anthony Yario who carded 80—41—121.

The ten low scorers over the 18 hole route were selected for the extra nine hole playoff for the individual championship. The scores of the other shooters in the playoff were:

Roy Doble, Tam O'Shanter	78	44	122
N. P. Chinick, Beverly	81	41	122
Frank Peterson, Elmhurst	79	45	124
Ransom Orl, Exmoor	81	43	124
Frank Susmar, Big Oaks	81	43	124
William Waldron, Beverly	80	45	125

Westward Ho's four man team won the team championship for the second year in succession. The winner's total for 18 holes was 326. Shore Acres placed second with 333. Members of Westward Ho's team and their scores follow:

Joseph Nardiello	40	39	79

CANZONERI WINS FROM KLICK IN 10 ROUND BATTLE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, champion of the lightweights, punched out a convincing ten round victory over Frankie Klick, San Francisco, here tonight. Canzoneri's title was not at stake.

The New Yorker, ruling the lightweights for a second time, battered the San Franciscan around the ring almost at will. Nearly all of the fighting was done by Canzoneri, who forced Klick around the ring steadily and landed jolting punches to the body.

Aggressor all the way and scoring the cleaner punches, Canzoneri won nine rounds. Neither showed much damage when the bout was over, although Klick had a bump under his left eye.

CHASE, ROSCOE WIN AS SENIORS GOLF WITH PROS

Shoot 61 to Lead Field of 52 Twosomes.

The second annual pro seniors tournament, held over No. 1 course at Olympia Fields yesterday, drew a field of 104—twice the size of the inaugural last year—and the scoring was much better. Golfing conditions could not have been better for the seniors, and many of them were a real help to their pro partners.

Samuel T. Chase and Paul Roscoe, an assistant to George Smith of Onwentsia, walked off with low net honors with the score of 85—24—61.

Horton Smith and George C. Davis of Oak Park won low gross, 37—36—73, and Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr and Walter J. Carr, Knollwood, were second with 37—37—74.

MRS. HALL TIES FOR TRAPSHOOT TITLE WITH 198

Vandalia, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Lela Hall of East Lynne, Mo., stepped into a man's game today and stole the show from her masculine opponents for the second straight year as the thirty-sixth Grand American trapshooting program opened.

Mrs. Hall, about 24 years old, and weighing just a bit over 100, broke 198 out of a possible 200 targets to tie for the class B crown, the highest score a woman marksman ever made in big league competition, and then won a shoot-off with Dr. L. E. Botts of Wauseon, O., and Dillie Craig of Berry, Ky., to take the crown.

Last year Mrs. Hall broke 98 out to 100 to finish third in the Grand American, the first woman ever to land in the money in the trapshooting classic.

Seventeen shooters broke their first 100 targets in the class competitions today and six of them broke 200 straight, the greatest scoring spree the meet has ever experienced.

Walter Beaver of Berwyn, Pa., North American clay target champion and Grand American handicap winner in 1933, set a world record for consecutive targets broken with 635. The old mark of 621 was set ten years ago by Boyd Duncan of Lucy, Tenn.

JAPANESE BEAT U. S. SWIMMERS IN 3 DAY MEET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—The touring American swimming team was defeated by Japan, 36 to 27 when the Japanese team won three of the four events on the final program of the three day meet tonight. The winners broke a world's record, covering the 800 meter free style relay in 8:52.2, bettering the mark of 8:58.4, established in the Olympic games at Los Angeles three years ago.

Japan's record-breaking team was composed of Masanori Yusa, Ishi Harada, S. Makino, and Hiroshi Negami. They raced against Peter Fick of the New York Athletic club; John Macionis, Philadelphia, Art Lindegren, Hollywood, and Jack Medica, Seattle.

Fifteen thousand spectators, including Princes Takamatsu and Sumi and Princess Takamatsu, watched the meet. Medica, who scored a close victory over Negami in the 400 meter race yesterday, lost to the Japanese swimmer in the 800 meter free style event tonight. Negami won by a slight margin, covering the distance in 10:02.4.

Coach of Champion Quincy Five Signs at Proviso

Selmar Storby, whose baseball teams at Quincy High school won five district championships, two sectional titles, and the state championship in 1934, has signed to coach the Proviso High school quintet in Maywood next season.

WELSH, SIMONS VICTORS IN U. S. PARKS TENNIS

New Orleans, La., Aug. 19.—(AP)—All favorites advanced to second and third round matches in the opening play of the national public parks tennis tournament today.

Barnard Welsh from Washington, D. C., breezed through his second round encounter with Richard Uible of Norwood, O., 6-0, 6-4, 6-1. Second seeded Arnold Simons of Louisville, Ky., twice public parks champion, eliminated Brent Baxter of Cleveland, O., 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

William Schommer of Minneapolis, Big Ten champion, Ted Drewes of St. Louis and Ralph McElvenny of Washington, seeded third, fourth and fifth, advanced similarly. Schommer downed Ward Parker, St. Louis, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2; Drewes eliminated James Ratliff, Cincinnati, O., 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, and McElvenny defeated Hobart Wrobbel, Detroit, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

O'Mahoney Triumphs Over Cox in Straight Falls

NETTLOW WINS OVER MICHAELS IN PRO DEBUT

Baby Manuel, Tampa, Fla., 125½ pounds, won the decision over Henry Hook, Indianapolis, Ind., 123¼, in a slow eight round bout last night at Marigold Gardens. Between the sixth and seventh rounds Referee Davey Miller warned both boys to do more fighting.

Al Nettlow, 1935 International Golden Gloves featherweight champion, now fighting under the colors of the Catholic Youth organization, defeated Tony Michaels in four rounds in one of the best matches on the card. Michaels was floored for a short count in the final round.

YANKEES POUND SORRELL TO WIN FROM TIGERS, 7-5

Cut Detroit Lead to Seven Games.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The New York Yankees snapped their losing streak at three games today as they turned back the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 5, in the third game of the series before an overflow crowd of 32,000. The defeat cut the Tigers' margin over the Yanks to seven games.

George Selkirk made five hits, including two ground rule doubles, in five times at bat, drove in four runs and scored three times. Red Rolfe, Tony Lazzeri and Johnny Broaca were the only members of the team who failed to connect safely as New York pounded Vic Sorrell and two second string hurlers for 16 hits.

The Yankees lost no time going to the front. They counted three times on four hits, two of them doubles by Selkirk and Lou Gehrig, in the first inning off Vic Sorrell, who was making his first start since beating the New Yorkers July 23.

INDIANS, 11; SENATORS, 5.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Hal Trosky's home run with the bases full in the eighth inning helped the Cleveland Indians defeat the Washington Senators today, 11 to 5. The game was finished under protest by Manager Steve O'Neill of Cleveland after the Indians' shortstop, Bill Knickerbocker, hit a long fly in the first inning. The ball stuck between lattice work of the right field screen and Knickerbocker raced around the bases, scoring Hale. Umpire Dinneen sent Knickerbocker back to second base and O'Neill filed notice that Cleveland was finishing the game under protest.

Giants Go Ten Innings to Win from Reds, 4-3

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The New York Giants took advantage of the Cardinals' idleness today and increased their lead to three full games as they came from behind to whip the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3, in ten innings.

Dick Bartell, who collected three hits, made the deciding hit after the league leaders had tied the score in the eighth. With one out in the tenth, the Giants got to Tony Freitas as Mel Ott walked and Mark Koenig came through with a single.

Sox Win Over Macks, 7-2, but Then Lose, 8-4

Johnson Gets Around Again.

Johnson scored the second and final run for Philadelphia. He led off the ninth with his third straight hit, a single to left, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Foxx's single to left center. Higgins lined to Radcliff and McNair singled to center, Foxx pulling up at second. Newsom forced McNair and Berry ended the inning with a fly to Simmons.

SECOND GAME

Two were out before the Sox got busy in the second inning of the second game. After Appling had lined to Johnson and Washington had tapped to Foxx, Dykes lined a single to left and trotted home when Hayes hit his No. 4 homer against the upper balustrade of the left field stand. Shea and Tietje followed with line singles to left, but Radcliff lined to Finney.

The Sox loaded the bases to no avail in the third. After Simmons had popped to Warstler, Piet reached first when Mahaffey dropped Foxx's toss at first base. Appling singled to left. Washington outfoxed the double play betters by flying to Cramer for the second out. Dykes walked, filling the bases. Hayes flied to Finney.

A's Hammer Tietje.

The A's fell on Tietje rather forcefully in the fifth. Richards opened with the A's second hit off Tietje, a single to left. Mahaffey fouled to Piet, but Finney drew Tietje's fourth pass. Cramer singled to right, scoring Richards and putting Finney on third. Johnson lined to Radcliff, Finney scoring after the catch. Foxx cleared the left field score board with his No. 23 homer, scoring behind Cramer. Tietje tossed out Higgins.

With two out in the ninth Simmons doubled to right and went home when Piet knocked his No. 3 homer into the left field stands. Appling was safe on Warstler's fumble, but Washington popped to Warstler to end the game.

Kennedy, Phelps Named to Pitch for Sox Today

The Athletics this afternoon will say their 1935 farewell to Chicago in a double-header with the White Sox. Vernon Kennedy and Babe Phelps are scheduled to pitch for the Sox and Carl Doyle and George Blaeholder are picked to go for the visitors.

Though he started the day by hitting into a double play, Washington showed marked improvement thereafter in his putouts. Of his nine failures four went to the outfield.

Zeke Bonura and Mule Haas, the Sox's two major cripples, were in uniform yesterday and ran around a bit. Zeke expects to be in the Washington series, though he may not play in the opener tomorrow.

Simmons, not altogether pleased with having his named linked with Washington as a "power house twin," found the sure way of shaking off the insult. During the day he made two doubles and a single, not a great day for a double-header, but infinitly better than he had been doing.

VOSMIK GAINS FOUR POINTS IN BIG SIX BATTING

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

While only one member of the National league trio was seeing action yesterday, the American league members of baseball's big six engaged in a lively scrap for battings honors and ended the day with four players closely bunched. Joe Vosmik pounded out three hits in four times at bat to gain four points and go into a tie with Roger Cramer, each with an average of .346. Cramer connected with three hits in a double-header to hold his ground. Only a point behind the pair trailed Hank Greenberg and Buddy Myer.

Shoun's Debut Success; Cubs Beat Phils, 2-1

when Allen singled in the third but two were gone at the time and nothing happened. Then in the fourth Shoun encountered real difficulties. Vergez singled, Haslin flied to left and Camilli singled, putting Vergez on third. Wilson laid down a perfect bunt for a squeeze play, but Vergez was so slow in starting that it was a simple matter for Hack to throw him out at the plate. Bowman walked, filling the bases, but Lindstrom made another extensive run and pulled in Gomez's long fly.

Hack Gets to 2d Base.

Hack walked to open the sixth, and this confirmed the Cubs' suspicions that there really were bases somewhere in the park. Jurges foozled a couple of bunts and finished with a fly to Allen. Hack stole his way to second, after which Shoun lined into Vergez' hands. Then Galan, with a 3 and 2 count, flied to Watkins in left.

Shoun had another job on his hands in the home half of the sixth. He walked Haslin with one out. Camilli tapped to Hack, whose throw to Herman forced Haslin at second. A double play was possible, but Herman let the ball fall out of his hand and the Phils promptly claimed Haslin should be safe at second. Umpire Barr assured them they were wrong, whereupon Manager Wilson announced he would continue under protest. Wilson then went back to the plate and doubled against the left field fence, Camilli halting at third. Bowman ended the inning by popping to Jurges.

Herman Gets 45th Double.

Everything looked fine for the Cubs in the seventh when Herman lined the first pitch into left center for his 45th double of the year and the first hit off Bowman. The hit apparently caused a panic. Klein also took hold of the first pitch and sailed it into right center for a single. Instead of stopping at third with none out, Herman, after a slow start from second, tried to score. Allen's throw to Wilson nailed him before he was within six feet of the plate. The pain continued with Hartnett striking out and Moore sprinting in to make a one handed shoestring catch of Lindstrom's low liner.

With two out in the eighth Jurges bounced to Haslin. The latter then made the bad throw that started the Cubs on their way. O'Dea batted for Shoun and doubled over first base, Jurges stopping at third. A pass to Galan filled the bases and that was the finish of Bowman. Johnson took over the job and whipped across two strikes on Herman, but the next pitch sailed into center for a single, Jurges and O'Dea scoring. Klein then popped out foul for the third time.

All the Phillies did in their eighth was to fill the bases with one out. Moore rolled to Cavarretta after which Vergez and Haslin singled off French. Vergez stole third when French forgot himself and wound up. Camilli walked, loading the bases, and Carleton came galloping to the rescue of the southpaw. He fanned Wilson and Todd, batting for Johnson, bounced out to Herman.

Cardinals Open Drills with 3 Hour Workout

Three hours of practice greeted the Chicago Cardinals football squad yesterday at Mills stadium, where the Red Birds took their first workout of the season under the direction of Milan Creighton, new player coach. Limbering up exercises was the major work in the morning and afternoon sessions.

Coach Creighton is impressed with the possibilities of Homer Hanson, Kansas State star, who plays center and guard; Tom Busby, Kansas State half back; Hal Pangle, Oregon State back, and Red White, half back from Colorado State.

Gil Berry, who starred at Illinois and will make his debut in professional football as a member of the Cardinals, will report for practice Thursday. Another double bill is booked for today.

The players had a lot of pep yesterday morning and were agreeably surprised when their work, after the hour of instruction in the squad room, was confined to wind sprints and a relay race. The boys chose sides for the speed test, and with only a minimum of cheating on the starts, ran off the wholesale dash, with Cotton Warburton's relay team winning by a couple of yards. The afternoon session was devoted to review of the offense with drill in timing the plays.

Today practices are scheduled for morning and night.

Wonder if It Hurt?

Rocco Schiralli, guard, and Bohn Hilliard, half back, visited the dentist in the morning. Others skipped the outdoor work to keep appointments with Carl Erickson, the trainer, who is busy with treatments for the hospital group.

Chuck Mucha, Washington guard who expects to play with the Chicago Bears after the all-star game, has just about recovered from the severe cuts over his eye received in the first practice when he bumped heads with Bill Bevan. George Maddox, Kansas State tackle, is within a couple days of recovery from a twisted knee. Ray Fuqua's toe, injured early last week, will not keep the fleet Southern Methodist end from scrimmage more than another day, it was reported yesterday.

Inky Wotkyns, Southern California full back, who suffered a slight concussion in scrimmage is counting the days until he can return to the lineup. Big Stan Kostka, Minnesota's battering full back, has a badly bruised left shoulder but it is responding to treatment. Kostka will be ready to meet the Bears. You couldn't tie him to the bench.

Bears Again Put in Drill on Offense

Mills field is equipped for night football and Halas is anxious to have the men become accustomed to the lights. If sufficient night drills can be held in this neighborhood, Halas will not take the Bears into Chicago until the day of the game. Otherwise they will break camp in time for one or two practices on Soldiers' field.

Cripples Back Today.

There was marked improvement among the cripples and ailing today and Halas expected to have a complete squad available for tomorrow's scrimmage. Jules Carlson, who has been down with influenza, was allowed to get up today and work out. Several other members of the squad complained of head colds and were turned over to Dr. Joe Kopcha, the veteran guard, who divides his time between defending his position against Joe Zeller and Jim McMillen and administering to the sick.

Kopcha announced last night he had received permission to remain with the Bears throughout the season. He was appointed to an internship in a Detroit hospital last winter and for a time there was some doubt whether he could obtain a leave of absence.

His return alleviates much of the apprehension over the line. Kopcha is regarded as one of the best guards in the National league and his presence in the lineup means a maximum of strength where it will be needed to stop Stan Kostka, Minnesota full back, on bucks and such ball carriers as Bill Shepperd of Western Maryland and Al Nichelini of St. Mary's, on spinners and cut back plays inside of tackle.

Play Softball Tonight.

The Bears will be the guests of the Oconomowoc, Wis., Rotary club at a dinner tomorrow night and afterwards will play the club's soft ball team in a seven inning twilight game. It was necessary for Halas to appoint a pitcher for the Bears when word spread that the Oconomowoc team was composed of sluggers. The fourteen applicants who nearly had a fight over the honor when the game was first scheduled, suddenly decided they were shortstops and second basemen. Ted Rosequist was ordered to fan Oconomowoc because he had admitted once last season that he had the best fadeaway in Painesville, O.

BY FRENCH LANE.

"There will be plenty of coal in the cellar and plenty of flour in the bin and all I'll have to do this winter is toast my feet."

Thus spoke the bailif-turfman Ike Weil at Lincoln Fields at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon while others in the crowd of 8,500 gazed in alarm at a cloudy sky and made ready to do some foot racing in the event low hanging clouds started to weep.

Indeed the bailif-turfman was in rare humor and indeed he was satisfied with life. There was a reason of course. That reason was the bailif-turfman's fleet footed filly Slim Rosie.

"She Can't Lose," and Doesn't.

He had sent Rosie to the races again yesterday and started her in the Sheridan Road purse at 6 furlongs. "She can't lose," Weil told everybody who asked him about the race.

His confidence reflected in the betting, for Slim Rosie went to the post as the 1 to 2 favorite.

Yet Weil was correct in everything he said. Slim Rosie did not lose. She did not come even close to losing. She darted to the front as the barrier went up and played with those behind her from start to finish.

Wins by Three Lengths.

At the end, after running 6 furlongs over a difficult track in 1:14, she was leading by the comfortable margin of 3 lengths and showed no desire whatever to drop back and be sociable with her trailers.

Tabitha finished second and Ald. Coughlin's Advantage was third. The others could have done just as well had they remained in their stalls. Slim Rosie paid off at $3 for a $2 ticket.

Slim Rosie has been one of the most consistent performers of the year in Chicago. This was her tenth start of the season. She has won five of those engagements, has been second twice, once third, and out of the money only twice. Her earnings for the year are $8,215.

If patience is one of the requisites of a good horse trainer then young Buddy Hirsch, son of Max Hirsch of New York, is going to be a great horseman when he grows up.

Swiftsport Comes Through.

Young Buddy has been trying all year to make the 4 year old Swiftsport win a race. Seven times he had started him before he entered him in the Oakwood Boulevard purse yesterday. And seven times he thought Swiftsport would win. Just as often as he got into that frame of mind Swiftsport disappointed him.

Still when the Oakwood came up yesterday Young Hirsch told his friends, "this horse has got to win this race. He's ready at last."

His predictions came true. Sure enough Swiftsport was ready and sure enough he was in a running mood. He took the track soon after the mile skirmish started. The race was as good as ever.

Takes Three Lengths Lead.

He enjoyed a lead of three lengths for a time. Going out of the back stretch he pulled away into a lead of four lengths. When he hit the home stretch he was six lengths in front. The folks who had wagered on him at odds of a little better than 2 to 1 took things easy and fanned themselves.

Passing the winning post Swiftsport was ten lengths in front of Blessed Event. Gilbert Elston was third. The favorite Silent Shot failed to be a contender at any stage and finished fifth.

Winner trained by J. Bainton. Went to post at 2:16. At post 3 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

MIGHTY QUICK, much the best under prevailing track conditions and badly jostled about approaching far turn, raced to the lead with a rush after going to outside and, coming strongly, won with something left. CARNELIAN, taken care repeatedly the first five-eighths, improved her position fast after going to outside on stretch turn and closed well under hand riding. DANDY JAY, forced to lose much ground, weakened after three-quarters, but outlasted LUCY DEAR.

MISS WISE, under pressure throughout and on inside the first five-eighths, came again mildly, outfinishing LOVESICK in closing strides. Latter, away fast, came away after reaching stretch, but weakened badly in last sixteenth. STOUT HEART, raced wide much of the race, held on fairly well.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 4-5, :48, 1:01 3-5, 1:08 4-5. Weather cloudy; track slow. Two dollar mutuels paid: Cardarone, $14.00 straight, $6.00 place, $4.60 show; Miss Subway, $20.40 place, $17.40 show; Oriental Miss, $23.00 show. Winner trained by L. Merrigold. Went to post at 3:43. At post 2 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

CARDARONE, under strong restraint for three-eighths, came through on inside when responding to light pressure in stretch and swerved out while drawing clear in last sixteenth. MISS SUBWAY displayed good speed for the going from the start, readily gave way to winner in final eighth and appeared beaten before winner forced her wide in late stages. ORIENTAL MISS had speed from the start and was raced wide the final five-sixteenths.

Winner trained by W. J. Hirsch. Went to post at 4:12½; off at once. Start good from Bylodyne gate. Won easily; place driving.

SWIFTSPORT took command quickly, but with ease, was shaken up soon after reaching stretch and maintained fine speed for the going to the end, yet had little in reserve. BLESSED EVENT saved ground where possible the first three-quarters and held on creditably. GILBERT ELSTON, on inside throughout, weakened after seven-eighths.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

SLIM ROSIE, away fast, drew clear gradually and without need of strong urging easily increased her advantage on stretch turn and, continuing well, held sway thereafter. TABITHA, forced back by ADVANTAGE on far turn, came to outside on stretch turn and closed well in the fine effort. ADVANTAGE, quick to get going, bore over slightly on far turn and gave way slowly when under strong riding the final three-sixteenths.

WHIPPERCRACKER, lucky to get through on inside throughout, closed with determination and was up in final stride. THE BREAK, well up from the start, took command quickly as INTERPRETER and PACIFIC COAST went wide entering the stretch, but, unable to maintain an inside berth, though holding on with good courage, failed to last. INTERPRETER, probably best and showing speed from the start, ran out badly entering stretch and held on well when straight.

Winner trained by E. Jebbinn. Went to post at 5:32. At post 2½ minutes. Start good. Won handily; place driving.

SWEET CHARIOT, forced wide on first turn, took command easily after reaching final half mile, kept under light pressure, won decisively, but with little left. BLACK NOSE, a factor throughout, held on gamely. QUIVER began to move up after five-eighths, saved ground on stretch turn and stood a drive gamely.

DU PONT BOOSTS DIVIDEND RATE; PAYS 35c EXTRA

Establishes Basis of $3.60 Yearly.

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. today declared an extra dividend of 35 cents a share and increased the regular quarterly dividend on the common stock to 90 cents from 65 cents. The dividends, which are both payable Sept. 14 to holders of record Aug. 28, bring payments so far this year on the common stock to $2.55 a share, or only 55 cents a share less than the total disbursed in dividends for the full year of 1934.

The 65 cent quarterly rate had been in effect since September, 1934, when directors lifted the annual dividend basis from $2. An extra of 25 cents was paid in the last quarter of 1934, and in the third quarter an additional disbursement of 50 cents was made.

Redistribute Dividends.

The boost in the quarterly rate to the highest level since 1931 reflects the policy of the company to distribute its increased returns from investments, which are mostly in General Motors corporation. Recently the company, which owns 23 per cent stock interest in General Motors, or about 10,000,000 shares, benefited by an increase in the latter's dividend basis from $1 per annum to $2 and an extra dividend of 25 cents.

Payment of the increased regular dividend and the extra will entail an expenditure of about $13,800,000.

Du Pont had net income of $22,450,485 for the first half of this year, compared with $23,553,598 in the same 1934 period. The net was equal to $1.73 a share on the common stock against $1.85 a year ago. The second quarter was slightly better than the first, profitwise. Net in the June period was equal to 88 cents a share on the common. In the first quarter per share earnings were 85 cents.

Income to Be Higher.

During the first half of this year, when General Motors was on a $1 annual dividend basis, du Pont's 10,000,000 share interest netted the large chemical unit about $5,000,000 in dividends. With the increased rate the returns in the final two quarters this year will be materially larger.

Du Pont derives almost half of its earnings from investment in General Motors. In the five years ended 1934 dividends received from General Motors represented 44 per cent of total earnings, while returns from operation of its chemical manufacturing units were 46 per cent. The other 10 per cent was derived from miscellaneous sources.

MARSHALL FIELD STORE ON WHEELS EN ROUTE TO EAST

Marshall Field & Co.'s store on wheels departed from Chicago late Sunday night on a trip through eastern territory, which will take it as far as Pittsburgh. The train was in Chicago on the completion of its trip through the northwest only long enough to take on supplies and rearrange merchandise.

The store on wheels limits its activities to the wholesale field, taking orders from stores in the territory in which it travels. The trip into eastern territory is expected to last about two weeks. Early in September the train, which is completely air conditioned, is scheduled to go out on a long trip into western and southwestern territory.

Officials of the company indicated that sales on the journey into the northwest were beyond expectations. It is reported that at Minneapolis train salesmen booked orders in excess of $100,000.

Spain Issues Small Bills to Bar Silver Speculation

MADRID, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Spanish government, seeking to safeguard Spain's silver holdings from private speculators, has prepared 5 and 10 peseta certificates. Minister of the Treasury Chapaprieta said the move was decided upon "when silver increased greatly in value to the point where we feared the intrinsic value of the 5 peseta duro might surpass its face value." Since in Spain all banknotes can be exchanged for silver, there was risk that silver would be sold outside the country, he added.

Trade Failures Decrease in Week; Above Last Year

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Business defaults during the week ended Aug. 16 totaled 203, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today, compared with 219 in the preceding week. Contrasted with the same week last year, when 197 failures were reported, there was a small increase, but during recent weeks of this year the number of failures has been on the decline.

Crowley Talk on FDIC Plan Stirs Bankers

BY HOWARD WOOD.

As congress yesterday ended months of bickering over the banking bill of 1935 by approving it in final form and sending it to the White House for the President's signature, bankers were discussing with much interest the warning against unsound banking issued Sunday by Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

The new banking legislation contains provisions making the FDIC permanent. Up to the present the deposit insurance plan has been operating under a temporary program.

* *

Ninety-three per cent of the banks of the nation, including all of the important institutions, belong to the FDIC. Under the new law each of them will be assessed an amount equal to 1-12 of 1 per cent of their deposits annually for membership. Based on their aggregated deposits of 39 billion dollars at the beginning of this year the FDIC would drain out about 312 millions per year from these banks in assessments. The assessments will be larger as deposits increase.

But even this levy, says Chairman Crowley, will not make the FDIC sufficiently solvent to meet its future obligations. He estimates that the assessments should be 1-5 of 1 per cent, more than double the amount called for in the new legislation. He bases his calculation on records of bank failures dating back to the cival war.

* *

Crowley should be "sold" on the deposit insurance idea if any one is, because he runs it. But he has doubts.

"Deposit insurance has brought changes in the operation of the commercial banking system, the effects of which have not yet become fully apparent," he said in his report. "By the very fact that the corporation offers security to depositors, the force of local pressure for pursuing sound banking practices tends to be diminished."

His report discloses that some of the banks that have been admitted to membership in the FDIC are still undercapitalized and that bad management and fraud continue to precipitate bank closings.

Crowley's uneasiness about the deposit insurance program is not difficult to understand. He sits in Washington with a corporation holding 328 million dollars which it has collected from the treasury, the federal reserve banks, and commercial banks. This 328 millions looks big in his annual statement, but it represents less than 1 per cent of the total deposits in his 14,124 insured member banks.

* *

This 328 millions, together with the additional amounts to be derived from yearly assessments, would doubtless be ample if all bank managements would continue to operate as they have been operating since the moratorium, making loans and investments cautiously.

But Crowley sees a dangerous psychology developing. The very fact that the banks have been insured has lulled public watchfulness to sleep. Depositors are inclined to believe that whatever the sins of management they can be protected by the insurance. And borrowers, political and otherwise, are inclined to put pressure on the banks to make more "liberal" loans, arguing that the necessity for extreme liquidity passed when the depositors were reassured by the deposit insurance scheme.

* *

Crowley, who can see the whole panorama from where he sits, is worried about this tendency. His statement indicates that he sees a relaxation of local watchfulness, a gradual breaking down of safeguards.

"The solvency of banks in the future, as in the past, while dependent in part upon the soundness of individual bank management, will be controled in large measure by general economic conditions and monetary and credit developments," he said.

With 44 per cent of the total loans and investments of American banks in United State government bonds, a drop of a few points in the market prices of government bonds alone could throw a great potential strain on the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation with its 328 millions of assets. And if, as Crowley reports, "local pressure for pursuing sound banking practices tends to be diminished" a further strain from that source will be thrown on the FDIC.

July Sales of Flat Rolled Steel 50 Pct. Above June

The National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers reports sheet steel sales for July at 206,313 tons, representing 68.2 per cent of the industry's capacity. This compares with 128,957 tons or 42.9 per cent of capacity in June. July production totaled 145,505 tons, against 143,309 in the previous month; unfilled tonnage as of Aug. 1 was 170,299 tons, compared with 112,944 tons on July 1.

Cut in 12 Cent Cotton Loan Rate Likely

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Renewal of the government's cotton loan program on the basis of 10 or 11 cents a pound, instead of the 12 cent basis of last year, appeared probable tonight. President Roosevelt spent most of the afternoon in conference with cabinet members and other officials concerned with this program, but there was no intimation by conferees as to trend of the discussion.

Roosevelt talked with Secretary Morgenthau, Daniel W. Bell Jr., acting director of the budget, Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Secretary Wallace.

The administration has been subjected to hard pressure to maintain the level of the cotton market by continuance of 12 cent loans, chief advocate of which has been Senator Bankhead.

Confirm Intention to Renew.

Although there has been confirmation that the loan program would be renewed, it has been noted that if it were abandoned it would mark the first major break in the continuing policies of the administration.

Cotton loans on the basis of 12 cents a pound were put into effect for the 1934 crop by President Roosevelt under authority conferred in the Bankhead act. This act also conferred authority for renewal of the loan program for the 1935 crop.

Program Expired Aug. 1.

The 1934 cotton loan program expired Aug. 1, and since then cotton markets have manifested uncertainty caused by the delay in disclosing the government's future position. A decision is expected soon, as marketing of the 1935 crop will be started in about two weeks.

Fears that the loan policy might be abandoned were expressed generally when the cotton crop forecast for 1935 indicated production of 11,798,000 bales, a figure considerably above what had been anticipated.

NATIONAL TEA REPORTS SALES BELOW YEAR AGO

The National Tea company yesterday reported a decline in consolidated store sales during the four weeks ended Aug. 10 compared with a year ago. The total was $4,297,939, against $4,404,117, a decrease of $106,178, or 2.32 per cent. In the 32 weeks ended Aug. 10 sales amounted to $37,842,306, compared with $36,922,255 in the corresponding period of last year, a gain of 2.5 per cent. The number of stores in operation on Aug. 10 was 1,224, against 1,244 a year ago.

Sales of the Melville Shoe corporation for the four weeks ended Aug. 3 amounted to $1,377,870, compared with with $1,283,701 in the corresponding period of 1934, an increase of 7.3 per cent. For the 32 weeks ended Aug. 3 sales were $17,768,160, a gain of 14.2 per cent over the $15,549,185 in the like period last year.

Chicago Stock Exchange Seat Price Up to $4,200

Arrangements were completed yesterday for sale of a membership on the Chicago Stock exchange for $4,200. This was $200 higher than the last previous sale.

RISE IN ADVERTISING IN JULY REFLECTS GAINS IN BUSINESS

Indicative of improvement in business was a 10.2 per cent gain for July in financial advertising as compared with July, 1934, Advertising Age announced yesterday. Total newspaper advertising volume in July, according to an analysis of the records of newspapers in 84 cities, was 4.5 per cent larger for the month than in 1934. The total for July was 127,687,000 lines, an increase of 5,488,000 lines.

General advertising, reflecting expanded sales promotion effort by national advertisers, rose 9.5 per cent, going up to 24,964,000 lines from 22,781,000 lines in the corresponding month of last year.

A sharp gain was recorded in classified advertising which increased 11.4 per cent, or 2,350,000 lines, from July, 1934. Retail advertising gained 2,145,000 lines, or about 3 per cent.

Automotive advertising was the only important classification which registered a loss in July. The decline here was 905,000 lines, or 8.8 per cent. The downturn was attributed to automobile production difficulties.

URGE INSOLVENCY ORDER FOR OLD MEDINAH CLUB

A recommendation that the old Medinah Athletic club, 505 North Michigan, be declared insolvent, was contained in a report prepared by Special Master in Chancery George E. Q. Johnson for Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, completed yesterday. If the recommendation is accepted it was said that sponsors will be permitted to go through with reorganization under the provisions of section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act. The old stockholders will be out of the picture. The club is now called the Medinah Club of Chicago.

In his report Master Johnson listed $7,251,665 of liabilities, including: First mortgage, $4,200,000; unpaid interest on the first mortgage, $1,260,000; second mortgage, $835,961; claims of unsecured creditors, $655,704, and unpaid taxes, $300,000. Experts acting for Johnson, estimated assets at $4,151,784 to $5,404,650.

Attorney Michael Gesas, representing holders of the second mortgage, said a reorganization plan will be submitted to Judge Woodward on the judge's return from his vacation.

STEEL OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE WEEK OF FEB. 18

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Steel operations this week will average 48.8 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. This is the highest level reached in the industry since the week of Feb. 18 this year.

The gain over last week is .7 of 1 point. A month ago the schedule was 42.2 per cent, while at this time last year it was 21.3 per cent.

Ethiopia's Trade Shrinks as War Looms

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The worst business situation in two decades today confronted Ethiopia as she prepared for possible war with Italy, the United States department of commerce reported today.

"This condition was attributed primarily to current political developments, although the continued weak demand and the low price level of the country's leading export products were also important contributing factors," the report said.

Another department report noted that recent Italian government decrees have authorized the erection of several new chemical plants and the extension of others in Italy.

Will Produce Many Chemicals.

"These new and extended plants," the report said, "will manufacture a wide line of chemicals, including vanillin, bromide, cyanides, acids, phosphorous, coal tar intermediates, and paint materials."

In summarizing the Ethiopian business situation the department said:

"Imports during the first five months of 1935 totaled 10,502 metric tons, compared with 14,025 in the same period of 1934; practically all the principal items [salt, gray sheetings, and other textiles; building material, sugar, and glassware], with the exception of automobiles and petroleum products, showed declines.

"Although this period [dry season] is behind an active business season, there was a steady liquidation of stocks by importers and few orders were placed.

Exports Gain Earlier in Year.

"Exports showed a gain of 17.5 per cent over the first five months of 1934, the respective figures being 16,690 and 14,198 metric tons; monetary returns, on the other hand, were estimated 15 per cent below 1934. The average drop in price level of local products was estimated at 5 per cent, whereas import prices showed slight changes.

"Because of the general uncertainty, local trade has been conducted almost entirely on a cash basis, with credit restrictions becoming more severe. The credit situation was further unsettled by the failure of two important coffee exporters; the coffee market was weakened by the accumulated stock for foreign demand and an anticipated record crop."

U. S. STEEL PLANS 20 MILLION GARY PLANT ADDITION

Program Will Start Next Year.

The United States Steel corporation announced yesterday a second appropriation of $20,000,000 to complete the enlargement and modernization of plants of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, a subsidiary at Gary, Ind.

Because the 1935 program of expansion and improvements on the Gary sheet and tin mills, now in progress with night and day crews, is not expected to be completed before the end of the year, officials of the steel corporation explained that the new program will not be instituted until 1936.

Seek to Broaden Capacity.

This large scale expansion which U. S. Steel has been carrying out through all its Gary plants during the last five years is attributed by mill men to a number of reasons. Chief among these is the need of the company to broaden its ability to fill orders for sheet steel from the automotive industry.

It is also taken by some observers as U. S. Steel's answer to the challenge of Inland Steel company and Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., two leading Chicago steel companies whose merger was announced Aug. 5. This new combine sets up an organization with assets of $117,000,000, making it the seventh ranking company in the steel industry.

When the 1935 and 1936 expansion programs of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company are completed the sheet and tin mills are expected to be the largest in the world. Already the tin mills are rated the largest. The major part of the new appropriation will go for modernizing and extending the sheet mills.

Plan New Type Mill.

The $20,000,000 will be used principally in the construction of a new kind of cold reduction units of the tandem type. The sheet and tin mills now each have units known as the reversing type, by which the sheets of metal are rolled through in one direction and then back again. The tandem type machines have only a forward motion. Mill men say this improved unit turns out the same product much faster.

According to the announcement yesterday U. S. Steel will spend $12,500,000 on sheet mills and $7,500,000 on tin mills.

For some time, officials of the company explained, the mills at Gary have not been able to turn out a completely finished product. Much of the sheet steel, after rolling, has had to be sent for finishing to the American Sheet and Tin Plate company plants at Farrell, Pa. With the new units and modernization of the old ones the entire product will be turned out at Gary.

MORE RAILROADS REPORT BETTER TRAFIC TRENDS

Four more leading carriers yesterday reported a more favorable showing in freight trafic last week. The Chicago and North Western moved 26,720 cars, which was 1,728 above the preceding week and only 312 cars below the total of a year ago.

The Baltimore and Ohio reported gains over both comparative periods with a total of 37,691 cars, against 37,186 in the preceding week and 37,262 cars a year ago. Milwaukee loadings were well above those of the preceding week and only 10 cars under the year ago figures, the total for the week being 26,525 cars, against 24,527 and 26,535.

Union of Two Gypsum Firms Now Assured

Merger of the Universal Gypsum and Lime company of Chicago with the National Gypsum company of Buffalo, N. Y., is virtually assured, it became known yesterday. Consolidation of the two companies will produce the second largest gypsum company in the country, second only to the United States Gypsum company.

E. A. Webber, executive vice president and a director of Universal, said yesterday that more than 51 per cent of the preferred and common stock necessary has been deposited. As the additional issue of class A stock necessary for the merger has been registered with the Securities and Exchange commission all that now remains is for National Gypsum to ratify the contract and exchange the stock.

Deal Discussed for Five Years.

Webber explained that merger of the two companies has been under discussion at intervals over a period of five years.

General offices of Universal here likely will be moved to Buffalo soon after the merger is completed, Webber said, although an important sales office will be maintained in Chicago.

Universal became involved in financial difficulties after the start of a price war in the gypsum field in 1927 and 1928 and its troubles were heightened by the advent of the depression which curtailed building operations, Webber said.

Plants in East Busy.

Webber said that National Gypsum's plants in the east have been working at capacity, and Universal plants in the area helped to provide for the demand.

The exchange of stock will involve approximately 68,000 shares of National common and 8,800 shares of preferred stock. The plan provides that holders of the $60 par cumulative preferred stock of Universal will receive one-half share of National 7 per cent, $100 par, preferred stock for each share held. One and one-half shares of National common will be issued to Universal shareholders for each ten shares of Universal now held.

It was said that as a result of the merger plans, bonds of Universal which about two months ago were selling at $20 are now selling at $100.

REALTY TRUSTEE REMOVED; NEVER SAW PROPERTIES

Cyrus F. Campe, real estate broker, 2040 Chase avenue, said yesterday that never during three years that he had been trustee for nine apartment buildings had he visited any of the properties, made any accounting to the receiver or to the courts, or personally collected any rents. These assertions were made from the witness stand in Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski's court.

Campe appeared to oppose the petition for his removal filed by John E. Sullivan, attorney for the receiver of the properties, which are valued at nearly $100,000. The real estate man said all details of management, and collection and distribution of all funds from the buildings were handled by an agent whom he seldom saw. The judge then granted the removal petition and announced he would select a successor trustee from a list of candidates to be submitted by the bondholders today.

During the hearing of Campe's testimony Judge Klarkowski held Attorney Walter P. Murphy, counsel for Campe, in contempt of court and fined him $100. This ruling followed Murphy's demand for a change of venue after the judge's order was entered. The fine was remitted after Murphy apologized.

Chevrolet Sales Heavy in First 10 Days of August

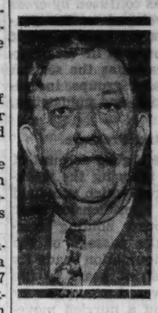
Retail sales of Chevrolet cars and trucks for the first ten days of August totaled 26,359 units, a record for this period since 1929. In the same ten days last year sales aggregated 17,791 units.

BAN SOUGHT ON SPECULATION OF CONGRESSMEN

Charge Use of Inside Information.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—President Roosevelt has been asked by the department of agriculture to prevent speculation in commodity markets by government employés and to make a "left-handed" attempt to stop similar speculation by congressmen, it was learned today.



Sen. E. D. Smith.

The move was precipitated by alleged speculation by members of congress in cotton and other commodity markets and by the revival of reports of speculation by employés in the executive branch of the government.

Congressmen, it is charged, have been playing the markets on the advance knowledge of how prices may be affected by pending legislation or by policies which the senators and representatives may be able to force upon the administration.

Cotton Pegging Example.

A current example is said to be the drive by senators to force the government to declare a pegging of next year's cotton prices at 12 cents a pound.

Employés in the executive departments, on the other hand, have been discovered playing the markets on advance information obtained in compiling crop condition reports and similar government announcements of importance to prices. Those discovered were discharged and none of the offenses has been recent, it is said.

To help put an end to such speculation by congressmen and officials, the department of agriculture has asked Roosevelt to recommend to congress a bill prohibiting trading in commodity markets by employés of the executive departments, according to reports.

Roosevelt has been asked to put the bill up to congress in such a way that, although it would be confined to executive employés, it would clearly put congress in the position of having to clean its own house by extending the ban to its own members.

Fear Ire of Congress.

Officials of the departments are fearful of making an outright recommendation that senators and representatives be prohibited from speculation lest they incense congress. They prefer, if possible, to place congress in a position which will necessitate its acting. Action at this session of congress is doubtful.

Although disclosure of the proposal was one of the first hints that employés in departments had used inside information to play the markets, reports have been consistent that members of congress, particularly those in the silver and cotton blocs, were trading on the anticipated effect of their pending legislation on prices.

One of the most recent indications of this activity came when large cotton merchants protested to the senate audit and control committee because Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], chairman of the agriculture committee, had asked them to dis-

STOCKS UPSET BY RUSH TO JAM LAWS THROUGH

Prices Fall in Squall of Profit Taking.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 19.—Passage by the house of the Roosevelt sponsored Guffey coal bill precipitated a violent wave of selling on the stock market today, erasing previous gains and replacing them with losses ranging from major fractions to over 2 points. Passage of the bill setting up a "little NRA" was interpreted by traders as implicating that legislators would stand for anything, and other conditions were regarded favorable by the bears for a try at prices.

The situation was confused by cross currents that developed in the general list as traders sat back to await legislative developments in Washington. Selling increased as the session progressed and major groups, including the rails, utilities, and industrials, sagged.

Resists Selling Pressure.

The market gave a good account of itself for a while, ignoring the weakness in power shares, which was held to reflect renewed apprehension over the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill. With the passage of the coal bill nervous liquidation made its appearance. A rush of bears to the selling posts uncovered a good many stop-loss orders and a hurried movement to reap profits while the opportunity was still available. Before outsiders realized what was taking place among the professionals from 1 to 3 points had been chopped off the market leaders.

Considering the violence of the selling while the squall lasted, the resistance of the market was considered good. Volume for the session amounted to 2,062,560 shares. At one time the tape was four minutes behind operations on the floor.

Many Touch 1935 Highs.

In the course of dealings many standard issues pushed forward to new highs for 1935 or longer. United States Steel advanced above 45 for the first time this year and du Pont, reflecting the increased regular dividend and extra, also showed strength for a time.

Early strength in the steel, airplane, and copper groups was attributed to the talk of war between Italy and Ethiopia following the breakdown of the Paris negotiations. No one, however, seems to know how either country would finance such a war nor what companies would be willing to extend credit.

The carrier section of the list was hardest hit. Union Pacific finished the day with a 4 point loss, Central Railroad of New Jersey gave up 4½ points and Delaware and Hudson gave up more than 2.

The public utility section also took a severe drubbing. American Water Works lost 2 points, Peoples Gas dropped 2½, Consolidated Gas lost 1¾ points, and Pacific Light finished 2¼ points below its previous close.

JULY INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT DECLINE BELOW NORMAL

Part of Loss Recovered During August.

Industrial production during July showed a slightly less than seasonal decline and recovered a considerable portion of this loss during the first half of August, the National Industrial Conference board announced yesterday.

The board's index for petroleum, pig iron, and bituminous coal production during July showed a more than seasonal decline, but such important indices as motor production, building, steel activity, and electric power output were above the normal seasonal level. Production for the month was also well ahead of a year ago.

Trade Indices Lower.

Distribution and trade indices were more than seasonably below the preceding month but were higher than a year ago. Miscellaneous car loadings were 3.7 per cent under June, but 2.2 per cent abvoe July, 1934. Sales by department stores, variety stores, and mail order houses were below June.

Wholesale commodities averaged slightly lower than in the preceding month. Since July 22 the trend in wholesale prices has been sharply upward, the board reports, with several commodities reaching new high levels for the year during the first half of August.

An upward movement in security prices was shown. Common stocks have been rising steadily since the middle of March to the middle of August without any important recessions intervening.

U. S. Bonds Lag Behind.

Bonds have also advanced during the last six weeks, but government bonds have shown a tendency to lag behind corporate issues.

Corporation profits during the first half of the year were higher than a year ago, with the largest gains shown by the producers of automobiles, machinery, and electrical equipment, and the construction industry. Coal mining was the only important industry to report a falling off in earnings.

The gap that existed during the worst months of the depression between the annual rate of return in corporations producing goods for consumption and those engaged in the heavy industries or producers' goods has been reduced considerably during the last twelve months, the board reports.

LARD FUTURES AGAIN DROP MAXIMUM AMOUNT ALLOWED

Liquidation by scattered holders of lard futures yesterday found support limited, and all deliveries with the exception of May futures closed 50 cents per 100 pounds lower, the maximum permitted for one day under exchange regulations. The May delivery lost 45 cents.

At no time did the market show any disposition to rally and it was the second straight day of a maximum decline in the nearby futures, with the September and October deliveries at the close showing $1.25 under the high point of Saturday.

The short interest, according to trade views, had been materially cut down as the result of the recent advance and support from cash interests was very slow. Shipping demand has fallen off greatly due to the high prices and packers are said to have found the only outlet for the fresh make of lard was in the pit. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 40 cents lower. Cash lard closed at $16.40; loose, $16.50; leaf, $17, and bellies at $19.85 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

	Lard.			Close

COPPER PRICE RAISED, DUE TO MORE ACTIVE INDUSTRY, WAR THREAT

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—An advance of ½ cent a pound in domestic copper was made by all leading producers today, bringing the price of the red metal for domestic consumption up to 8½ cents.

The advance, which canceled one-half of the full cent a pound reduction made in domestic metal shortly after the Blue Eagle 9 cent level was toppled several months ago, was posted after a steady but persistent increase in metal for export had carried that class of copper above 8 cents a pound.

Virtually all of the wire and cable companies and other manufacturers of copper products followed the increase with a boost in their wares, but advances were not in all cases uniform.

A gradually expanding domestic demand, in consequence of the sustained industrial activity during the ordinarily dull summer months, and active preparations for war among European nations which require an enormous amount of copper, were among other factors cited in responsible quarters as causing the increase in copper.

WHEAT PRICES LOSE FRACTIONS IN DULL TRADE

Oats Advance; Corn and Rye Lower.

Wheat prices fluctuated aimlessly over a narrow course yesterday in one of the dullest sessions in many days on the Chicago Board of Trade. Price movements were confined to a range of about 1½ cents, with final trades at losses of major fractions.

Other grains more or less mirrored the trend of the market leader, with the exception of oats, which pushed forward about half a cent a bushel. Strength here was attributed partly to advice of a downstate statistical service to "buy oats against sales of corn." The extent to which this factor affected the market was not known, but a marked improvement in commission house demand—presumably from outside speculators—was evident.

Liverpool Prices Higher.

Wheat in Liverpool responded to a decline in stocks on ocean passage to a record low of 15,924,000 bushels, by moving slightly higher. Winnipeg displayed signs of spasmodic easiness despite considerable improvement in export business, but closed irregular, ⅝ cent lower to ¼ cent higher.

Closing prices of principal December futures here, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .87⅝	$ .88⅝	$ .89⅞
Corn	.55	.56⅝	.56
Oats	.27½	.26⅝	.29⅞
Rye	.43¾	.43½	.44⅝

Hedging pressure was not particularly aggressive, but was sufficiently large to offset buying demand. With an increase of more than 6,000,000 bushels in commercial visible supplies of wheat last week selling increased on the way down. A year ago the visible supply gained 1,794,000 bushels. The total is now 49,244,000 bushels.

Expect Wheat Movement to Dip.

The heavy movement of new crop wheat is expected to culminate soon and lighter receipts are predicted by many observers. Yesterday's movement to primary markets was liberal at 2,368,000 bushels, and well above last year, but continued to show a distinct decrease from totals reported a week ago.

Excellent weather conditions east of the Missouri-Mississippi rivers have changed an irregular outlook for the corn crop into a state of excellent growth. The outlook west of the dividing line is not as good, but thus far has exercised little influence on futures prices. Scarcity of old cash corn continues to support prices, but buyer sentiment is affected by importations. A cargo of 7,000 tons of Argentine corn was reported to have arrived in this country yesterday.

FLOW OF MONEY AGAIN TURNS TO CHIEF CENTERS

Banks in Chicago, N. Y. Show Deposit Gains.

The flow of funds from large centers to country banks two weeks ago started back to the big cities last week, banking statistics issued last night, covering reserve member bank operations in 91 cities of the country indicate.

While institutions in New York piled up 113 million dollars more in gross deposits and 96 millions in individual accounts, and Chicago banks had a gain of 15 millions in gross, the interior banks reported a decline of 19 millions in gross. Their individual deposits, however, climbed 48 millions.

Country Shows Gain In Deposits.

For the country as a whole gross deposits mounted 109 millions, interbank deposits increased 57 millions, federal deposits rose 4 millions and individual deposits increased 48 millions.

Changes in condition were unimportant. All cities except Chicago bought moderate amounts of government securities but banks here liquidated.

COTTON CLOSES UNSTEADY; SPECULATIVE INTEREST LAGS

There was no announcement regarding the government loan basis on the 1935 cotton crop over the weekend, despite numerous statements by congressmen last week that official action would be taken over the weekend. Scattered liquidation by holders developed in futures with prices dropping around 15 points early, but the finish was on a moderate rally with the close in Chicago 6 points higher to 7 points lower. Other markets were 3 points higher to 11 points lower. Speculative interest was at a minimum with the market easily influenced. Spot prices were unchanged to 5 points higher with New Orleans 11.65 cents, Houston and Galveston 11.60 cents, and New York 11.85 cents per pound. Prices in cents follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Cotton goods were firm today with trading moderate. Sales last week in print cloths and sheetings were substantially in excess of output. Silk fabrics and yarns were advanced in keeping with the sharp rise in raw silk. Silk hosiery manufacturers were buying yarns more freely. Rayon mills were active with a substantial part of the September production already engaged. Wide sheetings were advanced 5 per cent. Wool goods were firm. Buyers took in all shipments due. Burlaps were steady in the local markets.

HIDE FUTURES.

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Trade in hide futures was somewhat restricted, with sales of 29 lots or 1,160,000 lbs. Prices were off 0 to 7 points for the day. Closing bids in cents per pound: September, 10.45c; December, 10.77c; March, 11.09c; June, 11.38c.

LIRA DECLINES ON WAR THREAT; DOLLAR LOSES TO POUND AND FRANC

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Italy's refusal to accept proposals offered by a three power conference on the Italo-Ethiopian situation was reflected in the lira's weakness today. It closed here at 8.21 cents, a loss of 2½ points.

The guilder also declined as the market again showed concern over Dutch financial conditions, closing at 67.88 cents, a net decline of 7 points for the day. The currency is still above the gold export point from Holland. The French franc gained ⅝ point, to 6.64 cents, and the Swiss franc was 1 point higher, at 32.77 cents. The French franc was again above parity with the dollar, which was reduced to 99.90 cents against francs, compared with 100 cents Saturday. Based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59 cents, compared with 59.06 cents on Saturday.

BAN SOUGHT ON SPECULATION OF CONGRESSMEN

Although they did not say so openly in their protest, the merchants were fearful that if they gave Senator Smith the information it might find its way into the hands of Robert Harriss, stock and commodity market operator, who has been a close adviser to the senator. Harriss, a leader in the committee for the nation, which lobbied for gold revaluation and silver remonetization, has also been connected by rumor with the silver bloc.

Senator Smith, in demanding the current position of cotton merchants, was acting under authorization by the senate to investigate the decline in cotton prices March 11. The merchants complained that this did not give him power to force disclosure of their current holdings.

Senators Seek 12 Cent Loan Basis.

Senator Smith, Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], and other members of the senate cotton bloc have made repeated trips to the White House to urge a government loan of 12 cents a pound on next year's cotton.

Such a loan would effectively peg the price at not lower than 12 cents, and the cotton senators have proclaimed, on the floor of the senate and in the anterooms of the White House, their confidence that such a loan will be made. These statements have been reflected in cotton price movements. Senators have been known to put out such statements for release at a definite hour in the future.

SEC SKEPTICAL IF "GOD'S AGENT" TAKES IN MONEY

Probes Investment Phase of "Plenocracy."

C. Franklin Davis, guiding spirit of the Universal Service Association, Inc., 6 South Michigan avenue, yesterday identified himself as "God's agent" during the course of a hearing of the Securities and Exchange commission.

The commission inquiry seeks to determine whether the association's effort to spread the doctrins of "plenocracy" through its national university of thought and action constitutes the offering of a security, whether it may be in violation of federal securities laws, and whether the mails may have been used to defraud. Davis asserted when all minds became attuned to the coöperative philosophy of plenocracy depressions would be a thing of the past.

Contribute, Then Await Return.

The plan is simple, as explained by Davis yesterday in a hearing room devoid of spectators. All one has to do is contribute monthly sums to the association. Nature will do the rest. The earth produces, according to Davis, a natural increment of at least 30 per cent. The association leases land, cultivates it, and returns up to 30 per cent, if the natural increase amounts to this much, to the contributor. It may retain all over 30 per cent for "extension work."

Davis said the true principles, the facts of life, are "poured into" prospects until they become imbued with the spirit of plenocracy.

Prospects from Phone Book.

Thomas A. Reynolds, head of the Chicago SEC office, ruoght out that city telephone directories have been used in various sections of the country to obtain "responsible" prospects, but Davis angrily denied using high pressure stock and insurance salesmanship methods.

Reynolds said the Missouri securities commission has issued a "cease and desist order" against the association, but Davis brushed that aside: "It doesn't mean a thing."

"Perfectly correct," agreed Reynolds, "but we might be interested in what happens to the money after he gives it to you."

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was firm and unchanged today. Refiners were indifferent but holders of remaining quotas were not inclined to offer, and there was nothing available in nearby position below 3.30c per lb, as against the last spot price of 3.18c. The only sale reported was 20,000 bags of Porto Ricos for September shipment at 3.30c. In futures a sharp upturn occured in the September No. 1 delivery which sold at 2.58c, on further covering as a result of the report from Washington indicating that less than 13,000 tons remained of the Cuban quota for the United States. Final prices were the best at from 3 to 5 points higher in the No. 3 contract, and 3 to 10 points higher in the No. 1. Sales: 12,600 tons in the No. 3 and 1,550 tons in the No. 1.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 19.—Trading in bonds slowed perceptibly today and prices in most sections of the list dropped back narrowly. Second grade rails gave up fractions. Utilities lost some of their speculative support in view of renewed apprehension over last minute possibilities in congressional action on the holding company bill, and prices declined fractions to a point.

High grade issues were generally steady, but met little demand. Italian bonds fell sharply because of the war situation and tended to unsettle the foreign group.

Selling Wave in U. S. Bonds.

Government bonds held steady up to within fifteen minutes of the close when a rush of selling orders in the 2⅞ per cent treasury bonds carried that issue down 2-32ds to 100.23, and most of the indirect obligations yielded 3-32ds. Several of the shorter term treasury issues ended small fractions net higher.

Transfers for the day were $10,386,000, par value, compared with $12,373,000 last Friday when the market was on the mend. The turnover in governments accounted for about $1,550,000 of this aggregate.

Rails and Utilities Weak.

Outstanding soft spots among carrier and utility issues included Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, off 2 points; Erie 5s, off 1½; Nickel Plate 4½s, off 2½; Portland General Electric 4½s, off 1¼, and Studebaker 6s, off a point.

A drop of 2¾ points in American Water Works 6s was an outstanding exception in high priced bonds, most of which were able to break even and in a few instances, such as American Rolling Mill 4¼s and Union Pacific 4½s, small advances were recorded.

New York City Traction bonds came back into favor and gains of ½ to more than a point were general among Interboro obligations.

Crucible Steel.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate any information you will give me on Crucible Steel common stock. Thank you for the courtesy.—C. L. V.

Answer: Crucible Steel Company of America is the largest manufacturer of specialty steel. This constitutes the bulk of its output, produced largely in semi-finished form. The nature of its products prohibits quantity production and costs, consequently, are higher than ordinary steel manufacturing companies.

The major markets for its products are the automobile industry, small tool, agricultural implement, oil, mining, aviation and household utility industries.

Stimulated by quickening business activity, especially in the automobile industry, orders received in the first 3¼ months of 1935 were 15 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1934 period. Profits were recorded in each of the first three months of this year.

A nominal profit of $75,000, or only 30 cents per preferred share, was earned in 1934. This followed losses of $355,000, $3,614,000 and $2,017,000 in the three preceding years. Profits from 1926 through 1930 ranged from a low of $4,045,000 to a high of $8,162,000.

Current position at the close of 1934 was satisfactory. Funded debt, due May 1, 1940, was $10,000,000.

Capitalization consists of 250,000 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred and 450,000 shares of $100 par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since March 31, 1932. Both the preferred and common are speculative.

United New Jersey R. R. & Canal.

Investors' Guide: The writer, who is a subscriber to your paper, would like to know something about United New Jersey Railroad and Canal company stock.—J. G. A.

Answer: There are outstanding $21,225,600 of United New Jersey Railroad and Canal company stock. The property of the company, together with the Philadelphia and Trenton railroad, constitutes the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad from Philadelphia to New York.

The assets of the company were leased to Pennsylvania Railroad company for 999 years on June 30, 1871. Under the terms of the lease dividends of 10 per cent a year on the $100 par stock are guaranteed by Pennsylvania railroad. This gives it more the nature of a bond than a stock.

Representing ownership of property [under lease] that forms an integral part of the Pennsylvania system, and backed by the guarantee of the lessee road, the stock is a conservative investment.

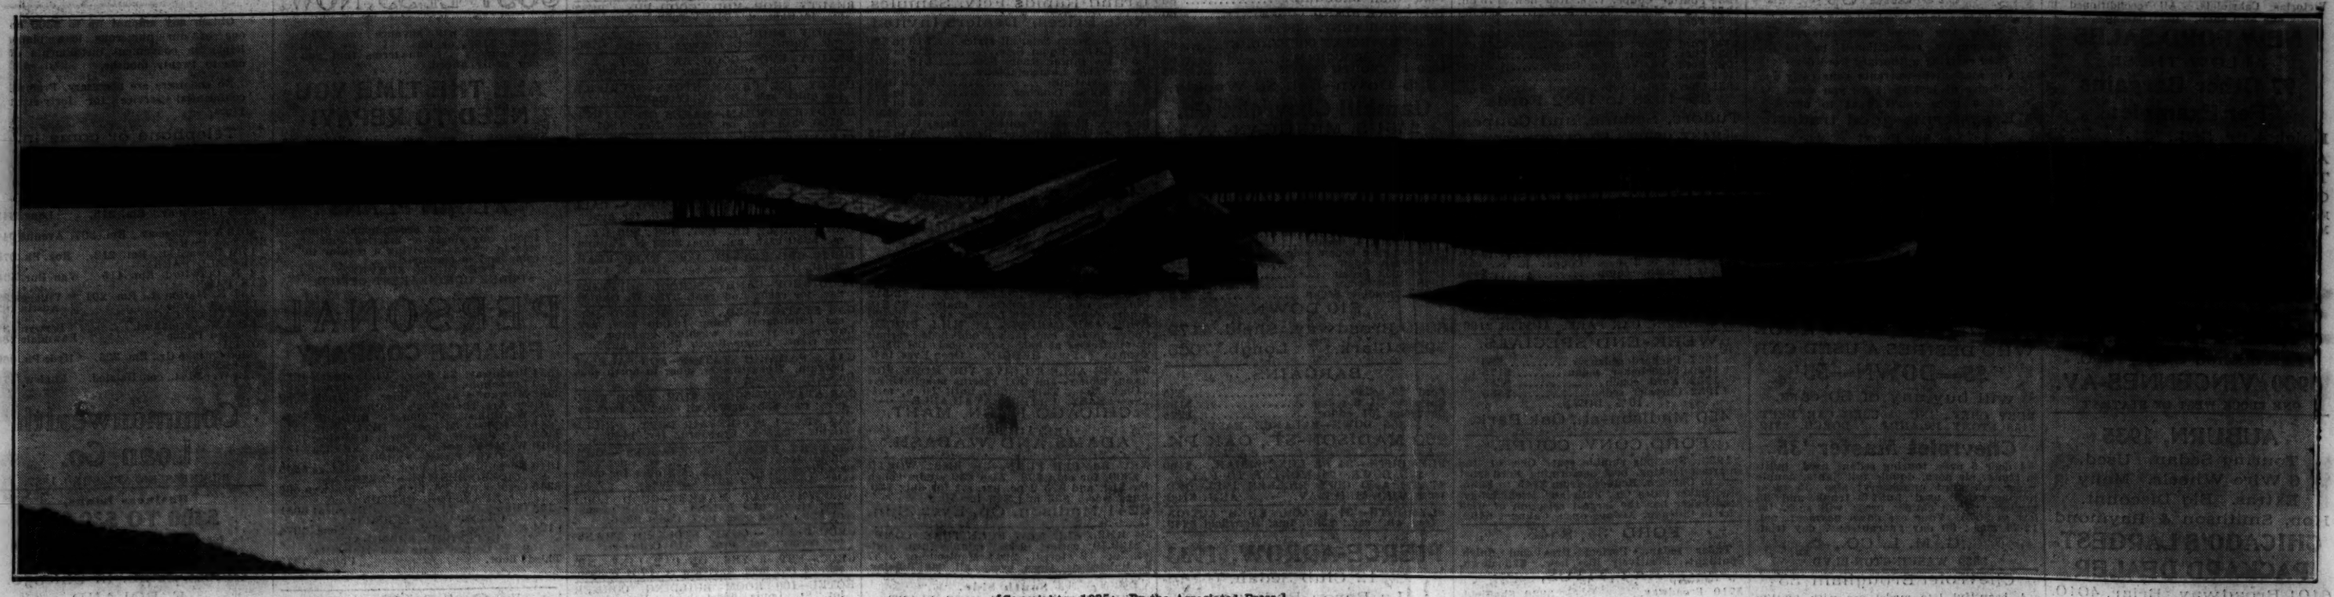
Bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post Returned to United States—Wirephoto Brings Pictures of Crash in Alaska



[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

WRECKAGE OF WILL ROGERS-WILEY POST PLANE IN THE ARCTIC AFTER CRASH WHICH COST LIVES OF THE TWO FAMOUS MEN—Picture taken by Dr. Henry Greist, Presbyterian medical missionary at Barrow, Alaska, showing the plane of two noted victims as it appeared after sixty foot plunge into river fifteen miles from Point Barrow. Rogers and Post had landed on the small river to ask directions when fog made them uncertain about their bearings. They took off, only ten minutes from their destination, and when sixty feet in the air the motor missed fire. The plane landed on its right wing and the motor was driven back through the fuselage, killing both men. The bodies of Rogers and Post were returned to the United States yesterday for funeral services later in the week. (Story on page 1.)

GRAPHIC PICTURE OF THE ROGERS-POST DEATH SCENE IN THE BLEAK ARCTIC; SENT TO CHICAGO BY WIREPHOTO—Scene fifteen miles from Point Barrow, Alaska, after the crash which killed Will Rogers and Wiley Post. The tent is the one where the noted men obtained directions after landing on small river in the fog. At right are group of natives who witnessed the crash, one of their number running to Barrow with the first word of the tragedy. The wreckage of the plane in the river can be seen in the left background. Following removal of the bodies the Eskimos practically demolished what was left of the plane, taking the parts for their own use. This picture was also taken by Dr. Henry Greist.

ITALY INDICATES THAT WAR WITH ETHIOPIA IS NEAR—As peace parley in Paris broke up in failure, Italy is intensifying the training of her army already in Africa near the borders of Ethiopia. This new picture shows troops firing from scrub in Eritrea to accustom themselves to difficult conditions. (Story on page 1.)

HOUSE ITALIAN TROOPS IN AFRICA—Black shirt troops of Italy constructing light lumber structure in Eritrea. The problem of housing the troops has caused military authorities much worry, due to climatic conditions. (Story on page 1.)

WOMEN OF ETHIOPIA WHO ARE EXPECTED TO FACE ITALIANS IN BATTLE IF WAR DEVELOPS—Three pictures showing the type of women who live in the desert of Ogaden, the vast, almost waterless plateau of Ethiopia, which borders on Italian Somaliland. In the event of war with Italy these women, regarded as fine warriors, will face the Italian troops. They are equally as fierce as their men folk, invariably slaughtering the wounded foemen. Italian officials yesterday indicated the actual outbreak of war is imminent. (Story on page 1.)
